TEXAS SHUTS DOORS TO KEEP LATIN WORKERS

Rail Workers End Walkout Crippling Steel Industry

TRAINS MANNED AFTER EMPLOYES GET WAGE BOOST

Strike Idled 18,000; Lost Enough Steel To Build 64,000 Automobiles

8-DAY WILDCAT WALKOUT COST WORKERS $200,000

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A strike which idled more than 18,000 and cost enough steel production to build 64,000 automobiles ended today as inter-plant railroad workers in Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. district mills returned to work.

The 1,800 railroad workers, members of two railroad brotherhoods and employes of the Union Railroad which does inter-plant hauling for the big steel firm, manned their trains again with a wage boost. Both Union Railroad and Carnegie-Illinois Steel are U. S. steel subsidiaries.

By stopping the railroad's operations, the eight-day, unauthorized strike idled an additional 17,500 production workers in the homestead, Braddock, Duquesne, Clairton and Irvin works of Carnegie-Illinois. The steel workers were idled because the train crews were needed to move materials.

The strike reduced operations in the rich Monongahela river valley where all the affected plants are located from 105.4 per cent of theoretical capacity in the week ended Aug. 30 to 10.9 per cent as the settlement was reached last night. Operation of the Vandergrift Works accounted for most of the little activity left at strike's end.

Eighteen of its 19 district blast furnaces were banked by Carnegie-Illinois. It will take several days to get the furnaces back in operation. The strike had threatened thousands of workers in fabricating industries with unemployment because of shortages of steel.

STENO CONFESSES $107,000 THEFT

42-Year-Old Brunette Embezzles Money To Give To Unsuspecting Husband

DETROIT, Sept. 18.—(AP)—A 42-year-old brunette stenographer admitted today in a signed statement that she embezzled $107,000 in cash from her employer and poured it into the hands of her unsuspecting husband because "I'm dearly in love with him."

Mrs. William Jacobs, wife of a bartender, was released under the equivalent of $10,000 bond despite Prosecutor James N. McNally's protest that "I'm afraid of what she will do to herself."

She faces arraignment Sept. 17 on an embezzlement charge.

Her husband, whom she described as "desperate for money," was sought by police for questioning after he disappeared Friday night shortly before his wife's arrest. No charge was placed against him.

Through her attorney, Milton R. Atlas, Mrs. Jacobs said her husband "didn't know anything about" the $13,000 a month that McNally said she passed on to him from the American Express Co., where she had worked since she was 13 years old.

"She doesn't know what he did with

GROSCH ANNOUNCES SUPPORT OF LONG

John Grosch, criminal sheriff of Orleans parish, yesterday announced his support of the candidacy for governor of Earl K. Long, it was announced here by Long's local organization. Sheriff Grosch also is a member of the Old Regular organization of New Orleans.

It also was announced that Leander Perez, district attorney of Plaquemines parish and a strong political figure in South Louisiana, likewise has endorsed the candidacy of Mr. Long. Dudley J. LeBlanc has announced his candidacy for state senator from his senatorial district on the Earl K. Long ticket, it was said.

"All of the above and many other endorsements to be announced in the near future indicate that Long is gaining powerful strength in the southern part of the state," the spokesman said. "Long is conceded to be the leading candidate in north and central Louisiana."

City School Officials Blast Welch Proposal

Accuse Parish Of Trying To Conceal Own Deficiencies By Consolidation; Clean Up Of Political 'Meddling' Demanded

A proposal to consolidate the city and parish school administrations into a single system yesterday drew the concerted opposition of City Superintendent E. L. Neville and the Monroe school board, several members of which flatly accused the parish system of attempting to conceal its own "deficiencies" by the step, and demanded that the school be "divorced from politics."

Declaring that "I am not a consolidation man," Neville protested that he saw no reason why the city should give up its schools, and charged that the parish officials were endeavoring to obtain the facilities of the Monroe system.

"It seems their aim is to get our school plants by stirring up a fuss and making it appear that the city system is to blame for overcrowding in the parish schools," Neville stated.

"We have developed the Monroe schools so that the students are receiving even more than the parents could reasonably expect, and there are wonderful opportunities for further improvement," he said.

"We'll cooperate with the parish system in every way we can, but no one should expect us to surrender everything we've labored for because of difficulties within the parish schools."

Terming the consolidation proposal "a shame to cover up weaknesses in the parish schools, Warren Taylor, Monroe school board member, expressed the opinion that reorganization, as outlined by parish Superintendent George Welch, "would not correct the evils in either system."

"Those that think of consolidation as a cure-all," he asserted, "usually approach the problem with sentiment rather than reason."

"We have proven that it is more economical to administer the city schools separately, and the efficiency of our program has been demonstrated throughout the years," he continued.

"Consolidation will tear down every-

NIP 'SURVIVAL' CHANCES BETTER THAN BRITAIN'S

Premier Claims 'Japanese Long Ago Learned To Tighten Their Belts'

THINKS AUSTERITY PLAN IN ENGLAND IS TOO LATE

TOKYO, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Japan in defeat has a better chance than victorious Britain of surviving a parallel economic crisis, Premier Tetsu Katayama declared today, because "the Japanese long ago learned how to tighten their belts."

The socialist leader said his people had been living subnormally since before the Pacific war, and now the government was struggling to rebuild the national economy without immediately raising the standard of living.

"The British were victorious," he said in an Associated Press interview, "but it was a costly victory and the country is unable to maintain its former standard of living.

"I believe the British austerity campaign was begun too late and it will be hard for the British to regain ground.

"Japan, in defeat, has long been accustomed to tightened belts and is trying to devote her efforts solely to economic reconstruction."

Katayama did not mention the part played by the United States in underwriting Japan's relatively stability, although he has repeatedly stressed the importance of this help in previous statements. He did say that release of food imports had somewhat eased the country's prospects for the next few months.

He compared Britain and Japan economically and geographically.

Both, he said, are industrial nations which now are short on raw materials and on dollars with which to buy them. Both have seen their former markets either diverted or disrupted; have lost provincial regions from which they once got materials; are struggling against numerous complications to increase production of ex-

RUNAWAY HOUSE HITS AUTO BLOCK AWAY

HAVRE, Mont., Sept. 13.—(AP)—This time it was a house that ran into an automobile.

HOME RAZED BY FIRE

A youth who helped extinguish the fire that gutted the home of Mrs. Nellie Russell, in the rear of 307 Cotton street, West Monroe, Saturday afternoon, stands over the blackened bed from which Mrs. Russell's daughter was helped to safety by a neighbor when swirling clouds of smoke first gave warning of danger. In his hand is a small pile of jewelry, practically all that was recovered from the charred rubble. (Morning World Photo).

Neighbor Rescues Invalid From Fire

Girl's Screams Attract Aid As Flames Ravish 3-Room Home; All Possessions of Mother, Daughter Destroyed

Screams from a bed-ridden young woman yesterday afternoon attracted a neighbor who rescued her from flames that ravished and destroyed her three room home in the rear of 307 Cotton street in West Monroe.

Miss Audrey Russell, 20, was the sole occupant of the house when it caught afire. Her mother, Mrs. Nellie Russell, a widow, employed as waitress at a West Monroe restaurant, was working at the time the fire destroyed her home, furnishings, clothing and other possessions.

In bed when clouds of smoke and crackling flames warned her of danger, Miss Russell called to Mrs. Flo Eubanks, a neighbor, who helped her from the blazing frame building to the safety of the Eubank's home.

A real community project is the Monroe Little Theatre which is opening its 1947-48 season under auspicious outlook. The organization has weathered the vicissitudes of 15 years and now on the threshold of the 16th year, faces a promising outlook directed again by Kay Crandall. The past year this group has gained state and even nation-wide publicity for its home town through stories that have appeared in other states, in New York newspapers as well as in theatrical publications. Now in the year to come a talent scout from Warner Brothers of Hollywood will pay attention to the talent that is exhibited here. This alone is sufficient encouragement to youthful, aspiring actors, but the general public is interested, for the Little Theatre is a city-wide project where social life and informal gatherings result. It is an evenue that affords neighbors opportunity to rub shoulders and get better acquainted and is a well known service club asserts; "Learn to Know Your Neighbor Better, and You May Learn to Like Him." This may not be the exact phraseology but it conveys the idea. Good wholesome, clean entertainment and opportunity for the development of inherent talent, is comprised in the program of the Little Theatre.

Northeast Junior college, Monroe's only institution of higher education, will this week open its doors to what is likely to prove the largest enrollment ever in its history. Beginning freshmen will, it is indicated, total from 300 to 400 and an equal number of sophomores is anticipated. Bus lines will bring in students from nearly all parts of the Fifth congressional district placing higher education at the doors of the public in such way that for the first two years students will not need to leave their homes. BEAUTICIANS WAR AGAIN REOPENED

Monroe Operators Petition State Attorney General To Oust Mrs. Harris

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 13.—(AP)—A group of Monroe, La., beauticians today petitioned Attorney General Fred S. LeBlanc to institute proceedings to oust Mrs. Tressie L. Harris, of Shreveport, as a member of the State Board of Cosmetic Therapy Control.

LeBlanc promised action upon presentation of "proper affidavits" in support of charges made against Mrs. Harris in the petition.

"I must have affidavits to support the charges," LeBlanc said, adding that he would act "if the proof is there."

"Under the constitution there is no option for the attorney general where properly requested to file a suit of this type," he said.

Mrs. Pearl Hair, president of the Monroe unit of the Louisiana Association of Accredited Cosmetologists, spokesman for the group, said she would furnish LeBlanc with the needed affidavits in the near future.

The petition was signed by some 25 persons and asked LeBlanc to "institute suit in the first judicial dis-

AMNESTY BILL PASSED BY GREEK PARLIAMENT

ATHENS, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Greek parliament passed a bill today giving unconditional amnesty to the guerrillas in the north provided they surrender within 30 days, and there were unofficial reports that some had already begun to lay down their arms.

A Salonika dispatch said about 900 guerrillas surrendered during the past 48 hours to authorities in central Macedonia in response to the earlier announcement by Premier Themistokles Sophoulis that amnesty would be granted. Another 400 surrendered at Livadia, about 70 miles northwest of Athens, additional reports said. None was confirmed in official circles.

As soon as the amnesty bill is printed in the government Gazette, government planes will fly over the guerrilla-held areas in the north and drop thousands of proclamations containing the text of the amnesty law and urging guerrillas to yield in order that peace may be restored in Greece.

REGISTERING AT N. J. C. TO START

Will Be Initiated Monday Morning For Beginning Freshmen

Registration at Northeast Junior college will be initiated Monday at 9 a.m. in the college gymnasium. The first day will be devoted exclusively to beginning freshmen. Advanced students may enroll either Tuesday or Wednesday, but all are urged to report early so that plenty of time can be devoted to each individual case.

Pre-registration activities indicate an enrollment of 300-400 beginning freshmen and an equal number of advanced students.

College officials express the belief that 1947-48 will be the finest year in the history of Northeast Junior college. A specially high type of student is typical of those in prospect. With a stronger faculty and improved facilities, everything points to a highly successful school session.

Students intending to register must have their transcripts of high school credits with them or on file at the college.

Those who are transferring from other colleges must have their credits from the college previously attended, states Dean Rodney Cline. Veterans are requested to have their certificates of eligibility to present at the time of registration.

CHINA AID PROGRAM APPROVAL EXPECTED

NANKING, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A $30,000,000 American relief program for China is expected to be signed before the end of the month.

Sources which said protracted negotiations were about finished reported that the United States had insisted on strict control of the distribution by "hard-headed" American business men and had reserved the right to designate where relief would be given, while acknowledging that practical physical difficulties would prevent extending much aid to Communist-held areas.

The project is part of the United States program to extend relief unilaterally to China and several European countries to fill needs left by termination of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

LEWIS DEFIANT; WILL NOT COMPLY TO DENHAM RULING

Refuses To Sign Non-Communist Affidavit; Issues Challenge To Government

ATTACKS UNION MEMBERS WHO WANTED TO SIGN UP

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(AP)—John L. Lewis defiantly asserted today he chose to refuse to sign an affidavit that he is not a Communist, and he challenged the government to do something about it.

Lewis' refusal to comply with a requirement under the Taft-Hartley labor-management relations act, as interpreted by General Counsel Robert N. Denham, counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, deprives 105 A. F. L. unions of resort to the board.

Denham ruled that no A. F. L. or C. I. O. union could use the board's election and complaint machinery until the top officers of the two big labor federations signed affdiavits disavowing Communism. The members of the A. F. L. executive council, concluding a week's sessions here today, all are officers of the A. F. L. All, including Lewis, are ardent foes of Communism.

SEVERE HURRICANE LOOSE IN ATLANTIC

Tropical Storm Expected To Change Course; May Miss Eastern Seaboard

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 13.—(AP)—A severe hurricane containing winds of 140 miles an hour raged steadily through the Atlantic on a course between west-north-west and northwest, bringing its center at 4 p. m. to a spot 880 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Unless an expected recurve to the north begins by noon tomorrow, the weather bureau planned to broadcast a preliminary hurricane alert for the Florida east coast. Storm forecasters and hurricane hunters, confidently predicted that the northward recurve would begin early Sunday morning.

The tropical hurricane, bred in the Doldrums where some of the western hemisphere's worst storms generate, was located at 4 p. m. (C. S. T.) about 250 miles east-northeast of Turks Island, in the Bahamas.

Its velocity, direction and forward speed of 20 miles an hour remained unchanged.

Although at least 700 miles to the south, the battleship Missouri, bringing President Truman home from the Rio de Janiero conference, was reported to have slowed her pace towards Puerto Rica to allow the storm to clear out of her path.

The Missouri reported by radio that she was running through scattered

Borders Closed To Prevent Migratory Farm Laborers From Leaving State For Lush Pay Offered 'Up North'

MARSHALL, Tex., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Texas slammed shut its borders at 6 o'clock tonight to keep 60,000 Latin-American migratory farm workers from leaving the state for the lush pay offered by northern and eastern farm labor crew recruiters.

A United States department of agriculture migratory farm labor agent, William H. Yeager, Jr., declared that the border would be closed to Louisiana, Arkansas and the portion of the Oklahoma border from Denison, Tex., east.

He said that individual families could leave but that workers recruited by labor agents who have not paid the Texas franchise tax would be stopped.

He said he believed all 60,000 would cross in two weeks under legal procedures.

Yeager said the federal government had entered the picture under wartime migratory labor powers which will be in effect in Texas until the first of the year, when the state will take over control.

The U. S. agent added that enforcement will apply equally to United States and Mexican citizens. The law invoked is an old Texas statute originally designed to protect migratory

SPECIAL SESSION PROBLEM AWAITS TRUMAN'S RETURN

STATE DEPT. TO SLASH PARIS PARLEY RED TAPE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Top administration officials expect to be able to supply President Truman with enough "hard facts" on the European economic crisis when he returns to Washington next Saturday so that he can speedily decide whether a special session of congress is warranted.

Mr. Truman is expected to make know within a few days after his return whether he considers the situation sufficiently grave to bring the lawmakers back together.

The State department, obviously plugging for urgent congressional action to provide further assistance to Europe this year, has moved to slash red tape at the Paris economic conference.

Sixteen nations have been meeting there to decide what their economic needs are under the Marshall plan, which proposes self-help bolstered by this country.

In taking steps to speed up assembly of the essential facts on which Secretary of State Marshall may make exact proposals to President Truman, the department acted after leaders of

TRUMAN WARSHIP TO MISS STORM

U. S. S. Missouri Carrying President Homeward Bound From Rio Conference

ABOARD THE USS MISSOURI, WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, Sept. 13.—(AP)—This homeward bound warship, carrying President Truman from Brazil, was 1300 miles from the center of the tropical hurricane now moving toward the Atlantic ocean, ship's officers reported today.

And the big vessel, bound for Norfolk, Va., is not expected to come closer than 700 miles to the storm.

The Missouri, scheduled to reach Norfolk Friday, is due tomorrow morning about the neighborhood where the center of the hurricane was first reported—550 miles due east of Martinique.

As it is now heading, the hurricane is moving to the left of the Missouri's course although it is expected to recurve to the right across the path of the big ship although at no time is it expected to be closer than 700 miles.

FEAR PRICE SPIRAL MAY END IN 'BUST'

Apprehension Expressed As Basic Food Costs Near All-Time Peaks

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Fears that the nation might be riding its upward price spiral toward a "bust" were sounded today by Senator Ives, Republican, New York, and Paul Porter, last federal price boss under the OPA. They expressed their apprehension as the cost of basic food items pushed close to all-time peaks.

The New York senator said unless "wild speculation in grains" and other foods is curbed, Congress "will be forced to take some action." Talking to a Washington reporter he said he feared booming living costs "might cause the bottom to drop out as it did in 1929 and 1920-21." He said, however, that he hoped business, the public and government can solve the price problem, adding that "we do not have all the features of a general depression as yet."

Porter said in an interview in Atlanta, Ga., that the country would be lucky "if we don't have a bust," asserting he believed it was too late for Congress to do much about high prices now.

In Santa Cruz, Calif., Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, told a news conference that President Truman should exercise export control powers more effectively as a means of helping to bring prices down.

Meanwhile, the staffs of the special congressional investigation into rising food prices issued a study reporting that food prices were nearly double pre-war levels and might go even higher.

The study, prepared for three sub-

DOS PASSOS INJURED, WIFE DIES IN CRASH

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—John Dos Passos, 51, noted writer and playwright, was reported to be fairly comfortable today at the Massachusetts eye and ear infirmary, where his right eye was removed after an automobile accident in which his wife, Katherine, 50, was killed.

The accident occurred late yesterday as the couple drove through Wareham on the main road to Boston from Cape Cod where the Dos Passos live in Provincetown.

Their coupe crashed into a cranberry truck parked at the roadside. The smashed windshield ripped into Mrs. Dos Passos' head, fracturing the skull, and lacerating the brain. She was pronounced dead on arrival at the Tobey hospital in Wareham.

Dos Passos also was taken to Tobey hospital, but when doctors discovered the windshield glass had torn his right eye, they transferred him to Boston for an operation.

Dos Passos told Wareham police the setting sun prevented him from seeing the parked truck until it was too late to avoid it.

Dos Passos, a native of Chicago, was graduated from Harvard in 1916, and served as a volunteer in the ambulance corps in World War I.

Later he was a foreign correspondent for the New York Tribune and the London Daily Mail.

Since then he has written a number of plays, some verse, and his novels include "Three Soldiers", "Manhattan Transfer," and "42nd Parallel."

'FREEDOM TRAIN' WELCOMED AT BIRTHPLACE OF LIBERTY

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—(AP)—This birthplace of liberty today readied a thunderous welcome—marked by religious solemnity—for the freedom train and its priceless cargo of U. S. heritage.

Top government officials, stars of screen, stage, radio and the sports world plus many leading industrialists will join in dedicatory ceremonies starting the red, white and blue train on a year-long, 33,000-mile journey across the country.

Aboard the seven-car shrine on wheels will be more than 100 documents depicting the historic saga of the birth of a nation and how its democracy was fostered from the dark days of '76.

Philadelphia, site of the signing of the original U. S. Constitution, has planned a "week of rededication" to awaken "all citizens to the spirit of American democracy."

Climaxing the observance will be official dedication Wednesday of the freedom train by Attorney General Tom C. Clark who fathered the idea of showing U. S. A. everywhere exactly what victory in the revolutionary war achieved.

Disturbed by the disregard of American freedom and liberty and alarmed at the rising rate of juvenile delinquency, Clark met with a group of the nation's leading citizens in search of a remedy.

This conference gave birth to the American Heritage Foundation, a non-political, non-partisan and non-

GERMAN WAR DIARY REVEALS FAILURE OF INVASION PLANS

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Power of Winston Churchill's words, the tides of the English channel, and the do-or-die British air fighters proved insurmountable barriers to Hitler's intended invasion of England.

These forces against aggression, which tipped the scales even in the heydey of Nazi strength, received credit today in a British Admiralty report based on German naval documents captured by British and American Intelligence officers during the war.

The documents, known as the "Fuehrer Conferences," are minutes of staff meetings between Hitler and the various commanders of the German forces and concern operation "Sea Lion"—the invasion of England, which had been set for August and September, 1940.

On June 18 of that year, after the French request for an armistice, Prime Minister Churchill had dampened Hitler's hopes of a speedy British capitulation by these words in the House of Commons:

"I expect that the Battle of Britain is about to begin. Upon this battle depends the survival of Christian civilization * * *. Hitler knows he will have to break us in this island or lose the war.

"Let us, therefore, brace ourselves to our duty, and so bear ourselves that if the British Commonwealth and Empire lasts for a thousand years, men will still say, 'This was their finest hour.'"

PICKENS EARNS CHICAGO TRIP

U. W. Pickens, Long Active Woodman, Accorded Outing

As fieldman for the Woodmen of the World, U. W. Pickens, of Monroe, has been awarded an all expense paid trip with his wife to Chicago. He will be away for two weeks.

Pickens joined the Woodmen at Fort Smith, Ark., in 1913. He was a member of the uniform rank from 1913 through 1917 when he removed to Monroe, transferring his membership to Ouachita Valley Camp No. 10. He served as escort of this camp in 1919, served on the board of managers in 1920 to 1923 and on the board of trustees of the building continuously since that time. He was also consul commander of the camp from January 1924 through April, 1933, when he became financial secretary which office he still holds as well as that of secretary of the board of trustees of the camp property.

He was in charge of the uniform rank encampment held in Forsythe Park in 1925 which was largely attended by members of the uniform rank from Louisiana and Mississippi.

With all his duties, he found time to write enough new members to be awarded the present trip.

He is married and father of three children, his oldest son also being a member of the society.

According to statistics, clerks are more prompt at paying their bills than people engaged in any other occupation.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign News Analyst)

Government sources in London tell us that British official opinion has veered around to the view that Britain's mandate over Palestine must end—an attitude which may be expected to have a marked influence on consideration of the problem of the Holy Land when it comes before the United Nations assembly which resumes deliberations next Tuesday.

This generation-old issue is one of the most controversial and at the same time complicated questions with which the assembly will have to struggle. One of the first things to be considered will be the explosive report recently rendered by the special United Nations committee. The majority recommended that Palestine be partitioned into Jewish and Arab states, with an economic union. The holy cities of Jerusalem and Bethlehem would be autonomous.

Britain submitted the Palestine question to the United Nations and this in itself was an indication that she felt the present mandate couldn't go on—that she would have to quit ultimately. The London government long has been getting colossal kicks from all sides, and has come to regard the stewardship as a thankless task.

Incidents of recent weeks have made Britain particularly sorry for herself. At the end of July the Britain military in Palestine executed three members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, the illegal underground army, and Irgun in retaliation hanged two British soldiers. Widespread anti-Semitic incidents followed in England.

Within the past few days we have witnessed the unhappy "Exodus 1947" incident, involving the British action in shipping back to Hamburg some 4,400 Jewish refugees who had tried to reach Palestine on the Exodus. Many of the passengers were disembarked by force when they resisted the British military, and Britain was widely criticized for an action which the United States had tried to dissuade her from taking.

Simultaneously the Paris police uncovered the alleged plot to bomb London, at least with propaganda, from an airplane. This was attributed to sympathizers with the underground Stern gang, and eleven people, including an American rabbi, were arrested.

So trouble has multiplied through the years until there is no security for the British in an area which has so much hostility toward them. And Palestine isn't the only tough spot, for neighboring Egypt daily is demonstrating against Britain for continuing to maintain troops in the land of the Pharaohs.

However, despite the fact that Britain is fed up with her mandate, we must expect her to play a cautious game until she sees what may grow out of the proposal for the division of Palestine between Jews and Arabs. It should be noted that Palestine is a highly valuable military base for protection of England's interests in the middle east, especially the rich Iraq oil field.

True, the British are in process of shifting their main base further south to East Africa, but before they abandon Palestine they want to know whether any other power—meaning Russia—is going to move in. They want to know if the United Nations can safeguard the territory. Therefore I think we shall find that the British military mind, which moves cautiously, will do some high level calculating before agreeing to throw up the mandate entirely.

C. S. LYONS TO GIVE ADDRESS

Will Speak To Board Of Stewards At First Methodist Dinner

Honorable Charlton S. Lyons, of Shreveport, will be the principal speaker at the banquet of the board of stewards of the First Methodist Church, at Hotel Frances, Monday at 7 p.m.

Also attending will be Rev. F. M. Freeman, former pastor of this church and presently pastor of the Noel Memorial Church in Shreveport.

Mr. Lyons is a distinguished attorney, oil operator, secretary of the board of trustees of Centenary College and state co-chairman with Bishop Paul E. Martin, of the Greater Centenary College program. He is author of a booklet entitled, "Christian Education and Centenary College."

THIEVES STEAL MONEY FROM NICKLE MACHINES

Police reported yesterday afternoon that the White Way Cafe had been broken into Friday night and that the thieves escaped with between $50 and $75.

Entrance was gained by prying the back door open and breaking the cross door into the kitchen. Police added that the money taken by the burglars had been found in the cigarette, pin ball and juke box machines.

Originally, a brogue (shoe) consisted of a piece of hide or half-tanned leather gathered around the ankle.

ENTERS STATE SOLON'S RACE

R. Chester Jordan Candidate For Ouachita Parish Representative

Less "red tape" in business is the principal plank in the platform of R. Chester Jordan, 706 1/2 South Sixth Street, West Monroe, he said Saturday in announcing his candidacy for state representative from Ouachita parish in the January, 1948, Democratic primary. He also promises help for war veterans, the poor man and the laboring man.

Specifically, Mr. Jordan said he would work for old age pensions without delay or "red tape" and for a high school for West Monroe.

Mr. Jordan was born March 11, 1917, six miles north of Calhoun, in Union parish, just across from the Ouachita parish line. His father, William Arthur "Bob" Jordan, died when he was 3 years of age, leaving his mother with five boys to raise on a farm, the oldest of whom was only ten years old. Mr. Jordan's mother died when he was 17.

On October 27, 1934, Mr. Jordan was married to Miss Vera K. Fordham, daughter of Marshall L. Fordham and granddaughter of Rev. Jerry L. Fordham of near Chatham. They now have three children. Mr. Jordan is employed as a locomotive fireman on the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

Mr. Jordan said:

"If I were to have a platform to put before you it would be to represent all, both rich and poor, just alike. I will furnish you with some of the points on how I stand.

"As for the business man, I am against all unnecessary 'red tape' that you have to go through with in order to go into business or stay in business, and I assure you I will fight to represent you to that end, anytime the opportunity comes my way, if I am elected your representative.

"As for the G. I. or soldier, I am strictly in favor of a bonus for you and will do all I can to see that you get it if I am elected as your representative.

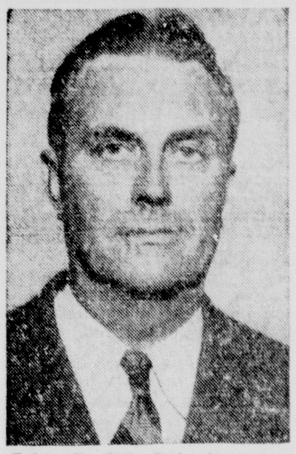

"As for labor, I am a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Lodge 598, Alexandria, La., of which our local chairman is Mr. T. R. Hubbard, 729 Scott Street, Alexandria, La. The laboring man can get my past record as to my stand for labor from Mr. T. R. Hubbard. I am a laboring man myself and I assure you I am strictly for labor. I don't mean by that to put the business man out of business.

"As for the farmer, if I am elected your representative I assure you I am by your side, as I have not forgotten you. I was raised on the farm and I assure you I know you are the least paid of all and need a man to represent you who will stand and battle for you until you are awarded what you are entitled to. This I will do if elected to represent you.

"I believe any candidate should, if he represents you as he should, he must have nerve enough to speak up in your behalf both in our state capitol and elsewhere, rather than sit back and play shut mouth.

"Now, please don't forget me, for I am a poor man and don't have a car and money to wage much publicity or campaign, but I assure you all I ask is a chance and I will prove the rest to you."

NEW DIRECTOR

Robert B. (Bob) Richardson, above, has assumed his new duties as acting director of highways in Baton Rouge, replacing Col. P. A. Frye, whose resignation was effective Sept. 15. Richardson, 46, has been in the department of highways for 26 years, and was construction and maintenance engineer since 1940. A native of Lincoln parish, the director was graduated from Louisiana Tech at Ruston in 1920, and joined the highway department the following year. Since that time he has been an instrument man, resident engineer, district engineer at Monroe, chief construction engineer and construction and maintenance engineer. The new highway chief is married to the former Ruth Hatfield of Winnsboro, and is the father of a nine-year-old daughter, Bobbie. They make their home in Baton Rouge.

CONTEST SLATED BY NAT'L GUARD

Two-Month Recruiting Contest Is Opening Here

Enlisted men of Company I, of the 199th Infantry of the Louisiana National Guard, will compete in a two-month recruiting contest starting on National Guard Day, September 16, to enlist a quota of 39 new members in the local unit and to try for a state recruiting national prize, an airplane trip to Washington and the Army-Navy football game, Captain Charles M. Womack, commanding officer, announced this week.

The state winner of the recruiting contest will be a guest of the war department on the Washington trip. With other state winners he will visit the White House, be entertained at luncheons by Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson and members of Congress, tour the capital, attend a New York broadcast of the National Guard Assembly, the network radio program sponsored by the National Guard, and attend the big gridiron clash in Philadelphia on November 29. There will also be a state prize and a prize from the local battalion.

Captain Womack states that men, ages 17 to 35, may enlist in the National Guard now and participate in the contest.

You, Too

The Twin Cities Community Chest will start its annual campaign for funds within the next couple of weeks, and although the budget for 1948 has not been announced or plans for the drive completed, it's well to consider the merits of the organization which serves the community's many charities.

If somebody suddenly asked you, "What is the Community Chest?" you'd probably say, "Well, it's an organization that helps people."

You'd be right.

But nine chances out of ten you'd be thinking that the people it helps are the "other people"—not by any chance you.

And you'd be wrong.

For one thing, you and your family benefit just as much as the other fellow's family by the presence in this town of hospitals, health centers, Y. M.'s and Y. W.'s, Scouts—to name only a few familiar Red Feather services.

But even if you or your children never should use one of these services, you still benefit by the Community Chest. And this is how:

If you believe in your community: The Community Chest is a wholesome and a democratic force in any man's town. It unites people of all faiths, all political beliefs, all walks of life, to plan and work together for the good of the whole community.

If you believe in order: The Community Chest is the orderly way to plan and raise money for voluntary services. Instead of turning loose on the town numerous separate appeals, it unites them into one campaign, with one big goal to meet many big needs.

If you believe in fairness: The Community Chest allocates the money raised fairly among its member agencies instead of making them compete with each other for public interest and support.

If you believe in economy: The Community Chest conserves leadership, time and money, cuts administrative costs and this delivers the maximum value of each dollar raised to the purpose for which it was given.

If you believe in American enterprise: Our government can do a lot for our welfare, but it can't build us good communities to live in—that's up to us citizens. In its support of voluntary non-governmental services the Community Chest puts its faith in a good old American ideal: The good community is built not by compulsion, but by cooperation; not by selfishness, but by sharing.

'PATRIOTS ALL THE TIME'

On Sept. 16, 1940, the first National Guard units were called into service for the emergency which resulted in World War II. President Truman, a former Guardsman himself, has selected the seventh anniversary of that date as National Guard Day, which opens a two-month recruiting campaign.

The campaign's object is to stimulate the rebuilding of the National Guard to a strength needed to protect the peace which 17 divisions of Guardsmen helped to win. Since most enlistments had run out before the National Guard units were demobilized, peacetime reorganization had to start from scratch.

There had been 100,000 enlistments by July 1, of this year. The goal of this two-month drive is 88,888, which figures out about one new Guardsman a minute during the period. But that is only an immediate objective. The long-range targets are 250,000 men for the present fiscal year, and a peak strength of 682,000 by June of 1951.

The National Guard is a direct descendant of the pre-Revolutionary militia or home guards. The present Guard, though modernized and mechanized, serves essentially the same purpose. Its members devote two hours a week and 15 days in summer to training, and they are called on only in cases of emergency. All the emergencies are not of a military nature. The National Guard has performed valuable service during floods, tornadoes and other disasters.

New developments and knowledge which came out of the recent war are being used in training and equipping the present Guard. Instruction is by Regular Army officers. Many of the members are veterans who are refreshing or expanding war-learned skills. Others are youngsters receiving training which will be useful in civilian life.

In a time of tension and uneasy peace, when the Army is below strength and universal military training is far from a reality, this recruitment drive deserves the fullest support. The demands of National Guard membership are not onerous. The rewards is safety which a fully-manned, well-trained and well-equipped National Guard gives can hardly be overestimated.

Even if universal training should be established, the need of a National Guard would not be removed. Nor, we believe, would many of its members wish to see it discontinued. As the country's oldest defense force, at least in tradition, and as a truly democratic organization, the National Guard has a proud and cherished history.

The spirit of its membership perhaps is nowhere better expressed than in a motto inscribed on a beam in the San Juan, Puerto Rico, Officers' Club:

"National Guardsmen are citizens most of the time, soldiers some of the time, patriots all the time!"

Demonstrating that optimism is not dead, a California man offers a reward for the return of $11,000 left in a New York subway station.

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13—Whotzis about Howard Hughes popping the question to Jean Peters—and Miss Peters answering "No?" . . . Edmund Lowe's screen comeback (with Gary Cooper in "Good Sam") is being handicapped by an attack of gout . . . Ella Raines is telling pals that she plans to retire after one more picture and concentrate on her marriage to Major Robin Olds . . . Patricia Morrison, always ambitious for an operatic career, will get her wish come December, when she will debut in "Carmen" for the Philadelphia Opera Company.

Ex-Actor Ben Bard, who now heads a Hollywood talent school, reports that since the war nine out of ten newcomers, bidding for screen work, are men . . . Time out for Frances Gifford, suffering from "Technicolor eyes," incurred on MGM's "Luxury Liner" set . . . I hear that screen Writer Emmett Lavery is readying a $1,000,000 damage suit against Lela (Ginger's mama) Rogers, who charged on a recent radio program that his new play is communistic propaganda. . . . Aside to John Loder: If you don't break down and introduce that beautiful brunette you've been squiring about to some of your pals, you're not going to have any pals.

Betty Grable is shopping for a new house that will provide bigger nursery quarters. . . . Romantic: Helmut Dantine and L. A. society gal Charlene Wrightsman. . . . Johnny Weissmuller would like to break his contract with Producer Sol Lesser and play cowboys for a change. . . . Don't be surprised if Warner Brothers' top comedy team for 1949 is Jack Benny and Jack Carson.

Preview nights: Pic of an anemic week: Universal-International's "The Years Between" (Michael Redgrave-Valerie Hobson). A made-in-England "heart-tug" drama that most Hollywood studios would point to with pride. . . . Fair: Warner Brothers' "Dark Passage" (Humphrey Bogart-Lauren Bacall). Murder mystery in which excellent performances are offset by a poorly-developed plot. . . . So-so: Republic's "Along the Oregon Trail" (Monte Hale-Adrian Booth). Routine fare for giddyap fans. . . . Columbia's "The Stranger From Ponca City" (Charles Starrett-Smiley Burnette-Virginia Hunter). Someday, maybe, the horse opera producers will run out of place names and have to find a new story. . . . Best performance: Valerie Hobson in "The Years Between."

Sometimes I think it's just as well that the Hollywood trade papers have little circulation outside of show business. If they fell into the hands of outsiders, too many people might be disillusioned. In today's issues, for instance, there's a display ad that certainly might cast doubt on the originality of Hollywood comedians. It reads: "Large Gag Collection Alphabetically Arranged. Will Trade Or Sell."

The announcement that Irving Berlin will donate to the American Heritage Foundation all proceeds from his latest song, "The Freedom Train" is hardly unexpected. Berlin has made it a practice, for years, to contribute all or part of his earnings from each new tune to some worthy objective. "This Is The Army" swelled the American Emergency Relief Fund; "God Bless America" enriched the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts; the Army Ordinance Association inherited most of the revenue from "Arms For The Love of America" and "Any Bonds Today;" Navy Relief harvested plenty of dollars from "I Threw A Kiss Into The Ocean;" The American Red Cross was the beneficiary of "Angels of Mercy" and the National Foundation fo Infantile Paralysis got the proceeds from "The President's Birthday Ball." I think it's about time for someone to write a song honoring Irving Berlin.

At the recent Kathryn Grayson-Johnny Johnston wedding, Kathryn's parents were conspicuously absent, despite previous announcements that her father would give the bride away. Evidently, her efforts to overcome the family's bitter opposition to the marriage were unsuccessful. It seems a pity that they couldn't forget their feelings in the matter, in the interests of their daughter's happiness. Her parents blessing would have been the nicest wedding present Kathryn could have asked for.

A Hollywood columnist came up this week with the truly amazing news that Daisy, the dog in the "Blondie" series, has earned more than half a million dollars in its nine-year screen career. Hmmmm . . . if that's what they mean by "a dog's life," just call me Rover!

Pitching Horseshoes
By Billy Rose

Billy Rose

A murderer is on the loose in New York. He escaped from a western prison where he was serving a sentence for bank robbery. In his cell was found the manuscript of a short story. How would you go about capturing him in a city of 8,000,000?

I was asked this question the other night in one of the cheese-cake parlors by a detective I'll call Mike Romano. The detective is an old friend of mine and an interesting fellow to talk to if you can keep him from taking off his shoes to show you what perfect arches he has.

"Not so fast," I said when Romano posed the problem. "First tell me, who did the murderer murder, and how did you know he was in New York?"

"If you were any kind of detective," smiled Mike, "you wouldn't be needing any more clues. The fugitive—his name was Pudge Bissel—stuck up a bank in California and got away with thirty thousand dollars, mostly in twenties. When the police caught up with him in Las Vegas a week later, the money wasn't on him and the usual means of persuasion couldn't get him to tell where it was. He was handed ten years and sent to San Quentin. A couple of months later he got hold of a pair of scissors, killed a guard, and escaped in a garbage truck. Pretty soon twenty dollar bills with the serial numbers of the stolen money started turning up in different towns. The trail ended in New York. Week after week, we picked up five or six of the hot twenties. But no Bissel. We sent out the stoolies. Still no Bissel. Any other questions?"

"How about the manuscript they found?" I asked Mike. "Was it about anything in particular?"

"That's a good question," said the detective, "and if there's anything I like it's a good question. Bissel's story was about a bartender and his girl. But I'll make it easy for you. The subject of the story had nothing to do with the case."

"How about this?" I said. "Frame up a short story contest, announce it in one of the New York papers, and then compare the handwriting of the entries with the manuscript found in the prison."

"Not bad," said Mike, "but not good either. Maybe Bissel doesn't enter the contest. If he does, maybe he uses a typewriter. Try again. I'll give you a hint. All you writer bums like to see your stuff in print. Especially with a by-line."

"Okay, wise guy," I said. "Try this for size. Get the editor of Collier's to publish Bissel's story. Then have Collier's run an ad about it. Arrest Bissel when he comes out of hiding to buy the magazine."

"Genius," said Romano. "Pure genius. All we have to do is talk a smart editor into publishing a crummy story, get him to spend the magazine's money advertising it, post twenty thousand detectives at twenty thousand newsstands, and then pray that Bissel doesn't go to Newark to buy his copy. Or doesn't send a girl friend out for it."

"You win, Romano," I said. "I'll assemble all the suspects in the living room and you can break the case. What was the solution?"

"Something like what you said," grinned the detective, "only more practical. I called up the editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, the nearest big paper to San Quentin, and told him it would help us if he would publish the short story in his paper on a certain date. Then I got a Broadway columnist who owes me a favor to mention it in his column. The day the newspaper figured to get to New York, we planted half a dozen detectives around the Out-of-Town Newspaper Stand at 43rd street and Broadway, which is the . . ."

"Only place in New York where you can buy a San Francisco paper," I finished for him.

"Right," said Mike. "We tailed everybody who bought a Chronicle. That afternoon a dame with no stockings came up and asked for one. We followed her to a walk-up on Sixth avenue and caught Bissel with his shoes and holster off. Case closed."

"Not a bad story," I said. "Do you mind if I use it?"

"Okay by me," said Romano. "And while you're at it, why don't you put something in about how they're always calling detectives flatfoots? I've been on the Broadway squad for 20 years and my arches are . . ."

"I know," I said. "I know."

OUR CHILDREN

JEALOUSY

Jealousy is like an insidious disease, poisoning the body and mind of its victim. A jealous person in a family can poison the family life and ruin a home. Jealousy is unreasoning, blind, stupid. It cannot be reasoned with being, by its very nature, unreasonable.

Usually the victim of jealousy feels that he is not on an equal footing among his family and friends. For some reason he feels that somebody else is stronger, finer, better loved than he and when that feeling masters him the attack is on and nobody on earth is more miserable, or more to be pitied.

Sometimes children are jealous of their brothers or sisters. A child who has been the only one in the family for some years and who finds himself removed from that position by the arrival of a brother or sister, sometimes shows jealousy. A child of a family group sometimes develops the malady because he is outshone by his brothers and sisters.

The best cure we have found for such children is that of helping them to find a way that allows them to feel fit and able, even superior to the brother or sister of whom they are jealous. Show the jealous child that the baby is quite helpless and dependent upon others for his care and teach him to do something necessary for the baby's welfare and comfort. If he once can feel that there is much that he knows and feels and enjoys that his baby brother or sister cannot, he will be well on his way to a cure. "We love whom we serve," said Stevenson and he never said anything with more truth.

When an older child shows jealousy of another member of the family say nothing about it. This malady must be treated indirectly, as impersonally as possible for best results. Feel about for what he feels as his deficiency and, if possible, do something about rectifying it in his mind and at the same time search for a field of usefulness or of talent in which he can outshine somebody, or in which he can be prominent. He needs some equalizing ability, some balance to his inadequacies.

When one small boy was allowed to take charge of his infant brother's cap and coat and dress him for outdoors, his jealousy vanished after a few weeks. A discontented, complaining, jealous little girl lost her bad feeling when she was allowed to take dancing lessons and so become eligible for school programs where her sister shone as a singer. Service to others, self-expression in healthy fashion, the assurance of an appreciative audience, are wonderful lifts to the burdened jealous soul.

Selfishness is by no means limited to "the only child." Parents will find help in overcoming selfishness and other undesirable traits by reading Dr. Patri's leaflet P-22, "Relationship to Other Children."

By PETER EDSON
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Just when it looked like they had most of the bugs out of the armed forces merger, some capital hostess had to foul up the works in great shape.

The afternoon it was announced that John L. Sullivan, Kenneth C. Royall and W. Stuart Symington, in that order, had been named head of the navy, army and air force under the new department of national defense, this hostess decided to invite them all to a party. When she started arranging the seating order of her guests, however, it dawned on her that the order of precedence—protocol—would be changed under the new set-up. The three new appointees wouldn't have the rank of cabinet members. Where should they sit? What would be their position in a receiving line?

She nervously buzzed the state department's protocol office for advice and got the polite answer that because the merger wouldn't become official until the new armed service's boss, James Forrestal, took the oath, they would be unable to give an official judgment until then.

Hostess Resting Quietly

The frantic woman then started calling her friends for advice. But all she did was to leave in her telephone wake a sort of chain consternation, which has since grown into mass hostess-frustration. The latest report was that the poor woman had to call off her party and is now resting in Maryland sanitarium. But it still leaves the problem unsolved.

Up until now the order of social precedence has been approximately: the president, foreign ambassadors, chief justice, speaker of the house, secretary of state, ministers of foreign countries, associate supreme court justices, cabinet members, state governors, senators, chief of staff, chief of naval operations, five-star generals and admirals, representatives, charge de-affaires and then lesser officials. It has never been settled as to whether ambassadors or the chief justice comes after the president with the result no hostess asks them to the same party.

Another problem is what to do with the new secretary of national defense at social functions. It is established custom that the newest departments should get last social precedence. The war department has always had second precedence after the state department in the cabinet rankings. And it is guessed that the new cabinet post will command that old spot at the festive board. But it isn't official.

Authority, Too, At Sea

The person in Washington most eager to get the correct key to the whole puzzle is Carolyn Hagner Shaw. She publishes the "Social List of Washington," a sort of unofficial but highly-regarded social register. Her current edition is due to go to press in a couple of days. And she wants to have the right answer for her readers. A guide to the order of precedence is part of a regular feature in her book. Her only comment is:

"After talking to almost every agency and authority in town, I'm still completely at sea."

Among the experts, who have calmed to the point where they can discuss the thing coherently, it's agreed that it narrows down to whether Messrs. Royall, Symington and Sullivan will sit at dinner or stand in receiving lines on the right or left of charge de'affaires. If, like this writer, you didn't know, charge d'affaires are sort of vice-ambassadors. They officially represent a nation when the ambassador is out of town.

Only Mr. Royall, who is now a cabinet member, would get socially demoted under the new arrangement. For the other two men, this new proximity to charge de'affaires is a theoretical improvement. If the final decision sandwiches the new positions between the members of the House of Representatives and the charges it will probably bring welcome relief to both representatives and charges to have somebody new to talk to at dinner.

DOWN SOUTH
By Thurman Sensing
Director of Research, Southern States Industrial Council

Now that we seem to be rushing toward a decision, it is time the administration were telling the people of the United States a little more about what the Marshall plan is and why it is proposed—if they know themselves. It is certainly the people of this nation who will pay the bill, and the people in a free, democratic country should never be asked, and should never consent, to write a blank check for anything; they should always know exactly what they are doing and why they are doing it.

The Marshall plan may be the best plan yet devised for settling many of the world's troubles, but from the information thus far given them, the people of the United States have no way of knowing whether it is or not. In general, we have been informed that the Marshal plan requires the nations of western Europe, in the main, to sit down together and determine what total amount would be required to rehabilitate them over the next four or five years, how far their own resources will go towards doing the job, and that upon reporting these figures to the United States, this nation would consider supplying the difference.

Sixteen of these nations have now made this estimate and have reported that the minimum amount of aid required from the United States under the Marshall plan over the next four years would be $29,200,000,000—and that this amount would still leave Europe short of complete economic rehabilitation. The administration indicates it believes this amount too high, and is now "talking" something like $15,000,000,000.

So much, apparently, for what the Marshall plan is. Whether the administration has in mind that the plan shall be extended to other nations in need all over the face of the globe, such as China and India, they have not yet seen fit to divulge to the American people.

Of course, what is the Marshall plan is not nearly so important as why is the Marshall plan. Telling the people what a plan is does not necessarily help them to decide whether to put the plan into effect. It is only by telling them why the plan is proposed that they can make up their minds.

It has been made fairly clear that the whole idea back of the Marshall plan is to stop the spread of Communism. There could hardly be any other reason, but if that is correct, it should be made a little clearer. The people of the United States should be advised that they are still at war, the only difference being that it is a war of dollars instead of a war of bullets. There should be no deception about it.

Certainly the Marshall plan is not a plan of charity to feed and clothe the hungry and the naked, such as the Red Cross or the Belgian Relief on a grand scale. And surely the administration will not attempt to get support for the plan by promulgating the doctrine that it will prevent a depression and help maintain prosperity in this country by sustaining our foreign trade. Pure charity does not require expenditures on any such colossal scale; and the American people are not so dumb as to believe that giving away material goods to European and other nations, or even lending them the money with which to buy our goods, will actually help maintain prosperity in this country. It is hard to understand how any sensible person can get excited over our tremendous foreign trade balance being of any economic value to the nation as it is now constituted, being merely a gift or bookkeeping entry so far as value received is concerned and actually representing a dwindling away of our national resources.

It being agreed that we are, and should be, at war with Communism, the next question the American people might ask themselves is whether or not the best way to win the war is through the Marshall plan? In the first place, it is not true that continuous recipients of gifts are never likely to have the incentive to do something for themselves and are therefore never likely to attain sound economic rehabilitation?

Then, too, we must not forget that such a plan means the distribution of our material resources without getting anything in exchange—any more than we would in a fighting war. If it were a question of sending abroad a few shiploads of dollars, that would be easy. But these nations cannot eat and wear dollars, they cannot build and manufacture with dollars, they cannot fight with dollars. They want goods. The next question the American people might ask themselves, therefore, is whether the spreading thin of our material resources and the consequent weakening of our nation is the best way to win the war against Communism?

There still remains the third great question, namely, can democracy be bought like any other commodity in the market place or must not the love of freedom first exist in the hearts of the people themselves? Even in the case of Great Britain, for instance—which nation we rightly consider in many ways our mother country and whose alliance and friendship we sincerely desire—we must still ask the question: How can the United States strengthen its defense against Communism by making gifts or lending money to a socialistic government? If such a question may be asked of Great Britain, how much more it may be asked of many other nations considered within the orbit of the Marshall plan!

Until the Marshall plan is more clearly presented to the American people, it is inevitable that such questions as these shall arise in their minds. And until the questions are answered, it is the duty and the privilege of the American people, in their own interest and in the interest of the world, to reserve any decision as to what action shall be taken.

TWO FIRMS REDUCE GASOLINE PRICES

A one-half cent cut in the price of gasoline and reductions in the prices of light oils were announced yesterday by two oil companies which serve this area. They were the Texas Company and the Continental Oil Company.

Announcing the reductions, the Texas Company said the retail price is down to 26 1/2 cents for Ethyl gas, and 24 1/2 for regular. The cut is general over the nine-state area, including Louisiana. It became effective Thursday.

The announcement stated that the price cut was being made in a nine-state area "to meet the competitive prices" of Jersey Standard. The cut will have a fairly wide range in that it ranges from one-half cent a gallon for gasoline to about four-tenths of a cent a gallon on light fuel oil and will be variable with locality, the statement said.

In addition to gasoline wholesale prices to the local dealers on kerosene, tractor and Diesel fuel also were decreased one-half cent.

Approximately 30 days ago all major companies with the exception of Standard, announced a half-cent increase on "gas" price, followed by a statement from Standard that it did not deem the time proper or conditions such as to justify an increase in its products price.

At outlets of most of the other major companies prices for gasoline range from 25 to 27 cents. Some dealers did not follow the wholesale price increase with a raise in retail prices. Standard stations, in keeping with the announcement non-increase policy on the company, have maintained a schedule of 24 1/2 cents for regular and 26 1/2 cents for Ethyl.

In addition to Louisiana, the area affected comprises the states of New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Caroline, Arkansas and the District of Columbia.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday School Lesson For Sept. 21
Scripture: Proverbs 4:23; 6:16-19; 9:10; 14:34; 15:1; 16:18; 21:3; 22:1; 27:1; 28:1; 29:18; James 4:1
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Great proverbs are the crystallization of experience. Sometimes they are reflections upon life and conduct; terse, concentrated bits of wisdom, or philosophy; homely or picturesque expressions of truth, that are to character and the good life as the acorn is to the oak.

Sometimes they are the observations of discerning critics, who have observed the wisdom of the wise, and the folly of the foolish, and have set down human values and the best way of attaining them in rules of guidemarks in the form of popular, memorable maxims.

Sometimes they seem to have been spontaneous thoughts, quickened by some incident or experience, in much the same way as an artist catches and records some passing scene or impression.

All three forms of proverbs are illustrated in the passages cited in the lesson. A few very striking ones are elsewhere in the Book. A deep philosophy of life is in 4:23, "Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life." Similar reflection is in the list of things that the Lord hates—the six things listed in 6:16-19; and in the well-known 14:34, "Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people."

Of the second sort, terse, practical observations, are 16:18, "Pride goeth before destruction, and an haughty spirit before a fall" and 28:1, "The wicked flee when no man pursueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion."

Good examples of the spontaneous, but no less deeply wise proverbs, are 27:19, "As in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man." A good example of the same sort, outside the Book of Proverbs, but a proverb none the less, is in Ecclesiastes 7:6, "As the crackling of thorns under a pot, so is the laughter of the fool."

We can imagine the thirsty traveler stooping down to drink in some limpid pool, before mirrors were common, and as he saw each feature given back from the pool having flash into his mind that vivid metaphor to which the great Sir Francis Bacon devoted an essay of interpretation. And as for the crackling, I have camped and cooked in a pot over an outdoor fire often enough to have recalled the proverb.

Every people and country has had its proverbs, and almost every generation has had some of its own. But richest of all are those that have come from the ancient Hebrews. No doubt they were compiled from many sources, and they represent a great repository of treasured wisdom, but it is no coincidence that they come from a race and a time that gave to the world its greatest saints and prophets, and that ultimately gave to the world the Savior of Men, whose parables express and fulfill the wisdom of the Scriptures that He knew so well.

BIBLE THOUGHTS

TEKEL: Thou are weighed in the balances, and art found wanting. — Daniel 5:27.

Truly at the day of judgment we shall not be examined as to what we have read, but as to what we have done; not as to how well we have spoken, but as to how religiously we have lived.—Thomas A. Kempis.

WHEREAS, the Little Theatre of Monroe is the only organization of its kind providing such entertainment in Monroe; and

WHEREAS, the Chamber of Commerce is vitally interested in the cultural development of Monroe and West Monroe, along with its commercial and industrial development; now therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe-West Monroe extends to the Little Theatre of Monroe its wholehearted cooperation and support in the efforts of the Little Theatre to enlarge its membership and to pursue its program; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe-West Monroe urges the residents of Monroe and West Monroe to support the Little Theatre of Monroe by subscribing as members, and in any other manner which they may wish.

DRIVER ABSOLVED IN FATAL CRASH

Coroner's Jury Releases W. D. Prudhon Of Blame In Death Of Shrell

W. D. Prudhon, 33, Shreveport, driver of the truck involved in a fatal crash Friday at 10:45 p.m. with C. H. Shrell, '52, business agent of the Monroe Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 659, was absolved of blame yesterday after a coroner's jury failed to find any reason to hold him.

Prudhon repeated essentially the same account he told state police shortly after the accident. He said he was headed east on 80 when he and Shrell met in a twenty-degree curve, about eight miles from Monroe. Shrell's car, he testified, had passed the cab of his truck before he felt the impact as it hit the left drive wheel. He said that the lights from the Hudson had not blinded him nor did he think that his lights had interfered with Shrell. He added that he was unable to estimate Shrell's speed.

The state trooper who investigated the wreck told the jury he had not discovered any evidence on which to arrest the truck driver.

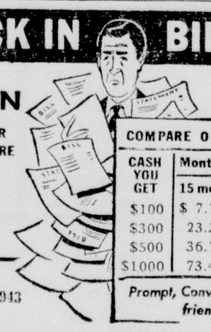

Shrell, whose home was at Ruston, has been connected with the Monroe union for many years and had served as business agent for the last two years, having been reelected to that position only three months ago.

Funeral services will be held for Shrell Sunday at 2:00 p.m. at his residence, 411 East Mississippi street. Interment will follow at the Greenwood Cemetery in Ruston.

Survivors include Shrell's wife, Mrs. Clyde H. Shrell, and five sons; Darwin, Clyde, Edwin Harry, and Harold, all of Ruston.

Chameleons do change color from time to time, but not to match their backgrounds. The change is governed by light, temperature and the way it feels.

AVRUDAKA ORDER TO BE FORMED

New Khorassan Branch Will Be Constituted In Monroe

Nomads of Avrudka, dramatic order of the Knights of Khorassan, will form a unit here over the week end, already a local group has been admitted. They joined in Beaumont at the time of the big ceremonial held there in August. They are Dr. H. H. Baur, well known in Pythian circles; A. J. Lester, L. J. Hunnicutt, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman Coon.

Mrs. Trucie Sink, Imperial Swami arrived last night for the installation of the order here and with her were Mrs. Francis Stenson, Mrs. Bertha Teaken and Mrs. Della Eberling, all from Houston, Tex. The delegation from Beaumont, who arrived here Saturday night, comprised: Mrs. Drusilla Noble, Mrs. Nelda Aaron, Mrs. Nell Hannen, Mrs. Ann Bell Warden, and Trucie Pringle.

Nomads from Shreveport, Jackson, El Dorado and Little Rock also were present here for the initiations, which were conducted Saturday night.

A preliminary meeting will be held at 127 1/2 St. John street Sunday at 2 p. m. for all Nomads and charter members. Officers will be elected and there will be a business meeting held.

Monday at 7 p. m. all new members will meet at 127 1/2 St. John street and all who desire membership. At 7:30 p. m. the newly-elected officers will be installed.

There will be 75 charter members of the new order here it is stated.

SUBJECT: AUTOMATIC WASHING MACHINE TESTS.

Gentlemen:

As a result of recent tests conducted in your laboratory and observed by us on LAUNDERALL and two other leading automatic washing machines furnished by you, we certify as follows:

1. "Launderall" washed 28.7% to 41.2% cleaner than the other two machines with 10 lbs. of clothes in "Launderall" and 9 lbs. in each of the other machines.
2. "Launderall" used 18.2% to 27.1% less soap than the other machines per pound of clothes for equal washability.
3. "Launderall" used 17.7% to 27.1% less hot water than the other two machines, using 10 lbs. of clothes in "Launderall" and 9 lbs. in each of the others.

This report covers only the particular machines tested and no others.

Very truly yours,

- ★ DAMP DRIES—DRIPLESS — Roto Drier damp dries clothes ready for the line
- ★ SCIENTIFICALLY TIMED CYCLES — Hydro-Pel Drive takes guesswork out of washing
- ★ LARGER CAPACITY — 10 full pounds—dry weight
- ★ GREATER ECONOMY — Saves on use of hot water, soap, electricity
- ★ PRE-SOAKING ELIMINATED

HERE'S HOW THE TESTS WERE MADE

Each machine was loaded and operated according to its manufacturer's recommendations. The washing tests were run with standardized materials and procedures deemed by them to be sufficient to make a fair comparison and consistently applied to each machine tested.

Every step in the tests was under close scientific control. On each machine, a direct reading meter was installed to measure the amount of hot water used—also a thermometer to indicate and control uniformity of water temperature.

Identical cloth swatches were impregnated uniformly with carbon black, tallow, mineral oil and vegetable oil. Three washability tests were run on each machine and an average taken over-all for each machine to measure resulting cleanliness of clothes in Detergency Units. The ratio of washability to soap consumption was also determined for each machine, the same brand of soap being used for all the tests. Water of 6 to 8 grains hardness was employed.

53 GIRLS GET COOKING AWARDS

Red Cross Gives Recognition For Completion Of Course

Five classes of "Planning Family Breakfast" were taught by Mrs. Mildred Swift during the past summer vacation to school girls. A total of fifty-three finished the course of six lessons which consisted of preparing various foods used in a breakfast meal --fresh fruits, dried fruits, cereals, cooked and prepared cereals, eggs—poached, baked, scrambled, etc., bacon, beverages and hot biscuit.

On Tuesday these youngsters met in Bernstein Park to receive their certificates, presented by Mrs. D. L. Nicol, nutrition chairman for Ouachita Parish Red Cross. Receiving certificates were Jo Ann Bennett, Barbara Bradley, Charline Kappe, Mary Lou Bairnsfather, Rosalind Eberts, Sue Turner, Betty Anne Eberts, Lynne Esdorn, Carmen Gonzales, Patricia L. Danna, Lillian Roddy, Glenda Ware, Lucille Grace Smith, Patsy Sue Averett, Shirley Ann Averett, Patsy Meek, Dale Fleming, Carolyn Fleming, Barbara Brown, Beatrice Varino, Love Harper, Shelby Jane Southall, Ruth Warlick, Virginia Bee, Evalyn Warlick, Mary Louise Varino, Mary O'Dell Wood, Billie Kay Pierce, Corinne Cheshire, Dawson Ann Forman, Penny Nowell, Martha Williams, Lydia Varino, Carolyn Boyce and Ingrid Peterson. Those entitled to certificates unable to attend, were: Stella Courtney, Minnette Smith, Jean Stovall, Kathryn Greer, Nita Fant, Patricia N. Danna, Judy Pate, Jeane Morris, Barbara Schroeder, Florence Swan, Lavinia Swan, Anne Morgan, Joe Ann Miller, Annie Ruth Huckabay, Beverly Jean Durden, Betty Jan Franklin, Barbara Thornhill and Betty Beasley.

Of these girls who are Girl Scouts, they are now entitled to wear the Cook Badge on their uniforms.

Mrs. Mildred Swift expressed the hope that a course "Planning Family Luncheon" would soon be available for those who have completed the course, "Planning Family Breakfast."

Punch and cookies were served by the Red Coss Canteen—Mrs. R. E. Bedwell in charge.

THEY PLANNED FAMILY BREAKFASTS

Certificates were awarded at a party in Bernstein park last week given by the Red Cross to 53 girls who had completed a course in cooking given by this organization. They are as follows: Jo Ann Bennett, Charline Kappe, Mary Lou Bairnsfather, Barbara Bradley, Rosalind Eberts, Betty Anne Eberts, Sue Turner, Lynne Esdorn, Carmen Gonzales, Patricia L. Danna, Lillian Roddy, Glenda Ware, Lucille Grace Smith, Patsy Sue Averett, Shirley Ann Averett, Patsy Meek, Dale Fleming, Carolyn Fleming, Barbara Brown, Beatrice Varino, Love Harper, Shelby Jane Southall, Ruth Warlick, Virginia Bee, Evalyn Warlick, Mary Louise Varino, Mary O'Dell Wood, Billie Kay Pierce, Corinne Cheshire, Dawson Ann Forman, Penny Nowell, Martha Williams, Lydia Varino, Carolyn Boyce, Ingrid Peterson, and Lydia Varino. Those not appearing in photograph who are entitled to certificates are Stella Courtney, Minnette Smith, Jean Stovall, Kathryn Greer, Nita Fant, Patricia N. Danna, Judy Pate, Barbara Schroeder, Jeane Morris, Florence Swan, Lavinia Swan, Anne Morgan, Joe Ann Miller, Annie Ruth Huckabay, Beverly Jean Durden, Betty Jan Franklin, Barbara Thornhill and Betty Beasley.

CITY

thing we have accomplished through independent operation. It will mean an abandonment of a progressive system for an outmoded one that has kept the state near the bottom of the nation's literacy scale since public schools were first established."

The object of Welch's recommendation, he charged, "is to cover up temporary certain deficiencies in the parish system." Every time the problem is discussed, he said "the answer always seems to be consolidation instead of a practical solution by the parish for its own difficulties."

Explaining that the city supports its schools through a long-range bond issue, Taylor predicted that the parish will soon have to adopt a similar financial program.

"And when it does," he added, "it would certainly like to have the city's assessment."

"It would be better not to have competition between two systems," he went on, "but it is definitely not right to ask the sacrifice of something of proven worth to eliminate a few squabbles that could be corrected by sincere, objective effort."

Taylor coupled his criticism of Welch's proposal, advanced Friday night at a mass meeting consisting mainly of irate rural parents who had been turned away from the parish grammar school, with a broadside at what he termed "dangerous political meddling with the schools."

Demanding that "the city schools be divorced from the city hall," Taylor declared that interference on the part of city officials has often been responsible for school conflicts.

(Under the city school system, the mayor is ex-officio head of the school board.)

"Not until we get rid of factional and partisan politics in the school system, can we arrive at a sensible solution of whatever problems confront us," Taylor said.

Courtney Oliver, also a school board member, said he favored the operation of city schools within the city, and parish schools outside the city.

"I am strongly opposed to any consolidation. Very few places operate such a system, and I am convinced that the achievements of the city school system justifies its continued independent existence.

"Most of the clashes between the parish and city schools can be laid to personal rivalry," he charged, "and it is no secret that the parish would like to derive the additional revenue of the city school assessment."

Oliver commented that the only change he would like to see in the present setup is a "clearing out of politics" from the administration of the schools.

R. L. Davis, a fourth member of the board, said he was away from Monroe Friday and Saturday and had not had sufficient time to study.

However, he said, he was opposed to consolidation of parish and city schools, and would rather see the establishment of two exclusive systems—city schools for city children, and parish schools for youngsters living in the rural areas.

TRUMAN

Lieut. Commander F. G. Robinson.

They explained that the Missouri is far ahead of its schedule and that its course could be changed.

Meanwhile it was disclosed by Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary that President Truman had received by radio the full text of the speech Secretary of State Marshall is to deliver tomorrow at the American Association of the United Nations.

The receipt aboard ship of the entire text of Marshall's speech showed how closely President Truman is keeping in touch with developments in Washington.

Attired in a light tan suit, khaki shirt, buff colored hat and tan and white shoes, Mr. Truman accompanied Capt. Robert L. Dennison on an inspection of the ship's personnel.

He stopped and shook hands with many of the men and talked with others.

Surprised marines looked up startled when Mr. Truman, a former artillery officer, grabbed their rifles from their hands, held them out and peered down the barrels.

Mr. Truman talked later about Mississippi politicians in a visit to the sick bay where he saw Charles A. Scott, 27-year old merchant seaman who was brought aboard from the freighter Del Sol several days ago when he was stricken with blood poisoning.

Scott of Egremont, Miss., said the president asked him if he knew the late Senator Pat Harrison of that state and was told he did.

He also said he replied "yes," when the president asked if he knew the late Senator Bilbo.

Scott was quoted by the ship's doctor as saying he thought Bilbo "a great guy."

The doctor added that the youth told him the president agreed, adding that Bilbo was a personal friend of his when they were in the Senate.

a lady likes to look her best

The Egyptians had the idea that the hereafter was a world of substance, as real as a pyramid. It was natural that a lady leaving this world liked to look her best.

For a glamorous entrance into the beyond, her body was wrapped in linen and protected with a resin coating.

For protection and beauty, today's coating materials put the mummy's to shame. One of the most versatile of these is lacquer. A great advance in making lacquer more and more useful to industry is a new spray technique developed by Commercial Solvents—the hot-lacquer process.

The basic idea behind it is simple. Like warming a jug of molasses to make it easy-flowing, "thinning" lacquer with heat makes it possible to apply heavier coats and fewer of them, without sacrificing protection.

Many manufacturers will soon be using this method because it reduces the number of coats required, cuts costs, and steps up production. The hot-lacquer process is an example of the kind of CSC research that helps make familiar products better and new products possible.

pressure, succeeded in bringing the flames under control only after most of the house had been gutted.

According to Fire Chief E. C. Taylor, the blaze started in a back closet and then fanned quickly through the dwelling. At the height of the blaze, firemen and volunteer helpers struggled also to prevent the flames from igniting another house, the residence of Mrs. Eubanks and Mrs. W. O. Plunk, directly in front of the burning building.

When the flames had been brought under control, firemen and helpers entered the ruins to bring charred furniture and other possessions outside.

Tired and smoke-blackened, the men labored for almost an hour to extinguish dying flames that pierced the roof and walls. Occasionally, a piece of smouldering furniture was thrown from a window or door.

As nearly a hundred spectators watched the racing flames, the acid odor of burned wood and bedclothes permeated the air for more than three city blocks. Outside the rubble of the rough-wood building, a charred mass of papers, furniture and clothing testified to the intensity of the blaze.

Although no one knew definitely how the fire originated, several bystanders attributed it to a short in the wiring of a window fan.

Mrs. Plunk said that Mrs. Russell and her daughter would probably live with Mrs. Russell's son, A. J. Russell, who lives only a few blocks away, for the present.

profit group headed by Winthrop W. Aldrich, board chairman of the Chase National Bank of New York. The foundation pledged to underwrite cost of the freedom train pilgrimage.

"This will be the first time that a collection of such magnitude, containing the basic landmarks in the development of our American history, has ever been brought to every section of this land," Aldrich said.

Aboard will be a copy of Christopher Columbus' first printed letter on the discovery of America; Thomas Jefferson's rough draft of the Declaration of Independence, with suggestions by Benjamin Franklin and John Adams; the official original manuscript of the Bill of Rights; the United Nations Charter; the original of the Pennsylvania Charter of Privileges of 1701 signed by William Penn, and scores of others.

Guarded by U. S. marines night and day, the exhibits will be viewed from behind steel doors and plastic glass enclosures.

The Pennsylvania railroad donated the seven cars. Steel plates seal the windows inside and out. Floors and ceilings of the coaches were heavily reinforced and special protective vaults installed.

A streamlined diesel-electric engine, named "The Spirit of '76," was built by the American Locomotive and General Electric companies to power the train. Other railroads pledged maintenance and operation during the travelcade.

TEXAS

workers against unscrupulous labor recruiters.

Yeager said that Texas farmers were paying $1.50 to $2.00 per hundred pounds for picking cotton, while Arkansas and Mississippi farmers were offering $3.50 per hundred. He said that the workers also were tempted to leave Texas because of better housing conditions in the north and east.

Approximately 60,000 workers planned to cross the border by next Wednesday, Yeager estimated. A halt was expected next Tuesday, when the Latin-Americans will celebrate Mexico's Independence day, and the flood of workers was expected to dry up by Wednesday, he estimated.

Yeager said the border was blocked after pressure by Texas farmers who wanted to keep the workers in the state.

Already, 13 labor agents have been arrested at Marshall, each with approximately 50 workers in tow. The halted workers were placed on Texas farms until they could obtain clearance, which requires about two weeks.

He estimated that only two per cent of those attempting to leave the state were Mexican citizens. Approximately 17 per cent of the famliy heads were in the United States military service in the last war.

State Labor Commissioner M. B. Morgan tonight said his department is working to stop the "bootlegging" of migratory farm labor from Texas to other states, particularly Arkansas.

Contacted in Jarrell, Tex., Morgan told the Associated Press in a telephone conversation:

"I have had no protests from Texas farmers about the situation as far as I know. I've been away from my office for several days. But Mr. Hohn (Caesar Hohn, state labor replacement official) at the extension service in College Station has been getting protests.

"I've had eleven or twelve deputy labor commissioners working the highways to keep Mexican workers from getting out of the state.

"We've been catching them at Marshall—about 300 so far—and diverting them to parts of the state where farmers need them most."

He said his deputies were primarily concerned with catching illegal labor recruiters.

"We've been attempting to catch violators of the law forbidding people to come into Texas to get workers without going through the proper procedure."

Morgan said the proper procedure for labor recruiters from other states was to contact either the extension service at Texas A. and M. or labor agencies established in this state.

He said workers are badly needed now by the cotton farmers in those areas of the state where harvest is getting underway.

Pressure for the crackdown, Yeager said, came from the Texas A. & M. College.

Yeager said that capital and college station officials were deluged with protests from Texas farmers who said that they needed the migratory workers to harvest their crops. Protests also came from crew organizers who said they had paid the required state labor agent taxes and who claimed that their crews were being raided by other operators who had not paid the tax.

Yeager said that he and 13 state officials would direct the crackdown at Marshall, junction of major highways to Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, and indicated that other officials would stop migratory workers at other strategic points on the east and northeast Texas border.

The federal official said that Mexican citizens who wished to leave the state were being informed of proper procedure and those who complied would be permitted to leave.

He said that labor agents from other states who paid the Texas taxes would be permitted to lead laborers across the borders.

Farm agents must pay a $600 state franchise tax and an additional tax of from $150 to $300 for each county in which they operate, Yeager said.

He added that migratory workers who wished to leave Texas must first write to the out-of-state farmer for whom they wish to work. He will inform his local county agent, who will clear the petition through his state farm labor supervisor. This supervisor must gain approval of the Texas farm labor authorities.

The federal government was brought into the situation because migratory worker control still is under federal supervision under war-time powers. Next year, Texas will take over control.

Already, 13 persons have been arrested here for operating as labor agents without state approval. Six paid fines of $25, four cases have been dismissed and three cases have not been completed.

SPECIAL

the economic conference at Paris had said that American criticisms of their reports and recovery plans completed a few days ago would add another three weeks to their work and delay a comprehensive report to the American government by that much time.

As a result there was speculation that the information which President Truman needs to determine whether a special session is necessary would not be available until well into October.

However, Under Secretary of State Clayton at Paris has advised the conferees to furnish a comprehensive preliminary report to Washington.

Word from the battleship Missouri on which Mr. Truman is returning to this country from Brazil stated that the President still saw no necessity for a special session but was still ready to take what action might be necessary if need arose. He will arrive at Norfolk, Va., Friday and come to Washington Saturday.

There is speculation that he may summon Secretary Marshall back from the UN assembly meeting in New York temporarily and call in other high officials for a thorough discussion and probable show-down on the special session issue. Talk of a special session has grown greatly under State department warnings about conditions in Europe since the president left on his journey two weeks ago.

All the evidence available indicates that Mr. Truman will not be confronted with a unanimous demands by his top officials for a special session.

On the contrary, views developing inside the cabinet appear to reflect the differences of opinion shown among members of congress and in popular discussion of the subject.

Secretary Marshall and Under Secretary of State Lovett both have declared flatly that they are convinced Europe must have special assistance this year. They have not said specifically that this assistance must be provided through congress in a special session but they have made it clear that they did not think there was anyway it could be supplied otherwise.

On the other hand Secretary of Commerce Harriman, whose advisers are supposed to be kept closely informed of official reports from abroad, has carefully avoided any statement on European relief which would have promoted the idea that he favored a special session. According to the best available information, the men who help Harriman make general policy decisions believe that the Europeans could squeeze through with special assistance, especially if President Truman could make use of his present powers and funds—If any—to provide a little more for Europe than the United States is now supplying.

In addition to these two differences of view, officials say Mr. Truman must take thoroughly into account the popular feeling in the country and among political leaders of both parties that the need of a special session has not been proved to the country as a whole.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach and the ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

YES MAN
HOLDS THANKSGIVING In SEPTEMBER

George F. Keene

At Personal, we celebrate "Thanksgiving" in September. We call it Customer Appreciation Month. That's when we tell our customers, dealers, and friends how much we have appreciated their business. Of course, we try to show our appreciation every day in the year by saying "Yes" to 4 out of 5 folks—by finding ways to make a loan that others can't or won't. That we've succeeded is evidenced by the fact that "Personal" served over a million people the last year. Don't borrow unnecessarily—but if a loan of $25 to $250 or more will serve a worthy purpose, phone 1288 or see me at Personal Finance Co. of Monroe, 2nd Floor Bernhardt Bldg., DeSiard and N. 2nd St.

Smart

IS THE WORD FOR OLDSMOBILE

Styled to Stay Smart for Years!

Oldsmobile's style has "caught on" this year—has captured the public taste and fancy as few styles ever do. Tailored smartness . . . a look of luxury . . . smooth good taste in every detail . . . these are the qualities that make people say, "It's SMART to Own an Olds!"

And all this public enthusiasm has a very important meaning for the buyer of a 1947 Oldsmobile. The car he drives today will continue to be a source of real pride for many years to come!

What's more . . . with GM Hydra-Matic Drive*, this new Oldsmobile is way out ahead of the times in performance and driving ease. Hydra-Matic Drive—pioneered, proved and perfected by Oldsmobile—is still the only drive that shifts gears automatically through four forward speeds—the only drive that eliminates the clutch pedal completely.

Oldsmobile—with Hydra-Matic Drive—stands today as the last word in smartness . . . the smart word in lasting value!

N. J. C. OPENS WITH NORTHWEST MISSISSIPPI

TRIBE ABOUT SET FOR SCRAP HERE THURSDAY NIGHT

Starting Assignments About Decided; Defensive Work Impressive

The Northeast Junior College of L. L. S. U. Indians, with starting assignments almost worked out after three weeks of intensive training, go into the final stages of preparation within the next couple of days for their season football opener here Thursday night with Northwest Mississippi Junior College of Senatobia. The game will begin Thursday at 8 o'clock at Brown Field.

Tackling what appears to be the toughest schedule ever drawn up for the Redskins, the Indians will have

ONLY 6 BOXES LEFT

Reserved seat season tickets for N. J. C.'s seven home games this year will remain on sale this week, and while there are still a few hundred reserved seats in the grandstand available Coach Jim Malone said last night that only six box seats remained available.

The demand for box seats has resulted in an almost complete sellout, and the tickets for the remaining boxes are available at Wilson-Lockhart Sporting Goods only on a "first come first served" basis.

"I wish to thank our fans for the response in the purchase of boxes and season tickets," Coach Malone said last night. "The response has been mighty good, and we'll try to give them a ball club that will produce their money's worth."

Reserved seat tickets, available at Monroe and West Monroe business houses, entitle holders to "marked" seats. By owning a season book, a holder will be assured of a seat between the 40 and 50-yard lines at any N. J. C. game regardless of when he appears to claim his seat. Holders will also be free of the trouble of waiting in line to buy tickets at game time.

The reserved season books are on sale at Fink the Tailor's, Wilson-Lockhart, Lovers' Lane Pharmacy, Calvert's Drugs, and Northside Pharmacy.

the advantage of playing seven of them at home. They will be in Brown Field for six successive home engagements, starting with the Thursday tussle.

Coach James L. Malone, who ended his two-a-day drills Friday, yesterday put the Tribe through a single drill, but the workout consisted of a rugged three-hour scrimmage that lasted from 10 a. m. until 1 p. m. At the conclusion of yesterday's work, Malone expressed himself as mighty well pleased with the defensive work of his club but didn't appear too well satisfied with his offensive, particularly on "inside" plays.

Bell Promoted

"Hickey" Bell, 190-pound freshman of Searcy, Ark., after stomping about with the third team during most of the three weeks' work, has apparently established himself as the second string fullback under Ray Hannon, veteran of last season from Crown Point, Ind.

After yesterday's scrimmage, Coach Malone declared Bell would be his No. 2 fullback on the strength of his vicious blocking and capable ball handing ability.

Other standouts yesterday were Guard Claude Brauner, 190, Searcy, Ark., and Center Hugh Smith, 175, Monroe.

Coach Malone also declared he would have "four regular ends" this year in Miller Frey, 190 and six-foot-two, Monroe; Thomas Moncrief, 195, six-foot-two, Sterlington; C. H. "Terrapin" Bell, 190, Searcy, Ark., and brother of "Hickey", and Jim Minnis, a 200-pound freshman from Dallas, Tex.

All four ends have been playing outstanding ball in practice, and Coach Malone said he considered the set "well balanced." Frey and Moncrief are both capable pass receivers and appear faster than the usual lot of junior college wingmen. They know how to run with the ball once they get it in the open field, apparently benefiting by their backfield experienced gained when they played tailback at Ouachita Parish High School. Bell and Minnis both are above the average blockers for junior college play and are vicious defensive performers.

The starting tackles Thursday night will no doubt be C. H. "Bud" Cain, 190, Sterlington, and Charles "Red" Dillon, 190, Little Rock, Ark., both regulars here last year. Robert Lively, 210-pound freshman of Lake Providence, and Gene Grayson, 210, Vicksburg, Miss., will get their share of activity at the tackles.

Six Guards Ready

The Tribe will have plenty of replacements at guard with six standout performers in quest of the jobs. Claude Brauner, Wynne, Ark., and Martin Biddy, 240, Rayville, appear sure of starting assignments, and Malone's No. 2 set will be a pair of brothers, Rudy Broussard and Jay Broussard, both of New Iberia. Jim "Junior" Malone, Brownsburg, Tex., and Lee Dunaway, Burkburnett, Tex., are also capable guards.

In the successful operation of the "T" formation, being exploited by the Tribe this year, good guards of sufficient number and ability are necessary, and all six of the Indians' mid-linemen will get their share of activity.

Quarterbacking the "T" will be Woody Boyles, 200-pound veteran of last season, with the help of Doyle Fenton, 160, freshman of Tallulah.

Installed in the left half slot is Jerry Gregg, former O. P. H. S. flash, and Clayton "Red" Brown, also a former Ouachita star. Which gets the starting assignbent for the first game has not been decided.

At right half Olan Silk, 160, Rayville, and J. M. McBeth, 190, West Monroe, are the top choices with Ernie Murphree, Baton Rouge freshman, making a fight of it for the starting call.

Other promising backs are Al Carter, 165, Alexandria, and a grad of Castle Hall Military Academy, who has been kept out of scrimmage the past week with an ankle injury; Joe Glen Gibson, 160, Burkburnett, Tex.; Tommy LeBeau and Sammy LeBeau, Baton Rouge brothers; and Harold Causey, 185, Ruston, who reported late to the squad and won't be in his best physical condition Thursday and will likely be held out of the Northwest Mississippi game.

The Redskin punting assignments are being handled by Gregg, Brown, and Pentor., all three good kickers for distance, but Gregg looks like the best in accuracy, especially as he booted several to the "coffin corner" in target practice yesterday.

GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD

By Harry Grayson

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(NEA)—If you happen to attend a semi-professional game in the New York metropolitan area and see a robust chap hit a ball out of sight, don't become excited and immediately telegraph your favorite league manager.

It's only old James Emory Foxx having some fun.

Jimmy Foxx has just signed a contract with a Jersey City wholesale beverage concern and plays three or four nights a week and on Sunday afternoons with a group called the Brooklyn Dodger Rookies. The Superbas, you see, furnish the equipment and Branch Rickey ever on the lookout for a bright prospect.

The versatile Mr. Double X pitches and plays first base and can still swat mediocre pitching a fair piece.

And it seems only yesterday that Home Run Baker brought him to Connie Mack out of Maryland's eastern shore and told the tall tactician that this kid would do—and then some.

Foxx, one of the greatest of right-hand hitters, started this season as playing manager of the St. Petersburg club of the Florida International League, but the heat and bus jumps proved too much. So the old Athletic and Red Cocker returned to his Millburn, N. J., home to call it a career professionally.

He was plenty good while he had it.

Florida International League teams, Foxx tells you, have a real job competing with Havana.

"That club gets Cubans good enough for Class A without any trouble," he says. "It has no salary problems. Minor and major league scouts are missing a bet in not combing that country."

Foxx is high on a 17-year-old third baseman, Bob Kline, who played with his St. Petersburg outfit, which was in the first division when he left it.

"The Yankees and Cardinals were interested in Kline," he explains. "I was surprised when we signed him. Remember the name—Kline. You'll be hearing from him.

Looking back on his illustrious career, Foxx believes he would have cracked Babe Ruth's big league home run record of 60 in 1932 had he not suffered a chipped bone in his wrist.

"I made only four hits in August, but finished rapidly," he recalls. "I got my 58th home run the day before the season closed, could not pump one of four hits out of the park in the finale."

No player of such renown dropped out of baseball more suddenly and with less publicity than Jimmy Foxx, but the one-time farmer boy left batting marks that place him alongside such famous right-hand hitters as Napoleon Lajoie and Rogers Hornsby.

GIRAULT LEADING FOR CLUB MEDAL

Qualifying for the annual McGuire Park Club Championship Golf Tournament is now in progress and will continue until next Sunday, according to Pro Johnny Myers who last night reported E. S. "Shep" Girault had qualified with a 76 to claim medal honors for the present.

Ford Hines, West Monroe, only other club member to qualify, posted an 84. Defending Champion Bill Jones will be bracketed in the No. 1 position when the drawings are made, however, and will not be required to qualify.

Myers also said he was urging his club members to participate tomorrow in the pro-amateur feature of the Louisiana P. G. A. tournament at Bastrop.

BROOKLYN MOVES NEARER NATIONAL LEAGUE PENNANT

Dodgers Outlast Cards In Free Slugging Contest, 8 To 7

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Brooklyn moved another step nearer the National League pennant today by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals 8-7 in a free-hitting ball game that was in doubt until the final out.

Opening up a 5½ game gap over the ever-trying Cardinals with only 13 to play, Brooklyn may well have copped the championship with the victory that combined sharp pitching and fielding in the early innings with incredible looseness in the late going.

Ordinarily 19 hits are enough to win a couple of games but today they barely lasted for the Brooks who just managed to stave off a three-run Card spurt in the ninth that fell one run short.

Marty Marion was on second and Pinch Hitter Red Schoendienst on first when Hank Behrman retired Erv Dusak for the final out.

What started out to be a neat duel between Vic Lombardi and Murry Dickson, a pair of pint-sized aces, turned into a hit-happy slugfest.

Dickson yielded first, giving a run on Gene Hermanski's sixth homer in the second after Lombardi had his anxious moments in a two-hit opening round.

That was the way it was until the seventh when the Brooks suddenly clubbed Dickson to the showers with his 14th loss in a four-run rally.

ONLY TIME WILL TELL HOW BADLY TIGERTOWN WILL MISS CHAMPAGNE

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 13.—(Special)—One of the moot questions in southern sports circles these days is "how badly will Louisiana State's Tigers miss Ed Champagne."

When the giant New Orleans tackle hied himself off to join the Los Angeles Rams, just a few days before he was labeled for second string All-America by a national magazine, speculation was rife in Dixie as to just how sorely Ed's loss would be felt in Tigertown.

Well, all the returns are not yet in, and they won't be until the situation is viewed in the light of combat. But the general consensus gained from coaches and scribes is that the Bengals will be badly hurt—not crippled, perhaps, but hurt. Says Coach Bernie Moore, the most affected party, "You can't lose a man like Champagne without feeling it acutely. Our plans will have to be changed."

Disinterested observers like to point out that Coach Moore has two fine performers, "Piggy" Barnes and Hubert Shurtz, to plug the gap. They're right, and to that extent, the Tigers will not be crippled. But they will lack the general depth that pegged them so high in pre-season ratings.

In the first place, Champagne's departure kayoed prospective reshuffling plans, which might have helped smooth over certain glaring weaknesses elsewhere in the L. S. U. line. In the second place, that sparkling spirit of competition that drove Champagne, Barnes and Shurtz to all-star honors last fall will be decreased by one-third, and no one knows what the psychological effect will be on Champagne's co-heirs.

No, the Bengals aren't throwing in the sponge, but you'll have a tough time convincing them that Ed Champagne's jersey will be easy to fill.

OAK GROVE TRIMS PELICANS, 30 TO 0

N. B. Sowell Leads Tigers To Victory Over Louisiana Training Institute

OAK GROVE, La., Sept. 13.—(Special)—"Sowell and Co." better known as the Oak Grove Tigers, outmanned a scrappy team of Louisiana Training Institute Pelicans here last night 30 to 0. N. A. Sowell, big Tiger left halfback, scored two of Oak Grove's touchdowns and was a big factor in the scoring of the other three markers as he established himself as the player all Tiger opponents must stop this season.

Oak Grove scored four touchdowns in the first half and got the fifth in the last half with Maurice Nix, Bob Brasher, and Ben McCasland scoring once each in addition to the two goal crossings by Sowell.

The Pels were held to one first down in the first half, but pushed through the heavier Bengals for seven more in the last half. Black, Fisette, and Skipper were the best of the Pelican ball carriers, while Shaw stood out defensively.

Tom Hickingbottom, giant 242-pound Tiger tackle, was a thorn in the side of L. T. I. all night as he smashed down ball carriers on play after play in a fashion remindful of "Baby Jack" Torrance, Oak Grove's famed combination full-back-tackle of the late 1920s who later starred at L. S. U. and was an Olympic games discus thrower. For the Pels, outstanding linemen were Lott, Dunn, and Miller.

The Pels never threatened to score, but came their closest to pay dirt when they blocked a Tiger punt on the Oak Grove 20, but lost the ball on ball on downs.

Led by the smashing play of Sowell, Oak Grove rolled up 15 first downs to eight for L. T. I.

Oak Grove next meets Dubach here Friday night, and the Pels will be entertaining Block of Jonesville at Monroe Friday afternoon at 2:45

The lineups:

L. T. I.	Pos.	Oak Grove
Mitchell	LE	D. Martin
Peelman	LT	Hickingbottom
Miller	LG	W. Barnhill
Lott	C	Vining
Clark	RG	Craig
Dunn	RT	Bagby
V. Ashworth	RE	Summer
Fisette	QB	Moore
Black	LH	Sowell
Blanchard	RH	Nix
Skipper	FB	Brasher

Substitutes: L. T. I.—Boyer, Kyle, Mancel, Wilson, Jones, Purvis, C. LaGrange, Trahan, Shaw, and Troquille. Oak Grove—McCasland, McFarland, Prisock, Barnett, Capers, Mosley, G. Barnhill, Walters, Myric, Strong, Herring, Stevens, Smith, Ruffing, Harper, O. Martin, and Lee.

BASTROP DEFEATS START ELEVEN, 21-6

BASTROP, La, Sept 13.—(Special)—Before one of the largest opening game crowds in Bastrop history, a light and inexperienced Bastrop football team downed Start High School, 21 to 6, here last night.

The Rams took an early lead when Harold Weatherly intercepted a Start pass in the first quarter and returned it to the visitors' 17. Charles Keene skirted left end for the touchdown, and Hindman converted.

Midway of the second quarter Keene went 22 yards for a second touchdown, and again Hindman added the point.

Start scored early in the third period with Craighead going over from the five after three straight passes had set up the score.

The Rams ended the scoring when big Pearce Lindsey went over from the four late in the final quarter.

Bastrop will meet the Homer High School Pelicans here next Friday night at West Side Stadium, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Southeastern Coaches Bemoan Poor Workouts, Hampering Hot Weather

Butts Claims Georgia Worse Than Last Year, Other Teams Improve

ATLANTA, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Completing two weeks of practice today, the Southeastern Conference football squads looked back at a wake of injured players and disappointing performances.

The high temperatures, which the weatherman predicts have reached their peak and from now on will taper down in most sections to more agreeable readings, hampered efforts to bring the squads into fighting shape.

Coach Wally Butts of Georgia, and Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech, sounded the theme note with criticism of their practice sessions. Butts, for instance, described one of his workouts this week as the "poorest" since he took over at Athens in 1939. Dodd says his team "just hasn't shown anything yet," but in a more optimistic mood added "maybe we'll get it before long."

Practically all the squads, still going at it twice a day in the absence of classwork, are working out behind closed doors. Four of them must get ready for opening games next week with Georgia raising the curtain Friday night at Athens against Furman. Alabama takes on Mississippi Southern the next day at Birmingham, and Mississippi is host to Kentucky that same day in the league's inaugural conference game.

The week after that, the fur will really fly with Tennessee meeting Georgia Tech here, Alabama invading Tulane, Georgia facing North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Vanderbilt meeting Northwestern at Evanston, and L. S. U. host to Rice in a night tilt. Mississippi and Florida also play a conference game. Kentucky meets Cincinnati, and Auburn and Mississippi State get their Baptism with Mississippi Southern and Chattanooga, respectively.

Generally, all the teams figure to be ten to fifteen per cent stronger—but Dodd says his will be that much weaker.

Tennessee—like Alabama and Tulane—poses question marks which have provoked much discussion around the league. The Vols for instance lost eight of the team that started the Orange Bowl game against Rice, but observers are expecting Coach Bob Neyland to pull another rabbit out of the hat for his opener with Tech. Incidentally, Neyland has never lost an opening game.

Alabama, under Harold (Red) Drew—one of the conference's two new head coaches—is attempting a comeback from an undefeated Rose Bowl team of 1945 to an outfit last year which lost to Georgia, Tennessee, L. S. U. and Boston College.

Tulane, which also was somewhat disappointing last season as Henry Frnka made his debut as the Greenies' head man, likewise is on the comeback trail with one of the league's biggest squads.

Mississippi State, admittedly with the conferences "two best" backfields (the Maroons use the Tennessee two-team system) is facing a deficit of experienced linemen. Allyn McKeen lost a half dozen frontwall stalwarts he didn't expect to, and is struggling to replace them. He also lost several of his assistants.

L. S. U., with no particular position rating head-and-shoulders above another, but with power and balance throughout, is still the team to beat, and has most of last year's squad back, including 35 lettermen. The Tigers lost only to Georgia Tech in what was considered a major upset.

Mississippi, with Johnny Vaught making his debut as head coach succeeding Drew, stands to be vastly improved with one of the league's foremost passing combines in history. The duo will feature Charlie Conerly pitching and Barney Poole, an ex-Army great, catching. The Rebels surprised several teams last year, losing in the final minutes to Tennessee and L. S. U.

Kentucky rates the darkhorse role, Tulane is picked as the team likely to show the most improvement, while Auburn, Vanderbilt and Florida remain in the "unknown quantity" category while still in the rebuilding stage

GRAMBLING ELEVEN READY FOR BENNING

GRAMBLING, La., Sept. 13.—(Special)—Grambling College's lithe-limbed '47 football legion, paced by a Herculean line and the consummated ability of the Ramblingest Negro backs in Dixie, will collide with a doughty infantry eleven from Fort Benning Saturday night in a contest which will mark the opening of a season in which the Tigers hope to offset the rather disastrous results they encountered a year ago.

Eddie Robinson's Tigers are a fat and sassy bunch, revamped, and completely organized for conquest. The dipsy-do backfield will be spearheaded by Big Albany Jones who stepped out in sprightly style as a freshman. Quarterback "Boots" Moore is expected to recapture his sophomore frenzy after being hobbled with a leg injury through the '46 campaign.

Backfield Coach Lee Flentroy asserted that the team would be a tighter-knit, harder-punching, speedier outfit than its predecessor.

Stubby John Christopher, wheelhorse of last year's reserve squad, might draw a starting berth at one of the halves. He is a blocker and a climax runner. The other halfback slot will be manned by rapid Robert Ensley, a spirited featherweight scooter.

Albert Dennis, 237-pound tackle, will anchor the line which already has received notice as one of the south's best, ably assisted by Alonzo Davis, 221-pound tackle, Lionel Tapo, 200-pound guard, and Willie Joseph, 250-pound center.

The fierce-fighting soldiers from Benning, famed as the passingest team in the country are reputed to have a well polished running game and are expected to give a good account of themselves.

PEARL RIVER WINS

POPLARVILLE, Miss., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Pearl River Junior College opened its 1947 grid season last night in Picayune by trouncing the U. S. Merchant Marine Cadets of Pass Christian by 40 to 0.

An alltime high of 25,200,000,000 gallons of gasoline was burned by motorists in 1946, up 4 per cent from the previous high in 1941.

BEARS GET POLISH FOR L. T. I. BATTLE

Game Uniforms Issued At Block, Invade Monroe For Opener Friday

JONESVILLE, La., Sept. 13.—(Special)—Game uniforms were issued to Twenty Block High School Bears this week as the Jonesville gridders entered the final phases of their prepping for the season's opener next Friday night in Monroe against the Louisiana Training Institute.

The Monroe tilt will mark the resumption of grid activity for the Bears for the first time in ten years.

Coach Frank Bishop, plagued with inexperienced players and the current cotton picking season which keeps some of his charges from regular practice, was pleased this week with the showing of his charges in practice sessions.

Chunky little Ted Collins, weighing only 115 pounds, appeared certain to fill the role of quarterback for the Bears in the initial encounter, and Colin Crawford, 128-pounder, is set for the fullback slot. Halfbacks will be selected from Jim Wilson, 120; Densil Humble, 114; Bobby Fairbanks, 124; J. R. King, 120, and Pete White, 110.

Tow-headed Jack McGuire, 155, is slated for the starting pivot berth, with reserve Ewelton Bordelon, 145, promised plenty of action.

Aubrey Sanson, 145, and Howard (Monk) Tarpley, 145, probably will be Bishop's choices for end spots, with S. C. Bass, 114, in reserve.

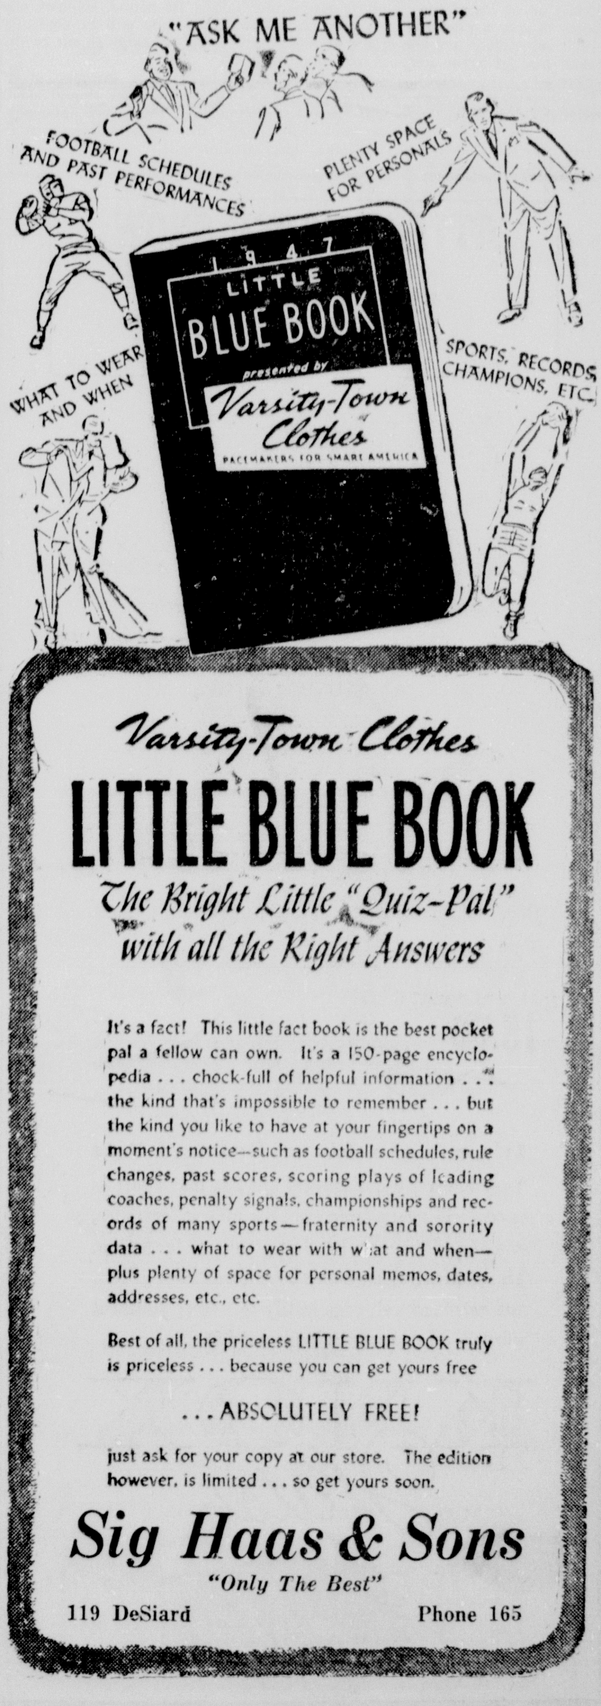

Two sets of guards are fighting it out for starting roles. They are Jack Fritz, 130; Don Pucher, 125; Burley House, 110, and Robert Freeman, 125.

Four tackles who are vieing for starting berths are Merl Sanson, 170; Richard White, 130; George Kelly, 135, and George Boyd, 139.

REFLECTED GLORY

BATON ROUGE, La.—Jim Shoaf, Louisiana State's fine freshman tackle, is in line for any misdirected orchids aimed at his namesake, who is an All-American guard candidate at the University of Iowa.

TULANE CENTERS SHOULD MEASURE WITH S. E. C. BEST

Stan Kottemann Already Rated One Of Conference's Top Pivots

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 13.—(Special)—Stanley Kottemann was a lot of "fresh-mann" last year—the type that drove devastatingly on defense and speeded swiftly downfield on offense.

In fact, Kottemann's first-year collegiate play and his power potential throw the bright light squarely on the pivot post of the Tulane University line from whence he'll likely operate against nine foes this fall.

The New Orleans prep product mingled with opposing linemen and ball carriers for nearly half of every Tulane game last year, gathering more than 250 minutes of playing time as a freshman.

With this experience behind him and added beef acquired this summer, impish-looking Stan should shine as one of the line luminaries of the conference this season. And if he plays up to expectation, it'll be hard for Wave coaches to be without his 210 pounds for long.

Kottemann got that way from two-years of service football over in Europe where his play netted him a place on a European All-Star team in 1945. As a New Orleans prepper he hadn't won any particular honors, but his service play graduated him to the college ranks and he was able to step right in last year as an "old-timer."

Kottemann rates favorably also because he's the only '46 letterman center. But lest you think he must bear the center chores alone, consider Dan Kirschenheuter, who in 1943 played himself quite a bit of football and lettered as a freshman, after stepping into the shoes vacated in mid-season by the great Buddy Gatewood.

Kirschenheuter didn't quite achieve top playing form last fall, but he's serious about making the grade this trip and should warm things up all along the line, Kirschenheuter is an ex-Warren Easton performer of New Orleans, stands six-feet, one inch and weighs 195 pounds.

Another of Coach Henry Frnka's center prospects is Bill McEver, a hard-luck player since he came to Tulane in mid season, 1945, after receiving an army air corps discharge. He managed to get in a time too often that year, for he received a wrenched knee that kept him out all last season and necessitated an operation in the spring. The surgery has been labelled a success and McEver is ready to throw his 195-pound, six-foot, three-inch frame into the football fracas. He's a Hillsboro, Texan by birth. One of his strong points is his ability to spot a play and nail it before it completely unfolds, a fact that makes him of great help as a Line backer.

In the reserve category is a trio of freshman candidates, two All-State selections in their respective backyards. Homer Dedeaux of Gulfport, Miss., six-foot, two, 190-pounds, received his honor in the Magnolia domain while Tom Reising of Evansville, Ind., copped Hoosier State selection to the all-star team. Reising divided his time as a prepper between center and guard, but for the Wave he'll employ his 185-pounds, six-foot, two inches as a middle-of-the-liner.

From Bristow, Okla., hails Al Crutchfield, a 195-pound, six-foot, one inch youngster who will be carefully schooled for pivot employment in the future.

Barring injuries or intercession of ill-fate, Tulane's centers should stack up well against their grid opponents and make the Wave middle a nigh impregnable wall.

NIP AND TUCK WINS OVER POINT, 8 TO 5

FARMERVILLE, La., Sept. 13.—(Special)—Nip and Tuck won the first game of the Little Six League's championship finals here this afternoon, defeating the Point Red Sox, 8 to 5, and the two clubs will return to Farmerville for the second game Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Nip and Tuck outhit the Sox, 13 to 11, today, but Ikie Dumas went all the way to claim the pitching victory for Nip and Tuck. Ed Simpson started on the mound for Point but was relieved in the seventh by Bayles.

P. Hinton, Point, was the top slugger with three safe blows. Dumas got in a damaging triple for Nip and Tuck.

Point's victory chances were marred by four errors. Nip and Tuck committed two miscues.

RUSTON INVADES HODGE FOR 3RD SERIES CONTEST

Resume Big Eight Title Finals Today At Advance Park At 3 P. M.

HODGE, La., Sept. 13.—(Special)—The important third game of the Big Eight League's final championship round between the Ruston Volunteers and the Hodge Red Sox is scheduled for Advance Park here Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The winner of this clash will be in the strategic position of having only to split the possible next two games to take the flag, each team having one triumph in the finals which will be decided in favor of the club first winning three games.

The Sox will lead with their ace right hander, Marvin "Slim" Coleman, who sports a record of 15 wins and only three losses for the season, including three playoff victories.

Manager Berry Hinton is expected to rely on the slants of Zerc Lewis from the mound Sunday to put the Volunteers ahead in the series.

A crowd of between 1,200 and 1,500 is anticipated for the contest here. The fourth game of the series is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon at Frazier Field in Ruston.

MOORE POLISHES BENGALS FOR HIS 'TOUGHEST' YEAR

Minor Injuries Plague L. S. U. Workouts; Rice Tilt 2 Weeks Off

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 13.—(Special)—Louisiana State's grid machine enters its third week of pregame workouts Monday, with Coach Bernie Moore and aides ready to put the finishing touches on the Tiger eleven which will take the field against powerful Rice Institute here on the night of September 27.

Undaunted by extravagant preseason prognostications concerning his team's future, Moore is calmly preparing for the toughest schedule in his entire career. He has assured his squad members and coaching staff that he expects a maximum amount of preparation for the rugged slate, but is not counting on the "superhuman" effort that would be required in order to finish undefeated.

Plagued by an epidemic of minor injuries during the past two weeks, and handicapped by inclement weather, Moore is not particularly happy with the progress of workouts to date. Fortunately, the only serious casualty thus far is Halfback Jim Cason, whose torn knee ligament might possibly sideline him for the Rice encounter.

But Right Half Dan Sandifer, Guard Wren Worley, and a whole corps of centers, including "Buck" Ballard, 'Chuck" Schroll and Ed Claunch have been running at halfspeed because of minor ailments. All should be ready to go this week, however. From all indications, it looks as if Tiger terminals for the Rice fray will be Mel Lyle, a strapping sophomore, and Abner Wimberly, a hard-hitting defensive standout. Second-line flankmen will probably be Jim McLeod and Ray Bullock, while Jeff Adams and Jim Loflin are next in line for duty.

Having lost Ed Champagne to the pros, Moore will rely on Walter "Piggy" Barnes and Veteran Fred Land at the tackle posts. Capable reserves in line for plenty of duty behind Barnes and Land are Hubert "Tank" Shurtz and Holley Heard, the latter the Tigers' extra point specialist. Joe Baird and Allen Hover, a pair of muscular freshmen, will also see service.

Holding down the guard berths, weakest spots in the Bengal forward, will be all-Conference Wren Worley and Russ Foti, capably understudied by Sophomore Charlie Cusimano, and Senior Harvey Core. Veteran Bill McClelland and Frosh Jerry Reynolds make up the third brace of sidecenters.

"Buck" Ballard, dependable junior from Bogalusa, will hold down the starting center job, with Ed Claunch and "Chuck" Schroll behind him in that order.

Coach Moore will field a veteran quartet of backs, featuring all-Conference Y. A. Tittle under the "T", Ray Coates and Dan Sandifer at the halves, and Harrell "Rip" Collins at fullback. The second backfield will have Charlie Pevey in the quarterback slot, Dale Gray and Al Heroman at the halves, and bulldozing Zollie Toth at fullback, while Fred Brechtel, Carroll Griffith, Joe LeSage and Bill Schroll will make up the third foursome.

'SECRET' WORKOUT HELD BY KENTUCKY WILDCATS

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Coach Paul Bryant sent his Kentucky football squad through a "top secret" scrimmage today and word leaked out that Don (Dopey) Phelps made up for what otherwise was a listless exhibition.

Phelps paced the team that was supposed to win easily to a 13-0 victory in a scrimmage that was played along regulation lines. The underdog "foe" marched once to the Big Blue's seven-yard line and threatened on other occasions.

Kentucky has just four more days of practice before they depart Friday for their season-opener against Mississippi at Oxford and Bryant indicated his two-practices-a-day schedule would continue at least two of those days.

KRAMER, PARKER REACH NATIONAL AMATEUR FINALS

Los Angeles Tennis Aces Eliminate Czech And Australian Stars

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Jack Kramer and Frankie Parker, two Los Angeles boys, practically ruined a couple of foreigners today in winning their way through to the finals of the National Amateur tennis championships at Forest Hills.

Parker wore John Bromwich of Australia down to a footsore, exhausted object of 13,000 fans' sympathy before he finally closed him out by the Marathon scores of 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-8, 8-6, in a three-hour and 25-minute struggle.

Kramer lost an opening set to Jaroslav Drobny, the left-handed Czech, and then he got mad and rended Jaroslav limb from limb. The score was 3-6, 6-3, 6-0, 6-1.

Drobney was leading 3-2 in the second set when the roof caved in. Seventeen more games were played, and Jaroslav won exactly one of them. He tried to serve nine times, and eight times Kramer smashed him down.

The contrast between the two matches was complete. Parker and Bromwich, both baseline specialists, played almost interminably under a blazing sun which sapped their strength until, toward the end, they looked like a pair of tottering old-timers.

Kramer and Drobny, coming on later, looked like a brace of quarter-horses by comparison. They went for winners on every point.

Kramer's incomparable form through the final 17 games made it certain he will be a top-heavy favorite to defeat Parker for his second straight title tomorrow.

While the decks were clear for tomorrow's men's final, the ladies had not yet decided upon their duelist. Margaret Osborne of San Francisco, the favorite, qualified for the play-off by beating Doris Hart of Miami, 7-5, 7-5, but the other semi-final between Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Nancey Wynne Bolton of Australia was interrupted by darkness.

Opium comes from the milky gum of the opium poppy but only its juice has a narcotic effect.

YANKEES DEFEAT BENGALS; WITHIN 2 GAMES OF FLAG

New York Beats Detroit, 5-2, In Drive To Pennant; Bosox Win

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Bobo Newsom gained his 11th victory of the season today, George McQuinn exploded his 13th home run and Billy Johnson batted in his 90th and 91st runs, but it was for Relief Pitcher Joe Page that the 24,407 fans at the Yankee Stadium stood up and cheered as the New York Yankees defeated the Detroit Tigers 5-2.

The great lefthander, working in his 52nd game, struck out six batters in the last two innings—he only pitched two frames—to insure Newsom's victory.

The Yankee victory reduced to two the number of victories the Yankees now need to clinch the American League flag. Two Boston defeats also would do the trick.

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Dom DiMaggio's eighth inning homer off Relief Pitcher Allen Gettel today gave the Red Sox a 3-2 victory over Cleveland as a 15,908 crowd paid tribute to war crippled Si Rosenthal, former Boston American League outfielder.

The sockers gained their first two runs against Starter Bob Feller in the sixth when Sam Mele singled with the bases loaded.

Lefty Earl Johnson went the distance for the Bosox and held the Indians scoreless until the eighth.

MOBILE FIELDER PLANS TO PLAY AT CENTENARY

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Homer Matney, fleet centerfielder for the pennant-winning Mobile Bears, is planning to make a quick switch-over from baseball to football togs when the Bear playoffs are over.

A former grid star at Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers College, the 25-year-old Matney said he planned to try for a halfback berth on this fall's Centenary College eleven at Shreveport.

Matney said his professional standing won't prevent him from playing college football.

He has two years of college work before he can obtain his degree in physical education.

A fleet 185-pounder, Matney played with his home town high school eleven in Vernon, Texas, before going to college in Oklahoma.

CHEERLEADERS CHOSEN AT BLOCK HIGH SCHOOL

JONESVILLE, La., Sept. 13.—(Special)—Three girls and two boys have been selected as cheerleaders for Block High School's Bears at their grid games this year, following a campus election this week.

The feminine yell-coaxers include Delores Collins, Lucille Wilkinson, and Johnnie Ruth Wilson. Handling the masculine end will be Eldridge Cloesaner and Charles King.

Other candidates included Minnie Swayze, Joyce Weir, Dorothy LaPrarie, Beverly Beard, Mary Bert Godwin, Iris McClure, Mary Bell Davis, Shirley Brewer, Anne Trunzler, Sally Burley, Juanita Evans, Bobby Sue Welch, Lolly Caskey, Mignonne Yancey, Mel Wanda Gambell, Mary Bradford, Dick Moore, Harvey McClure, Lester White and Jimmy Parks.

3 ALEXANDRIA PLAYERS GOING TO SHREVEPORT

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Two Alexandria Evangeline League players have been recalled by the Shreveport Sports of the Texas League and a third has been purchased by them.

Fred Baczewski and Hugh Sooter, hurlers, were recalled and A. B. Cross, all-star third baseman, was purchased.

Baczewski was one of the more effective hurlers in the loop this year.

Seven Of Ten Class AA Schools Score Victories Friday Night

(By Associated Press)

Seven of the ten AA Louisiana high school football teams which opened the 1947 season Friday met with success, with several giving promise of being title contenders as the season wears on.

Only one game pitted AA teams against one another. That was the Istrouma High-Lake Charles game at Baton Rouge, which Istrouma won 26-20.

Istrouma took a 13 to 0 lead, fell behind when Lake Charles scored three in a row in the second period and then tied the count in the third period.

Then Istrouma clinched the contest with a 41 yard march which ended when Jim Roshte smashed over from the four.

At New Orleans, Holy Cross capitalized on a fourth period fumble to win 13-6 over Memphis Tech. In the first period Hank Lauricella passed nine yards to Cliff Breaux for a tally and Jimmy Dunn added a point with a line plunge. Memphis' lone tally came in the fourth on an intercepted pass with which Douglas Parrish raced 50 yards.

Baton Rouge defeated an inexperienced McComb, Miss., team 6-0 when J. C. Rhed hurled a short pass to Jerry Fox who raced 25 yards to score. McComb, Mississippi Big Eight champions last year, had lost most of its experienced men through graduation.

Bolton High Bears of Alexandria barely nosed out the Winnsboro Wildcats, 13-12. Lane scored a touchdown for Bolton in the first only to see Wiggins tie the count with a Winnsboro tally in the third. But Lane came through again and converted to win despite a second Wiggings score in the final period.

The Ouachita Parish High of Monroe had little difficulty with the Homer Pelicans and won 20 to 0. Eddie Moss, Ernest King and Mark Boatright each scored touchdowns for the Monroe team, with Boatright kicking two extra points.

Bogalusa High edged out Neville High of Monroe, 13-12, despite the stellar offensive work of Buck McElroy who made both Monroe tallies, one of them on a 69-yard run. The point which won the game was that scored on conversion when L. Wilson passed to T. Tenton after Bogalusa's first touchdown.

Jennings High had little trouble with LaGrange, winning 34 to 6. Jennings scores were made by Kenneth Istre left end, on a pass from D'Armand Navarre; Istre on a pass from Carol Bujol; Bill Lambert, who tallied twice on 12 yard smashes; and Don Haddock. Bujol kicked four extra points and missed one. Kenneth Sweeney took a pass from Bob Fenner on the 15 to score for LaGrange.

Not so fortunate were Fair Park of Shreveport, and Byrd of Shreveport.

Fair Park lost to Marshall, Tex., 16 to 6, with Marshall scoring two touchdowns, two conversions and a safety. Glen Dinkle, a 157-pound bulldozer was just too much for the Fair Park lads.

Byrd High found the big bruising linemen of the Corpus Christi Buccaneers too much for them and lost 26 to 6. The Byrd score came in the fourth period on a six yard pass, Harry Brewster to Ray Studstill after a drive from the Byrd 46.

N. W. MISSISSIPPI WILL HAVE VETERAN ELEVEN FOR REDSKIN CONTEST

SENATOBIA, Miss., Sept. 13.—(Special)—Coach Frank Davis today said he planned to take a squad of 30 Northwest Mississippi Junior College gridders to Monroe, La., Thursday for the season opener with N. J. C. of L. S. U.

The squad will include 19 lettermen, ten of them regulars from last year, who will be led by Billy Owens, 218-pound left halfback who helped beat N. J. C. last year when he was performing with the University of Mississippi "B" team.

Coach Davis will present a starting eleven averaging 196 pounds with his lightest starter a mere 185-pounder, and his heaviest weighing in at 225.

Monroe Faces Baseball Deadline, Must Have 'Definite' Plan Sunday

Seek To Obtain Casino Park As Forsythe Park Plan Fails

Monroe's baseball hopes, faced with the deadline of having to be able to tell Cotton States League bosses next Sunday whether or not the Twin Cities will be able to organize a club next spring, were looking pretty glum the past week although baseball-minded businessmen are continuing their struggle to bring professional baseball back to Monroe.

The Cotton States League will meet next Sunday at Hot Springs, Ark., for the purpose of accepting two new members into the circuit that operate with six clubs this year. League President Jim Griffith, El Dorado, has already informed the Monroe interests that he must have a definite answer at the Hot Springs meeting.

Three other clubs, Winnsboro in Louisiana and Pine Bluff and Jonesboro in Arkansas, are known to be seeking admission in the circuit.

Monroe's baseball future hit a snag in the failure to subscribe the estimated $75,000 figure necessary to build a new baseball plant at a plot donated on Forsyth avenue.

In addition, pressure has been applied against the use of the Forsythe site by property owners in that vicinity, and for the information of the baseball fans it is only fair to tell them that the Forsythe avenue plan has been abandoned.

Right now the businessmen most interested in returning professional ball to the Twin Cities are trying to obtain their old stand at Casino Park.

They figure that in order to put Casino Park into shape for the kind of ball expected in the Cotton States that only about $50,000 will be necessary, but so far pledges for baseball under the Forsythe proposal total little better than $25,000, and pledges have practically ceased to come in

Whether or not there will be a favorable reaction on the Casino Park approach must be determined in the next few days if Monroe is going to be able to show something concrete at the next Sunday meeting.

It was understood last night that if the deal for Casino Park goes through that the baseball movement will go ahead. Otherwise, the baseball program here will be in the same shape it was a year ago—no site for a park.

It is to the credit of S. K. Heninger and Clifford Strauss that they donated the Forsythe tract and also pledged funds for the building of a park, but sufficient pledges have not been subscribed from the "baseball public."

A Monroe delegation will be at the Hot Springs meeting, however, and the baseball drive here will be continued.

Saul Adler, himself a former president of the Monroe club, has been one of the driving forces in the work so far, said last night, "We'll continue our work and declared that there would be "no giving up" as long as there was still a chance that Casino Park could be obtained.

MILLIGAN, SOUTHEASTERN SCRAP TO 6-6 TIE IN RAIN

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Milligan College and Southeastern Louisiana College battled to a 6 to 6 deadlock in a pouring rain before 7,000 football fans tonight.

The highly favored Lions of Southeastern roared back in the third period to tie the score at six-all after Milligan had scored a touchdown early in the second period.

Throughout the last half Milligan's Lynn Goddard, punt specialist, kept the Lions at bay with his long boots deep into Southeastern territory.

Milligan jumped into the lead when John Manning raced around his left end for 14 yards and a touchdown. The try for point failed.

The Lions came out after the half and scored quickly on a 35-yard pass play from Gill to Dennis. The try for point was blocked.

The slippery ball caused the game to be marred by 18 fumbles, ten by Southeastern. Fumbles cost the Louisiana lads at least two touchdowns when they lost the ball to the Buffaloes inside the 15-yard line.

The two teams met here last year in a Thanksgiving day Burley Bowl game, which the Lions won 21-13.

GOLFDOM GREETS BOB RIEGEL NEW NATIONAL CHAMP

New Titlist Beats Fellow Californian In Amateur Finals, 2 And 1

By Russ Newland

PEBBL EBEACH, Calif., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Fog-bound Pebble Beach links heralded a new National Amateur golf champion today when Robert "Skee" Riegel defeated fellow Californian Johnny Dawson 2 and 1 in the 36-hole finals.

The man from Monterey Park, playing every shot with calculated deliberation, proved too tough for Dawson, 44 year old star from Hollywood.

In part the 47th annual U. S. Championship tournament was a case of age taking its toll. Riegel, 32 years old and loaded with the endurance necessary to hold up under terrific strain, staved off every challenge.

When Dawson, 2 down at the 18th, turned on the steam to post a one-under par 35 for the third time, Riegel merely retaliated with a two under 34.

The winner was 3 up at the 27th, lost two holes on the last nine and won the crucial 33rd to go 2 up once more. He made it dormie with a par four half on the 34th and coasted out on the 35th with a one over par four.

Dawson, on his last chance, hit his drive on the 218 yard layout, pointing toward the ocean, into a trap. He came out weakly and laid the next one up close. Riegel knocked his second up from the rough to 12 feet from the pin, and played the next one safe for a four. Dawson conceded the match.

In the gallery of several thousand spectators, and unrecognized by most, was Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, who addressed the California State Bar convention at nearby Santa Cruz yesterday.

He saw a dramatic struggle in which Dawson, gallery favorite, made his strongest of three bids for the U. S. links crown. Defeat was doubly disappointing for Dawson who was discouraged from entering the 1929 national championship here in 1929. At that time he was employed by a sporting goods firm and the U. S. G. A. fathers viewed his amateur status with some question.

Riegel, formerly of upper Darby, Pa., earned his victory. He set the U. S. G. A. qualifying record of 136 for 36 holes last year but was eliminated in the second round. This time he left no doubts as to his title qualifications.

He played the 35 holes in three over par against Dawson's six over and for the entire tournament was only three over standard figures for 170 holes.

Dawson ended up 16 over for the week long event.

Riegel had a 38-37—75 for the morning round; Dawson a 38-39—77. They were even at the ninth with Riegel 2 up at the midway mark and 3 up at the 27th.

It was the first important victory for Riegel, a former football player at West Point, in nine years of tournament competition.

M'WILLIAMS STANDOUT IN MAROON SCRIMMAGE

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Shorty Williams ran for one touchdown and passed for another to lead the Red squad to a 20-7 victory over the Whites as the Mississippi State Maroons closed the second week of practice.

In addition to putting on a fine running exhibition, Shorty completed 11 out of 13 passes for the Reds. All afternoon his passes were hitting their target with uncanny accuracy. Sonny Jones, who alternated with both teams, and Johnny Grace were on the receiving end of most of the tosses.

Shorty scored the first touchdown early in the afternoon when he smashed over from the one yard line after the Red team had marched down the field from their twenty without losing possession of the ball. Two running plays and passes to Grace and Murray Alexander advanced the ball to scoring position, Leo Seal added the extra point with a perfect placement.

Jesse Hughes, 196-pound senior guard, and Captain W. D. (Dub) Garrett, 225, stood out in the line for the White team. Outstanding in the line for the winning Red team were Murray Alexander, sophomore end; Center Pete Ray, and Guards Martin (Salty) Johnson and Bob Patterson. In the backfield for the winners, McWilliams, Bailey and Quarterback Truitt Smith looked exceptionally well.

Harper Davis, wingback and Jimmy Stuart, quarterback, were held out of the scrimmage due to injuries.

OUACHITA TACKLES BOSSIER CITY NEXT

The Ouachita Parish High School Lions, with two victories in as many games already under their belts, will be out of town again this week when they go to Shreveport Thursday night for a scrap with the Bossier City High School Bearkats. The Lions will next play at home on September 25 when they meet Ruston here.

Coach Jim Hodgins last night said the Lions met a rough foe in disposing of Homer Friday night, 20 to 0, and declared his boys earned everything they got.

"Homer had a battling ball club from the start, but our offense finally caught up with them, and our inexperienced line came through above expectations in being able to go the full distance with few substitutions."

A preliminary check yesterday showed the Lions came out of the fray considerably bruised up, hardly a player escaping marks of action, but apparently none suffered crippling wounds.

Neville Tigers In Home Grid Opener With Minden Wave Here Friday Night

Coach Ruple Announces Addition Of Ferriday To Bengal Slate

The Neville High School Tigers, who displayed surprising form in holding Bogalusa's Class AA eleven to a 13-12 victory at Bogalusa Friday night, will open their home schedule next Friday night when they meet Minden's Wave at Neville Stadium at 8 o'clock.

Coach Bill Ruple, expressing pleasure at the performance of his boys at Bogalusa, also announced last night the addition of the Ferriday High School Bulldogs to the Bengal schedule for a game to be played in Monroe on November 7.

The addition of Ferriday gives the Tigers four home games and a ten-game slate for the season.

The Minden game will be the last at home until October 31 when the Winnfield Tigers invade Neville Stadium. The Tigers also have a home game billed with Bastrop in the final game of the schedule.

"I was mighty well pleased with the play at Bogalusa," Coach Ruple said on his return to Monroe yesterday. "Our down field blocking was fine, and the boys showed plenty of hustle. Our tackling looked a little weak, not hitting low enough nor hard enough, but Bogalusa's Burr and Billings were hard to stop with any kind of tackling.

"Our offense needs more work and polish. It looked for a while like we had no pass defense, but we'll spend more time ironing out this phase of work this week. We had no 'stars' at Bogalusa unless it was the whole team. We had no chance to use many substitutes and as a result most of the starters played the entire game."

Minden, it is understood here, has back the same team, with two exceptions, that held Neville to a 6-0 victory last year at the opening of the season. Minden, however, improved through the season, holding Bossier City, north Louisiana Class A champions, to a 14-13 victory, in a season closing game and should be ready to give Neville a rough tussle Friday.

The sale of season tickets for Neville's four home games will begin tomorrow, it was announced, and indications are that the Tigers, with a team that shows possibilities of being better than expected, will be drawing bigger crowds to their contests this fall.

CINDERELLAS TO MEET HODGE NEGROES TODAY

The Cinderella Sports, who evened their series with the Port Gibson, Miss., Adds at a game each here Friday night, will play the Hodge Black Wa Ha's here this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Casino Park.

Manager Hardy Goins, of the Sports, last night expressed confidence his club would triumph today as the Cinderellas make their bid for the Little Dixie Tri-State playoffs in Negro semi-pro ball.

RODIRIQUEZ, CRAIG IN 'GRUDGE' BOUT ON MAT TUESDAY

Parker And Belkas Scheduled To Meet In Semi-Final At Kallio's

George Craig, Louisiana state light heavyweight wrestling champion, and Carlos Rodriquez, Mexican rowdy, will clash in the main event at Gus Kallio's Arena here Tuesday night to settle a feud that has developed in recent tag team matches here. Craig's title will not be at stake.

The match shapes up as a "grudge" affair in which some back alley brawling is likely to hold the spotlight since both battlers are promising to "let the bars down" for this scrap, Promoter Kallio declared last night.

"After the tag match last week Craig challenged Rodriquez for a match in which there would only be the two in action," Kallio reported. "Craig declared, 'We'll find out just who is the wild bull around here.'"

Rodriquez, before accepting the challenge, did his best to get Craig to lay the title on the line as well, but Craig declined to risk his belt by declaring the Mexican didn't know how to wrestle by the rules.

"Let's just leave the belt in the box this trip," Craig requested, "and I'll give him a match Oklahoma style."

The Tulsa, Okla., grappler didn't venture to explain what he meant by "Oklahoma style," but Rodriquez declared that was all right with him for he figured nothing could beat "Mexico style."

"I think I have a style of my own that will keep Mr. Craig in trouble most of the time," Rodriquez boasted. "Craig will find he made a big mistake trying to bring his back-yard tactics into the ring with me. I think he would do better to stay with his regular catch-as-catch-can methods."

Craig and Rodriquez will battle over a 90-minute time limit route with two falls to win.

Chris Belkas, Toledo, Ohio, and Allen "Sailor" Parker, Nashville, Tenn., both former holders of the Louisiana light-heavy belt, are lined up for the semi-final event. Parker is something of a rowdy, but is capable of wrestling "clean" if his opponent does the same. Belkas has always been a straight wrestler here, so an interesting scientific match is in prospect.

Parker and Belkas, clashing in the opening event at 8:30 o'clock, will have an hour time limit on their match with two falls to win.

NBC ANNOUNCES NEW POLICY ON CRIME, MYSTERY STORIES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 13.—(AP)—The National Broadcasting Company announced today it would not broadcast detective, crime or mystery programs before 9:30 p. m. (New York Time) beginning Jan. 1, 1948.

The network said 160 of its 167 affiliates approved a recommendation banning the programs in the daytime and early evening at a closed session of NBC's first annual convention. The seven affiliates not voting were absent from the meeting.

The action was taken, NBC said, "in order to further reduce the exposure of juvenile and adolescent minds to crime suggestions."

An NBC spokesman in New York said however that the action would not involve the banning of any current programs but was intended merely to formulate a code for the future.

NBC, he said, broadcasts only three crime-mystery programs and these, "Molle Mystery," "The Big Story," and "Mr. District Attorney," are aired after the 9:30 p. m. deadline.

The spokesman said NBC officials were "confident" network stations in earlier time zones would transcribe the programs for later broadcasting.

The recommendation said dramatization of crime, mystery and detective stories "requires particularly mature and discriminating judgment in radio presentation."

"* * * * The vivid, living portrayal of such dramas on the air has an impact on the juvenile, adolescent or impressionable mentality that cannot be underestimated," the recommendation said.

Crime and mystery stories broadcast from New York after 9:30 p. m. will not be broadcast by N. B. C. affiliates in the Mountain and Pacific Coast time zones before 9 p. m. local time.

"Individual delayeds will be permitted on stations in these zones whenever the client does not decide to do a live repeat broadcast," the recommendation added.

For guidance of NBC producers and sponsors of such programs, the recommendation reiterated the network's policies. These included:

"No program will be broadcast which glorifies or justifies crime;

"Revenge shall never be justified as a motive. Suicide will not be detailed in method or presented as a satisfactory or justifiable solution to any human problem;

"Law, justice and the officers of the law should be portrayed without disparagement or ridicule, but with respect.

"Crime must always be punished, * * * Crime is not a subject for comedy."

The affiliates also approved a resolution calling for adoption by the National Association of Broadcasters at its convention here next week of an "improved code of broadcasting practices."

NBC said it would make "institutional announcements" during football broadcasts this fall to show the advantages of privately operated radio over government-controlled broadcasts.

STATE LABOR LAWS VALUE IS DOUBTED

DURHAM, N. H., Sept. 13.—(AP)—John W. Gibson, assistant secretary of labor, expressed serious doubt tonight that state laws regulating labor "will contribute greatly to industrial peace."

"And, if employers try to take undue advantage of them," he said in a talk prepared for a conference of New Hampshire industrial supervisors, "they will, no doubt create industrial unrest."

Gibson noted that under state statutes in the utility field, "the entire trend is toward compulsory arbitration" of disputes.

"I feel," he said, "that compulsory arbitration as a medium for settling labor disputes will be disastrous to the Democratic principles of our nation and in the end, will be disastrous for industry."

"Let us make no mistake about it," he added, "compulsory arbitration is the exact opposite to free collective bargaining. To adopt a system of compulsory arbitration by any name is to destroy collective bargaining. We must all help and improve collective bargaining to make it work more efficiently and to keep government interference at an absolute minimum."

Gibson said that a number of states recently have enacted anti-closed shop laws, restricted strike activities, prohibited secondary boycotts and jurisdictional strikes, and banned picketing.

"It is obvious that most of these laws," he commented, "are designed to place curbs upon labor unions."

BUS LINES TO BEGIN SERVICE INTO TEXAS

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Southern Bus Co. Inc., whose drivers have been on strike 115 days, announced tonight it will resume operations into Texas next week.

Already the company, which has been training new drivers to replace those who struck, has resumed operations in Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, and Tennessee.

The company also operates into a few points in Kentucky, Arkansas, Illinois and Missouri; and R. K. Jefferies, executive vice-president, said tonight it is anticipated that runs into those states will be resumed soon.

Meanwhile strikers at Shreveport were planning a mass meeting at which H. V. Taylor, division secretary of the Amalgamated Association of Street Car, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America (A. F. L.) said the strikers' side of the strike story will be to'd.

Jefferies said reports from over the line today showed there had been no violence encountered by any of the newly employed drivers today. A number of them have reported to police recently that they had been threatened and some assaulted recently.

COP BARKS LIKE DOG; NABS CROOK

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Detective William Hull barked and scratched like a dog at a front door today—all in the line of duty.

When Vito Pascarella, 60, came to the door of his third-floor apartment at 468 North 13th street to "shoo" away the "dog," he was surprised to find Detective Hull and five other members of the police force waiting outside.

Detective Lt. Henry Morgenroth, in charge of the raiding squad, took Pascarella and two other persons to police headquarters where they were booked on lottery charges. Lt. Morgenroth said the police confiscated $3,300 and 5,000 in lottery tickets.

Lt. Morgenroth said that the "barking" ruse was tried because the polce wanted an element of surprise in gaining entrance. Usually, said Morgenroth, gambling establishments do not open doors for strangers, especially police raiding parties, before hiding evidential matter.

Detective Hull is accepting the plaudits of his fellow policemen today for his histrionics.

EDUCATIONAL AID TO EUROPE URGED

UNESCO Wants Project Supplies Admitted Duty Free; Include Former Foes

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The United States commission for UNESCO today adopted a report of one of its sections recommending the by-passing of some "nonessential" UNESCO projects because of "more important things to be done."

At the same time, it approved the report of another section urging UNESCO to secure agreement by nations receiving educational rehabilitation supplies "to assure their entrance free of duty" and advocated that the United States government consider including former enemy countries within the educational rehabilitation program.

The recommendations, which were forwarded to the American delegation of the Mexico City conference of UNESCO, convening in November, were described by a commission spokesman as "not necessarily binding" on the 10-member delegation. However, the spokesman said, such recommendations have been followed "almost verbatim in the past."

As the three-day conference closed, a plenary session adopted the recommendation of the commission's section on "Man and the Modern World" which disapproved such UNESCO projects as proposals regarding conservation of wild life and town and country planning "because they do not appear to be appropriate as a contribution toward peace and security."

The commission declined to approve "nonessential programs because they lack merit," but because the commission members said they believed there were "more important things to be done."

The section on "raising standards of education" recommended that "highest priority" be assigned to programs of educational reconstruction.

The commission said it wished to "emphasize the intention of UNESCO to devote its efforts as directly and as exclusively as possible to contributing to peace and security."

Also adopted was the recommendation of the "free flow of ideas" section that industrial workers be included within exchange programs with other nations and that the UNESCO literary pool of books be extended "as widely as possible."

Upon the recommendation of the section on "education for international understanding" the commission stated it "attaches great importance to the (UNESCO) project for analysis of textbooks" with view to eliminating books "inimical to peace."

The plenary session also recommended, upon adoption of the report of the "budget and finance" section, " a substantial increase" in the 1948 UNESCO budget "provided the funds are used to finance a sound program."

The UNESCO director general, Julian Huxley, already has proposed an approximate $1,000,000 increase over this year's $6,950,000 budget.

CEREMONIES HONOR MEXICAN WAR DEAD

MEXICO, CITY, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Mexico marked the newly strengthened friendship among the American republics today as part of her 100th anniversary ceremonies to honor heroes of the 1846-47 war with the United States.

Five West Point cadets and those of eleven other republics joined in the honor to the six Mexican cadets ("ninos heroes") who died a century ago in Chapultepec Castle in a last stand against the invading forces of U. S. Gen. Winfield Scott.

One cadet, Juan Escutia, rather than surrender, wrapped the Mexican flag about him and plunged to death from the castle parapet.

U. S. Ambassador Walter Thurston, who took President Harry S. Truman to lay a wreath at the monument to the Chapultepec cadets last March attended the ceremony today at the castle and another in the chamber of deputies where a gold inscription to the young heroes was unveiled.

England, Wales and Scotland were united as one kingdom in 1707.

TRUCK DRIVER HURT IN 'FREAK ACCIDENT'

RAYVILLE, Sept. 13.—(Special)—In a freak accident Haywood C. McCormick, 38, of Leesville, received injuries when his truck overturned between Rayville and Delhi, sometime yesterday morning.

McCormick, a farmer driving from Rayville to his mother's home in Dunn, was picked up by a state ambulance returning here.

The attending physician stated that McCormick was not injured seriously and would be released from the Conway Memorial Hospital in a few days.

LEWIS

on the executive council who wanted to sign, held out all week against complying. Singlehandedly he forced the council to announce last night it was "unable to conform to Denham's ruling."

It had to be unanimous since Denham said a single officer's refusal could deprive all 7,500,000 A. F. L. members of recourse to the board. The same goes for the 6,800,000 C. I. O. members if a C. I. O. officer refuses to sign. The C. I. O. vice-presidents put off their decision until the Boston convention beginning October 13.

The A. F. L. convention in San Francisco beginning October 6 also will take up the question now, with Lewis prepared to fight it out on the floor if necessary. In order to break the deadlock, Lewis could pull out of the A. F. L., or the convention could throw the United Mine Workers' 600,000 members out of the federation. Both courses seemed highly improbable at this time.

Denham gave no sign of yielding on his ruling in Washington, although he expressed regret that the A. F. L. officers had been unable to comply. He said he interpreted the act literally and it was up to congress or the courts to change it.

Lewis told reporters:

"I do not suggest that Denham's ruling is wrong. As a matter of fact it may be expressly and precisely in accord with the iniquitous Taft-Hartley statute.

Denham's ruling and the statute grants an option to organizations of labor to file affidavits of acquiescence or to withhold such filing.

"I choose to exercise the option negatively. What does Mr. Denham propose to do about it?"

A. F. L. President William Green, on the other hand, said the ruling was "not justifiable and not in conformity with the act."

Although the A. F. L. has no immediate plans to test the requirement, Green said, he added that he "assumed" that it would be put to the legal test eventually.

it," Atlas added.

Prosecutor McNally quoted her as saying:

"I gave all I got to him. I'm dearly in love with him and he didn't know anything about my taking the money. Bill has been coming to me since February for money. He was desperate. He said he had some kind of debts. All I know is he needed the money for some reason."

McNally said Mrs. Jacobs expressed an opinion that her husband may have been a blackmail victim.

The prosecutor said fingerprints showed that her husband was named in 1932 in a $10,300 embezzlement charge by the same express company. The case was dismissed in its early stages.

Opposing Mrs. Jacobs' release at a habeas corpus hearing before recorder's Judge John J. Maher, McNally told the court:

"I am afraid of what she will do to herself. She told me she did not care to be released on bail. She kept saying 'I can't face my mother'.

The $190-a-month clerk and stenographer, a trusted employe of the express for 29 years, identified herself upon arrest as Lillian Myers, her maiden name which she used at work.

McNally said she originally told of giving the money to a "boy friend" to set him up in business so they could be married.

Company officials told police that $5,670 in checks from their New York office had been cashed in Detroit and that $101,440 in false claims for lost checks had been honored by Mrs. Jacobs.

GERMAN

England was brought up by the former Commander-in-Chief of the German navy, Grand Adm. Erich Raeder, now under life sentence as a war criminal. Hitler, jubilant over his victory in France, paid little attention at first. He thought air attacks and possible naval blockade would bring Britain to her knees.

In the last days of June, 1940, Raeder's suggestion for invasion was taken up by the German supreme command. Hitler agreed a landing in England would be possible, provided air superiority could be attained and certain other conditions fulfilled.

There followed conference after conference, with uncertainty leading the way in numerous inter-service arguments. As early as July 11, Raeder himself, aware of British sea power, saw the difficulties of executing "Sea Lion."

Raeder saw the air attacks on Britain at that time as "only pin pricks" and said an early, concentrated attack was necessary to make an impression on the British people.

The Fuehrer viewed invasion as "a last resort." Yet he ordered preparations to continue for an invasion any time after Aug. 15. On July 16, Hitler issued his directive for the invasion, since "England, in spite of the hopelessness of her military position, has so far shown herself unwilling to come to any compromise."

Dissension broke out between the army, navy and air force leaders as to their allotted tasks. Raeder, on July 19, in a memorandum to the supreme command, said the navy's part was "out of all proportion to the navy's strength and bears no relations to the tasks that are set to the army and air force."

Raeder said the transport routes "lie in a sea (the Channel) area in which weather, fog, currents, tides and the state of the sea present the greatest difficulties."

Demands on the army brough a series of "acrimonious disputes with the navy on the question of landing on a broad or narrow front."

On July 31 Raeder conferred with Hitler and announced that the earliest date for the operation was Sept. 15, a month later than first planned. Then the date was fixed for Sept. 20-21.

German Intelligence continued to give forbidding reports fo anti-invasion preparations in England. It overestimated the size of the British army, and this worried the German high command.

It was about this time, the report continues, that Hitler began to show his interest in the possibility of attacking Russia, and while ordering preparations for "Sea Lion," he ordered reinforcement of the eastern front. He began to doubt whether "Sea Lion" was worthwhile.

On Sept. 6 a heavy air raid was made on London, and an entry in the war diary said the high command intended to bring about the complete destruction of London's docks, industries and supplies by means of continuous air attacks "and so hasten the decision."

But the next day, when 300 German aircraft raided London, the report says "violent actions with the R. A. F. ensued and revealed the renewed strength of British fighter defense."

Hitler postponed his decision on the invasion until Sept. 14. When he called his commanders together Raeder began the meeting:

"The present air situation does not provide conditions for carrying out the operation, as the risk is too great. If the 'Sea Lion' operation fails, this will mean great gain in prestige for the British; the powerful effect of our attacks will thus be annulled."

Three days later the German war diary stated:

"The enemy air force is still by no means defeated; on the contrary, it shows increasing activity. The weather situation as a whole does not permit us to expect a period of calm * * *. The Fuehrer thereby decides to postpone "Sea Lion" indefinitely."

A supreme command document, labeled "top secret," said Oct. 12:

"The Fuehrer has decided that from now on until the spring, preparations for 'Sea Lion' shall be continued solely for the purpose of maintaining political and military pressure on England."

By the spring of 1941, the report on the intended invasion concludes, Hitler and his staff were "deeply involved" in the preparations for invading Russia, and operation "Sea Lion" was shelved.

to assure the public that as soon as possible the new $400,000 science building, so badly needed, will be erected. The contract will be let in a few weeks time, and while it will not be completed for the next 19 months it will be ready to open in the fall of 1948 and will fill a well defined want.

The innumerable friends of Clarence E. Faulk, Sr., in Monroe and throughout north Louisiana, received cheering information Saturday from New York where he has gone to have a serious operation performed on his eye. His skilled surgeon, who operated early in the week, announced that the operation was a complete success and he will soon have his sight restored after weeks of almost complete blindness. At an early date he will be able to return home, it is stated.

Overcrowded schools in the Twin Cities, is a situation such as other places are dealing with. America's great war-time boom in births may be responsible. Babies born during 1941-1942 are jamming first grades throughout the country. This is only the first year of increased school attendance. The upswing in births was carried over into the post-war years. In 1946, the record for the nation was 3,260,000 births. A national official predicts we will need about one million new teachers in the next decade and about 350,000 new classdooms in the United States.

Over in Mississippi, one candidate for office completed a series of back-breaking jobs and expended a total of $97.20 is running for constable in Popularville, that state. This man, Nel Barnett by name, lost the race, but he declares he has a good clean feeling toward everyone just the same.

He reports he drove 1,947 miles at a cost of $36; bought two boxes of cigars at $6; cold drinks, $8; three dozen baby rattlers, $3.60; four dozen bobby pins, $4.60; lipstick and powder $9; snuff, $30. During his tour he split wood——eight cords of it—hoed 10 gardens, helped rake lawns and did two dozen washings.

Miss Mary Louise Marine just recently returned from a month's vacation in Los Angeles, California and Casa Grande, Arizona. While on the coast she studied dancing from one of the foremost instructors in Hollywood. Mrs. Perry Marine flew to Los Angeles where she joined her daughter for a short visit. Some of the outstanding treats of the trip were a trip to Santa Catalina, several days stay at Hermosa Beach, and a world premiere with a great number of celebrities in attendance. After visiting the coast, they returned to Arizona where they visited Mrs. Marine's relatives, including Mrs. Walter B. Davis, formerly of Wilmot, Arkansas. Enroute to Monroe, Carlsbad Caverns were a wondorous sight to both.

Japanese imports of food and raw materials have cost the American taxpayer an estimated $300,000,000 annually since the war. None of these expenditures is for luxuries, and there has been surprisingly little waste under the surveillance of occupation authorities. The Japanese are seeking a $60,000,000 U. S. loan to underwrite cotton imports and also hope to get $500,000,000 in loans on $137,000,000 worth of precious stones and metals now held in escrow to meet reparations.

The Japanese life of austerity apparently is genuine. The rich can afford black market luxuries, but mostly these come from domestic sources and consist of a good meal or a bottle of prewar whisky.

Japanese generally, however, are living on a standard which is low even for them and is much lower than occidentals might tolerate.

The movie question, which has caused so much talk in Britain, was answered in Japan with local "quickie" productions plus some American films for which distributors pay in yen, not dollars. Baseball games, stage shows and a few night clubs also cater to the entertainment urge.

Prior to the interview, Katayama held a formal press conference with foreign correspondents, called at the invitation of his government.

He declared Japan was "making every preparation" to attend a peace conference and was hoping that all the Allies would participate, including Russia and China. He said he lacked confirmation of reports that China would stay away if Russia did.

Neither the time nor the extent of Japanese participation have been determined.

FEAR PRICE

committees of Senate-House members who will conduct a series of nation-wide hearings on the question, showed it required $193 in July to buy the amount of food that could be purchased for $100 in the 1935-39 period. Further price boosts since July, one congressional expert said, have sent the cost of some foods to double or higher.

The survey suggested that a short grain crop this year and exports "under the so-called Marshall plan or any other adopted by Congress" might force prices higher. The report said that in general peak prices for cost of living items were caused by the unpredecented high levels of employment and incomes in the United States.

The Associated Press index of 35 wholesale commodities advanced this week for the third consecutive week and food, livestock and grains and cotton categories set new 1947 peaks. The index reached 194.35, compared with 191.58 the preceding week and 140.90 a year ago. The base year 1926 equals 100.

The U. S. labor department, meanwhile, reported average wholesale prices moved up 0.6 per cent last week, for the eighth consecutive weekly jump. Wholesale prices were only about 7 per cent below the all time peak of May, 1920, which was followed quickly by the 1920-21 business recession.

The high food price level with $1 a dozen eggs, $1 a pound butter and $1 a pound choice steaks in some cities, brought new demonstrations of consumer resistance.

President Walter P. Reuther of the C. I. O. United Auto Workers said at Buffalo, N. Y., he would try to promote a national buyers strike to smash "profiteers." The C. I. O. Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employes of America Union said at St. Louis it was considering establishing a non-profit grocery store in that city in an effort to cut food costs for its 6,000 members. Joseph Craig posed a card in the window of his La Crosse, Wis., meat market reading: "Butter 92 cents; please don't buy it."

Because of high food costs, the West Virginia board of control advised all state institutions to eliminate wherever possible the purchase of all other items. It said the food price increase "has scared" that funds available may not be sufficient to carry through the biennium.

State Purchasing Agent George J. Cronin said at Boston that Massachusetts hospitals and institutions were unable to keep within their budgets and still feed inmates nutritionally, even with cheaper meats.

In Providence, R. I., a six-man congressional subcommittee planned to hold the first of a series of public hearings Monday on the rising living costs. Merchants, labor organizations and consumers will be heard, Sen. Flanders, Republican, Vermont, chairman, said, adding that he expected to find some solution to the problem during the inquiry and to be able, if necessary, to recommend legislation.

A suggestion that the government consider revising its grain export program was made in Minneapolis by John H. MacMillan, Jr., president of Cargill, Inc., one of the nation's largest grain merchandising firms.

MacMillan said the country's output this year of wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye and grain sorghum would fall 19,000,000 long tons below 1946. This figure, he added, exceeded the country's entire grain exports in 1937.

Butter reached $1.02 cents a pound in some Buffalo, N. Y., stores. Heading the parade of higher prices all along the grocery line.

The food price climb in the United States came at a time when Europe was experiencing one of its worst drouths. The Danish agricultural council estimated crop damage in four Scandanavian countries alone was $240,000,000. Potatoes were reported literally baking under a hot sun in the dry German soil. The drouth in Britain followed spring floods and a stormy winter that killed hundreds of thousands of sheep and cattle.

In London, the board of trade journal reported that general wholesale prices in the United Kingdom were 0.3 per cent higher in August than in July. The index for industrial materials and manufactures was 209, compared with 100 in the base year 1930. However, the index figure for food and tobacco decreased from 168 in July to 166.9 in August, the decline attributed almost entirely to a fall in the price of potatoes.

In 1945-46, about 4,000,000 pieces were added to the Library of Congress' collection.

RAIL WORKERS

negie-Illinois, said at the beginning the strike would cause a daily loss of 21,000 tons of steel ingots, enough to provide steel for 8,000 automobiles, per day or 64,000 automobiles and 168,000 tons of steel ingots for the entire walkout period.

Company sources estimated the production workers idled earned an average of $1.47 per hour for an eight hour day so that the pay loss for the period would be about $200,000.

Both national officers of the Railroad Brotherhoods and the National Railway Mediation Board called the strike unauthorized. The interplant railroaders originally asked a 50-cent hourly pay increase package but settled for an immediate 15-cent hourly raise, plus any additional increase which might be agreed upon in "national wage determinations."

The railroaders' hourly rates never were disclosed by either the union or the railroad company during negotiations between the firm and the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers and Railway Trainmen.

Wage committees of the Big Five Railroad Brotherhoods will meet Sept. 18 to formulate a wage demand for all railroad operating workers.

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Fluctuations were irregular in cotton futures here today. Closing prices were steady 95 cents a bale higher to 25 cents lower.

Early in the short session the market was depressed by long liquidation and hedge selling. In the last hour of trading prices recovered on week-end short-covering and buying on favorable textile reports.

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A week-end covering movement caused a late, mild rally in cotton after a slow Saturday session today. Nearby October led the movement, gaining 10 to 12 cents a bale. Other deliveries were unchanged to slightly higher.

Commission house selling and hedging were absorbed by trade buying earlier in the session.

Some of the buying was believed to be covering sales to the Commodity Credit Corp. The government agency on Sept. 9 accepted offers on cotton for Japan. The agency was scheduled to buy 40,000 bales of cotton.

Futures closed 15 cents a bale lower to go higher than the previous close.

ICC HEARS PLEA FOR RAIL RATES

Increase Sought; Neff Gives Data To Advance Claim

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—(Special)—No other major industry in America has held its price line as closely as has the railroad industry, Paul J. Neff, chief executive office of the Missouri Pacific Lines, told the interstate commerce commission in Washington today as he testified in support of the rate increase which the railroads of America are seeking.

"Our average revenue per ton mile handled for the first six months in 1947 is 1.048 cents, as compared with 0.909 cents for the first six months of 1946," Neff said. "No other major business in America has held its price line so closely. Our average revenue per ton mile in 1921 was 1.360. No other major industry in the United States can show a corresponding reduction in its sales price."

While income has remained virtually on a level, the Missouri Pacific's chief testified, the railroad industry's expenses have mounted sharply. Material and supplies, including fuel, charged to operating expenses during the first six months of 1947 cost $22,080,000, which includes $9,253,213 for fuel alone. With material prices of June 1, 1946, as an index, the witness said, price increases amounted to 119.4 per cent more in 1947 than in 1946. "As late as August manufacturers advised us that the price of Diesel locomotives would be increased 6 per cent on deliveries on and after October 10, which will add $900,000 to the cost of Diesels we presently have on order. The steel companies, on July 29, increased the price of rail and other track material $5 a ton, or 8 per cent, thus adding another $450,000 to the cost of rail due us on old orders and proposed 1948 orders.

"Since July 1, 1946, the price of rail and other track materials has increased 24 per cent. Locomotive coal prices have jumped 35 per cent, with a request for even higher prices under negotiation, while fuel oil has increased 51 per cent and Diesel fuel oil is 45 per cent higher."

TRUCK CRASHES INTO RUSTON GAS STATION

RUSTON, Sept. 13.—(Special)—Damage estimated at $3,500 was caused to the Robert Brooks service station here Thursday night when a large gas truck, owned by the Transport Co. of Texas (Bossier City) crashed through the station, wrecking the grease rack and tearing out the rear portion of the station.

Over 3,500 gallons of gasoline spilled out of the truck when a seam in the tank split due to the force of the crash. Most of the gas flowed under the home of Ernest Epps, which is located just to the rear of the station, which suffered damage when the cab of the truck knocked part of the foundation loose before stopping.

One truck of the Ruston fire department answered the alarm at 9:20 p. m. and remained at the scene for more than 12 hours. The truck reported back to the main station at 9:50 Friday morning.

Two high-pressure hoses played a constant stream of water on the truck and then later were used to wash the gasoline away to eliminate the fire hazard.

All traffic in the area was halted to lessen the possibility of fire. All traffic was rerouted and was resumed at 10:30 Friday.

All electrical power leading into the service station and the Epps home was cut off to lessen the possibility of a spark setting the gasoline on fire.

The accident was reported to have happened when the driver left the truck on East California to make a telephone call. The truck, in some unexplained manner, got into motion, crossed Vienna street and then went completely through a dividing wall separating the wash from the grease rack, before tearing through the rear wall and coming to a stop against the Epps home.

Damage to the truck was negligible, but it was reported that it might be necessary to rebuild the trailer.

SALESMAN WANTED
Opportunity knocks at every man's door once. Here's the chance to sell without restrictions Goodyear Liquid Roof Coating to factories, warehouses, industrial plants, churches, schools, hospitals, mills and business property owners. Guaranteed to waterproof roofs for a period of 10 years. Scarcity of tin, galvanized and roll roofing gives you a clear field and a chance to earn up to $150 a week. For example, one of our men earned $1,511.40 on repeat orders from one customer. Mr. Reid Williams made $702 on one order, and Mr. T. G. Jones earned $673.50 in one month, while L. J. Hood earned $885.22 on one order. Another man has earned $570 on one order. If you are a hustler you can do as well. Commissions issued daily and there are no charge backs. Full credit given on all mail orders. Our product has been on the market over 35 years and has proven its worth. Write at once for details while territory is still open. We prefer applicants over 40. Consolidated Paint & Varnish Corp., Cleveland, Ohio.

S. S. CAMPAIGN ON WIDE SCALE

First Baptists Program To Be Initiated There Today

Through efforts of B. B. Fields, director of education at the First Baptist Church here, and E. H. Miller, superintendent of the Sunday School department of the state executive board of Shreveport. The pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings, states that a capable staff of experts in Sunday School work will lead a campaign on an enlarged basis.

Rev. L. T. Hastings in announcing the program which gets under way today at the First Baptist Church, St. John and Grammont, with Mr. W. J. Lites, Sunday School secretary from New Mexico, as the principal speaker. After speaking to the three adult departments which will assemble in the church auditorium at 9:45, he will speak at the 11 o'clock service.

The week-day schedule beginning Monday, will be as follows:

9:00 a.m.—General officers, department superintendents, association department superintendents, adult teachers and class officers meet with visiting workers to tabulate census returns and make plans for enlargement of departments and classes. Every department must be represented. 12:00 noon—lunch will be served each day.

Night Schedule—Sessions begin at 7:30 in main auditorium, Mr. Lites in charge. Departmental conferences follow with each visiting worker in charge.

The faculty and departments in which each will lead is composed of the following:

Mr. W. J. Lites, Albuquerque, N. M.—Adults.

Rev. L. Mark Roberts, Shreveport, La.—Young People.

Mrs. L. Mark Roberts, Sheveport, La.—Intermediates.

Mrs. A. V. Farr, Alexandria, La.—Juniors.

Mrs. R. L. Matthews, Shreveport, La.—Primaries.

Miss Veda Franklin, Shreveport, La.—Nursery.

Miss Mattie Leatherwood, Nashville, Tenn.—Beginners.

Mrs. C. S. Cadwallader, Sr., Ruston, La.—Cradle Roll.

INSTRUCTOR

Miss Mattie C. Leatherwood (above) Nashville, Tenn., teacher and author, will serve on the faculty during the Sunday school enlargement campaign in the First Baptist Church, September 15-19.

THE NATION TODAY By JAMES MARLOW

By Max Hall

(Substituting for James Marlow)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Any reporter in Washington, looking into this and that, runs across some odd facts.

For example:

The inquisitive people at the bureau of standards have built three typical plumbing systems out of transparent pipes, so they can see what happens when the water's turned on.

Building Codes — The bureau of standards is testing all sorts of building materials, not just plumbing systems.

The idea is to write a "model" building code which cities can adopt if they care to. A lot of cities have ancient, bulky building codes that put hundreds of unreasonable restrictions on the building of new houses.

Smoking It Out—Another thing the bureau did was to build 14 different kinds of chimneys to discover which are the safest.

They place inflammable stuff on the roof, connect the chimneys to several types of furnaces in turn, run the furnaces full-blast, and sit around to see what happens (with fire hose in hand, no doubt).

Male And Female — According to census figures, females outnumber males in this country by a slight margin. But some census bureau experts say this isn't a true picture, and there are really more males.

They say there is always a portion of the population that doesn't get counted by the census-takers, and there are more men than women in this "lost" group.

Television—Two other names for television are "Video" and "TV." When in New York, you are more likely to hear it called "Video." In Washington, you are more likely to hear "TV."

Editorials—Now the movies are going in for "editorials." The Motion Picture Association is making a series of them in technicolor. President Eric Johnston say these short films will present a point of view, and will be frankly labeled "editorials," as contrasted with newsreels.

In newspapers, editorials are a long-established part of the American scene.

On the radio, editorializing is forbidden under peresent rules of the Federal Communications Commission. But that agency has set a hearing in January on the question of whether the rules should be changed.

Schools—Some educators gnash their teeth every time they see a cartoon on the "Back To School" theme, showing kids in utter misery because they have to leave the "old swimmin' hole" and return to the classroom.

The educators say that these are the conceptions of adults, and that most children these days really enjoy school—even though some children insist they don't because it's the conventional thing to say.

Although Diaz rounded the Cape of Good Hope in 1488, no settlement was established in the area until the Dutch set up a station and fort in 1652.

Nearly 4,000 individual Operations are required in manufacturing the parts of one watch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Shhhhh! Quiet, everybody!

We are about to observe a secret so secret it makes the atom bomb bunch sound like Thursday night at the sewing circle.

Men inside a locked room . . . No one permitted to go out . . . No one permitted to come in . . . Blinds tied down . . . Armed guards on the prowl.

What is this on-the-Q. T. special? What dark, mysterious something do these men shelter?

That carefully guarded top secret is the monthly crop report.

Possibly honest, innocent little you never thought about the fortune to be made in the grain market by sly characters who could find out in advance what the department has up its statistical sleeve.

But others have—especially a man who worked for the department back in 1905.

This gent seemed to be extremely sensitive to light. He was forever adjusting the blinds. By coincidence, a pal of his who understood this window shade language perfectly was parked outside.

One blind adjustment alone, testimony at his trial eventually disclosed, enabled our sensitive gent to clean up $70,000.

The agriculture people aren't sure what happened to this pioneer, but they think he was convicted of something illegal. They are sure that the department of agriculture, no longer blind, immediately put in a new system.

Now on the day the figures are to be assembled, the figure-assemblers come to work at 6 a.m. They're locked in a room, with all the blinds securely down. And there they stay until just before 3 p.m., the time of the great disclosure.

It has been a scandal proof system.

The crop report came out this week, and naturally I was there.

Four telegraph sets and five telephone booths line one wall of room 2901. A white line runs the length of the room.

At 2:55 p.m., all telegraphers and reporters were ordered back of the white line.

At 2:56, a bald little man came in, carefully carrying the precious grain reports. Gravely he laid one, face down, at each telegraph key and telephone.

At 2:59, Mrs. Sarah Elliott, assistant chief of the agriculture telegraph and telephone section, said, "No hurry. There's a whole minute yet."

Fifty-five seconds later, Mrs. Elliott said, "Get ready."

At exactly 3 p.m., she said, "Go!"

Everyone leaped the two steps that separated each man from his phone or telegraph key.

At 3:01, the secret was out.

The corn crop is going to be lousy.

YOUTHFUL FISHERMEN FINED AT RAYVILLE

RAYVILLE, La., Sept. 13.—(Special)—Two youthful fishermen from Winnsboro were in agreement today that while angling may be great fun, it's a greater pleasure when one doesn't have to shell out $14 as an aftermath.

They "forgot" their state angling license, or so they informed Justice of the Peace H. B. Chambers of the 5th ward, Richland parish. He slapped the fine on them as a reminder not to forget.

The two, Joe Gravel, 16, and Billy Hair, also 16, were apprehended August 28 on Big Creek by Wildlife Enforcement Agent C. M. Archibald, who took them to court the same day.

MISS ELSIE STUCKEY AND FRANK VINCENT ANZALONE WED AT ST. MATTHEW'S

Claiming prominence among the weddings of late summer was that of Miss Elsie Elaine Stuckey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Alton Stuckey of Eros, La., and Mr. Frank Vincent Anzalone, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Anzalone of this city, at St. Matthew's Catholic church at five-thirty o'clock in the afternoon with Rev. L. M. Bonin performing the double-ring ceremony. He was assisted by the twin-nephews of the groom, Frankie and Sammie Jungina who served as acolytes. They also lighted the tapers, myriads of them, in the background and on the altar.

Baskets of white gladioli and white asters banked the chancel and were placed on either side of the altar.

While the guests were being seated by the ushers, Messers Anthony Anzalone, Mick Jungina, Louis Comrato and Joseph Zuccaro, the organist, Mrs. D. G. Nicholas rendered a nuptial concert and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Charles Bigger who sang, "Ave Maria."

Mrs. Vincent Anzalone, the matron of honor, wore a floor length model of Royal blue with square neckline, short puffed sleeves and skirt draped in bustle effect in the back. She carried an arm bouquet of pink asters.

The maid of honor, Miss Josephine Traina, wore a similar gown of rose taffeta and carried an arm bouquet of orchid colored asters.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Vincent Anzalone.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Eugene David Galligan, wore a diaphanous white embossed mousseline wedding gown fashioned with tight fitting basque with a sweetheart neckline and long, full skirt over which fell a long court train caught to the coronet of pearls.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents on North Sixth street. Beautiful flowers were placed throughout the reception suite and dining room.

The bride's mother assisting in receiving the guests, wore a navy sheer afternoon model with corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a sheer black model with corsage of gardenias.

The four-tiered wedding cake, beautifully embossed in white roses and valley lilies, adorned the bride's table overlaid with white lace. Plaques of pale pink and white asters were placed at the four corners. Ices and individual cakes were served by Misses Mary Comrato, Sylvia Cockrell, Lena Binagio, Annette La Cara, Marie Peterson and Johnnie La Monica. Miss Doris Williamson presided at the crystal punch bowl.

The bride wore for traveling a grey gabardine model with black accessories and a corsage of orchids. The honeymoon was spent in New Orleans.

The bride is a graduate of the Eros high school and the Monroe Commercial school. The bridegroom is a graduate of St. Matthew's high school and Northeast Junior college. He is copartner of the Star Furniture Company and acting manager of the Acme Fast Freight, Inc.

THOROUGHBREDS ARE BEING GROOMED FOR THE HORSE SHOW AT THE GENTRY ARENA

With interest running high in the Horse Show sponsored by the Junior Charity League at Gentry's Arena in West Monroe, September 21 and 22, a peek "back stage" so to speak and see just what comprises the training of a show horse might be apropos at this time.

It is early morning at the training stables. The sun hasn't yet made its appearance over the horizon and only the faint rustling and chirping of the birds betrays the fact that it is nearing dawn.

It is four o'clock in the morning, the alarm clock is ringing beligerently as the trainer takes one last sleepy stretch before hopping out of bed for the day's chores. From the stalls come a faint neighing and much stomping around as the horses realize it is about time for their morning meal.

As the colored men appear with their mixture of feed the neighing becomes louder and breakfast is usually served to the accompaniment of "There, girl, you 'bout starved 'dis mawning?" "Hol' still, you gonna get yo feed, jes a little patience!"

After feeding, the horses are cleaned just as carefully as though they are to be shown. The mouth and feet are inspected and they are taken out for the days workout.

Young horses just started in training are worked in flat-foot walk to get them bridle wise, make them gentle and teach them to flat-foot. This is one of the three gaits required of a walking horse. Young colts are worked from 10 to 15 minutes. All work with colts or young horses require a vast amount of patience and very easy, gentle unexcited handling.

At this stage the horse is taught to park or pose. This consists of the horse standing perfectly still with front feet about one foot forward from standing position. It is necessary that the horse learn this early as when asked to line up in the show ring he "parks". However, in posing the colt should not stand all stretched out, rather it should stand upright on all four feet. Colts will often over stretch on own accord and it is a habit almost impossible to break when it is once established.

After the young horse is taught to flat foot, is bridle wise and older and stronger it is urged on to a faster gait known as "running walk". This is a beat gait and is noted for its tremendous speed plus a great stride and much head nod. At this point the colt is also beginning to learn to cantor which is a perfectly natural gait of all horses therefore quite easy to teach.

At the beginning the colt will do what is commonly known as a gallop with the front feet nearest center of ring leading. After the horse has been taught correct leads the gallop becomes slower and collected and that becomes a cantor. All this training takes place over a period of 6 to 8 months.

Each morning after the horse is worked he must be "cooled out". In the summer after exercising he is rinsed with the hose. Sweat has a great deal of salt in it and unless all of it is removed is very bad for the coat. The horse is then led around until dry. But in the winter he must be rubbed dry which takes about two hours.

A horse is shod about once a month and each horse requires a different type shoe to suit his personality.

At ten in the morning the "day" is over, the horses are back in their stalls. At noon they are fed hay and at night another mixture of feed. Cool clear water is kept for them at all times.

Traininig is exacting work as the horse must be taught to obey perfectly the slightest command. Here are a few definitions of the more frequently used terms.

Gait—A particular way of going, characterized by definite and distinctive features, regularly executed.

Walk—A slow, flat-footed, four-beat gait. The horse raises its feet successively, planting them in the order in which they are raised.

Rack—A fast, flashy, four-beat gait, the horses left legs move forward as a pair but the feet land only one at a time followed by the simultaneous forward movement of the right pair of legs and the separate descent of the right feet.

Slow Gait—The motion of the feet at this gait are the same as the Rack but the speed is much slower.

Gallop—A fast, three-beat gait in which two diagonial legs act together, their one beat fallying between the successive beats of the other two legs, the hind one of which makes the first beat of the three.

Canter—A slow, collected gallop which the horse is made to do under restraint, the weight being sustained chiefly by the hind quarters while the tightened forehand rises and falls in a high bounding fashion.

With this in mind the average spectator can appreciate the difficult paces the mount is being put through at a Horse Show and what is more thrilling than the privilege of watching a beautiful horse, with months of experienced care and unlimited patience behind her training, proudly going through her paces.

Mrs. Irene Reid Guest Speaker At Woman's Club

Gathering for the initial meeting of the year, members of the Readers Clique were delightfully entertained at the La Casa Tea Room last week. Hostess on this occasion was Mrs. Burl Hollis, popular civic-spirited and mentally-alert new president of the club.

With activities just beginning to warm up in the club work, this enthusiastic group of younger matrons are looking forward with concern to an interesting program which has been outlined for the year. The courses of study and lectures arranged by Mrs. Ivy Jordan promise to satisfy this progressive group of young women.

For reading adventure, Mrs. Clay Albright announced the purchase of an exceptionally outstanding list of current literature. Tops in popularity is "Kingsblood Royal" by Sinclair Lewis, winner of the Nobel prize for literature; "Return to Night" by Mary Renault who has won the largest award in the world for writing, namely: The Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer $150,000 prize; "Prince of Foxes" by the author of "Captain from Castille"; "The Moneyman" is a superb story of romance and action by Costain, the author of "The Black Rose"; the highly publicized "Miracle of the Bells" by Janney rates high on the list; "Ms. Mike," the little volume by Kathleen Flannigan; and others.

Mrs. Hollis, presiding during the business session, announced appointment of the following committee chairmen: Mrs. G. L. Morgan, scrapbook; Mrs. Ray Updegraff, telephone; Mrs. Jack Masur and Mrs. Clay Albright, gifts. Accepted again as a club project was the restoration of old toys to give needy children at Christmas time. The yearbook chairman, Mrs. Thomas Wilson, distributed the books which had lovely hand painted covers designed by Mrs. Jimmie Harbuck.

Guest speaker on the afternoon's program was Mrs. Irene Sims Reid who presented in a most interesting manner a travelogue of her recent tour of the Caribbean Islands and South America. On board the Pan American Airways, she covered 17,000 miles in 24 days. Being a newspaper woman, she didn't follow the beaten track but was given opportunities not offered to the ordinary tourist; that is, the privilege of meeting some of the notables of these countries. In Haiti Mrs. Reid saw one of the most beautiful and elaborate hotels in the world; in San Juan she observed a people not yet educated to the use of modern machinery; in Trinidad she found a country composed 90 per cent of black people; in Argentina she had conversation with Peron, president of this new and growing republic; in Peru she found beautiful women smartly dressed; but considering all of the places visited, Buenos Aires delighted Mrs. Reid most.

During the social hour, lime frappe and an assortment of confections were served to the following members: Mesdames Clay Albright, Stanley Archibald, Edward Crowley, Evans Ethridge Sidney Gill, James Harbuck, Burl Hollis, Mike John, Jr., Raymond John, Ivy Jordan, Oliver Lowery, Jack Masur, Henry Mennuet, G. L. Morgan, Fred Parrish, Louis Peters, Walter Ryland, Ray Updegraff and Thomas Wilson; and guests Mrs. Lasley Richardson of Rayville, Mrs. Sidney Williams and Mrs. Irene Sims Reid.

Thirty-five counties of Texas and New Mexico comprise the Permian Basin, an oil-producing area discovered in 1921.

I HEARD A HOUSEWIFE exclaim the other day. . . . What would I do without the CITY BAKERY these servantless days? She said: "I get my cakes and pies and, of course, my MEL-O-TOAST BREAD fresh every day and it certainly simplifies housekeeping. Those luscious doughnuts and crisp toast made from MEL-O-TOAST BREAD makes the ideal breakfast. The cakes and pies with that delicious home-made flavor are the perfect dessert for dinner. The CITY BAKERY has been catering to Monroe housewives for almost fifty years.

WHEN IN DOUBT about a gift send flowers. This advice is as old as the hills. However, the flowers must be fresh, and priced right. That's why I suggest that you order your flowers, regardless of the occasion, from the WEST SIDE FLOWER AND GIFT SHOP. Every flower is carefully examined. . . . Never a wilted flower leaves this shop. Flowers for the sick room are sent in attractive containers and treated by a certain process that keeps them fresh for days.

THE PROOF IS IN THE EATING! All you have to do is to try just one loaf of BROGAN'S SUREBEST BREAD and you'll never be satisfied with a substitute. It has a certain flavor you can't forget. . . . One bite calls for another. SUREBEST BREAD is fragrant, moist, fresh and, above all, rich in minerals and vitamins. . . . That's why it's the perfect bread for growing children. Keep a loaf within reach of your children who come from school as ravenous as little wolves. SUREBEST is the perfect diet for that in-be-tween-meal snack.

DO YOU STAY AWAKE nights thinking of some easy way to look slim in your new fall clothes? Don't lose any more sleep. . . . Your problem is solved. Get yourself into a CHARMODE GIRDLE before you're a day older. SEARS, ROEBUCK COMPANY is now featuring the CHARMODE GIRDLE. . . . It takes inches off the waist, slims the hips and gives you more line, more rhythm, more freedom for living than you ever dreamed possible. You will feel as light as a leaf in the autumn breeze when you wear a CHARMODE. Get yours tomorrow at SEARS, ROEBUCK CO.

THERE'S A SHOP IN MONROE that's making wedding history. . . . It's the R & A JEWELRY SHOP, where diamonds and wedding rings of incomparable beauty are being sold every day. A diamond ring from the R & A is the bride's heritage of which she is very proud. Marriages may be made in heaven but the engagement ring and wedding ring is risk unless it is purchased at a reputable jewelry shop. Remember, a well-known jeweler's name, especially the R & A is a Hallmark of integrity.

FEW BRIDES CAN step into a servant-staffed home these days, but she can always do her entertaining at the LA CASA, famed far and wide for delicious, home-cooked food. In fact the LA CASA is the answer to the young bride's question. . . . Where to entertain luncheon and dinner guests? And the nicest thing of all, it costs less to entertain at the LA CASA than at home. The LA CASA also offers a charming, home setting where fashionable Monroe gathers daily for luncheon.

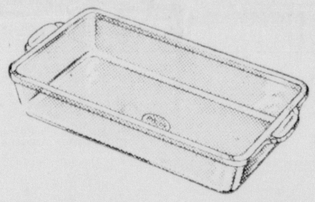

TRAMP, TRAMP, TRAMP! Youngsters are off to school and the tramp of their feet resounds throughout the land. In Monroe the youngsters are wearing sturdy BUSTER BROWN SHOES expertly fitted to their feet at the YORK SHOP. These shoes were designed for tender little feet and come in all sizes. They range in price from $2.95 to $6.50. There's a shoe for every occasion. . . . The patent leathers for the little girl's social season are beautiful. Be kind to your children and keep them outfitted with BUSTER BROWN SHOES from the YORK SHOP. . . . They wear longer and look better than any other shoe on the market.

Top String Show Horses And Performers Will Be Featured In Horse Show

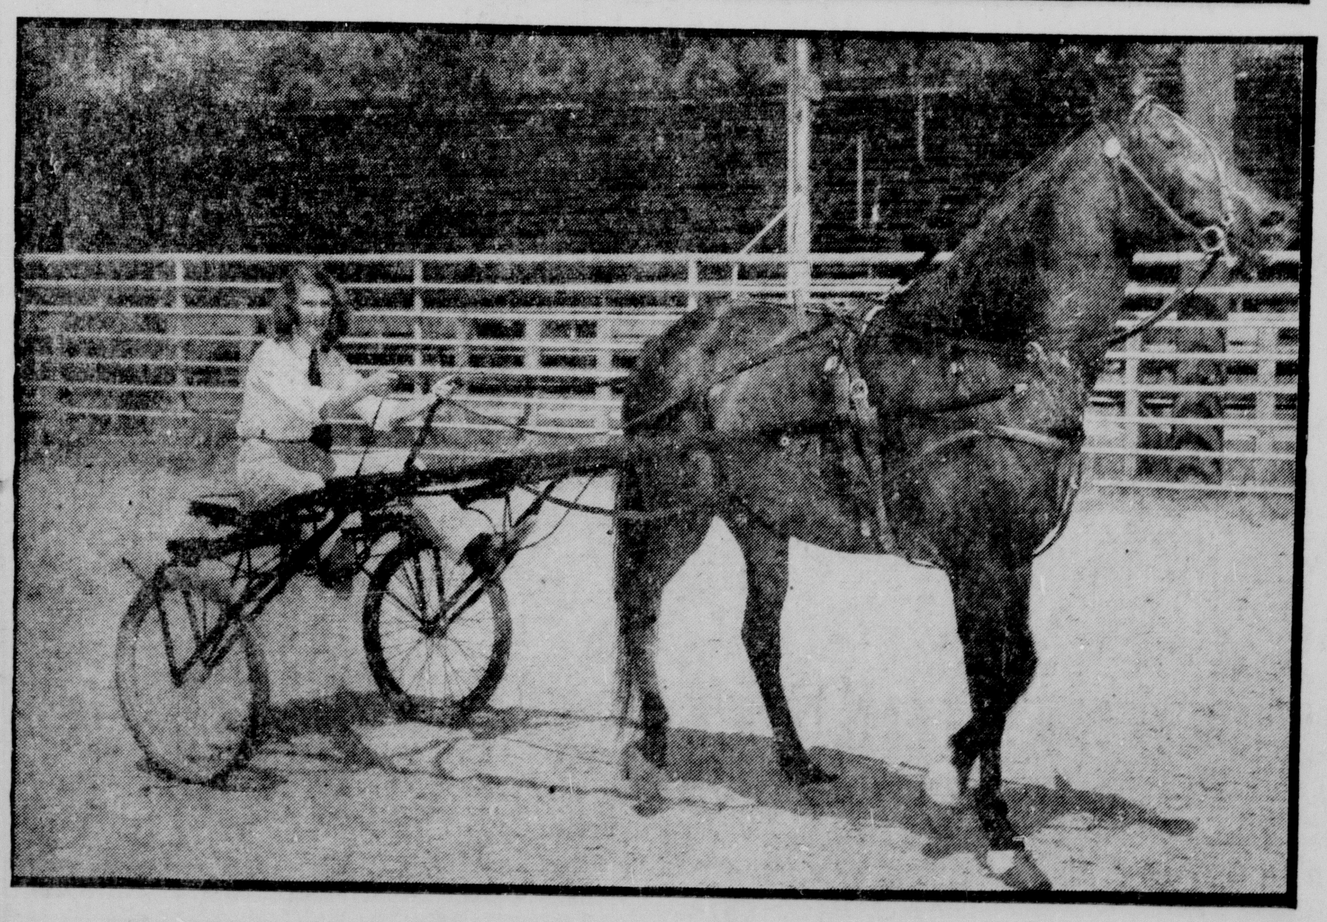

Blue ribbon aspirants are spending hour after hour at local stables these last few days in preparation for the gala Horse Show, sponsored by the Junior Charity League of this city. Feminine riders are practicing the art of equitation and supervising the fine points of grooming. A few of them are pictured in formal riding attire. Miss Ann Atkinson, upper left, is astride a celebrated mount, "Foxy Dare."

Miss Anne Menefee, upper center, is seen with her walking mare, "Struttin Gal." Miss Menefee, a consistent blue ribbon winner will defend her honors with "Struttin Gal" in the walking class.

Prominent Wedding At Baptist Church Attended By Large Concourse Of Friends

Miss Tisdale Is September Bride

Tisdale-Nunnally Wedding Is The Most Brilliant Of Autumn Season

Lohengrin triumphant flaming cathedral tapers, the tangible scent of flowers myriads of flaming cathedral tapers, hundreds of guests and a beautiful bride, radiant in shimmering satin, preceded to the altar by lovely attendants in rustling taffeta, characterized the wedding Saturday night, September 6 of Miss Helen Louise Tisdale, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. Dent Tisdale of this city and Mr. Charles Freeman Nunnally, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nunnally of Alexandria, at the First Baptist Church with the pastor, Reverend L. T. Hastings, officiating.

Long before the nuptial hour guests commenced to arrive and were seated by the ushers who were in formal attire and wore boutonnieres of white asters. They were Mr. Harold McSween, Mr. Paul Gravel, Mr. Orla Roberts, Mr. W. K. Ellington, Mr. Malcolm Capell, Mr. Dent Tisdale, Jr., Mr. Cecile Kline, Mr. James Sherman, Mr. Billy Durrett, Mr. Walter Bell, Mr. N. R. Vawter.

At either end of the chancel entwined with southern smilax, enormous fan shaped arrangements of Woodwardia fern created a lush, cool effect. Southern smilax and ferns arranged in tiers of graduated lengths, formed the solid green background. Cathedral tapers, hundreds of them, also arranged in tiers with those in the back towering almost to the ceiling, interspersed with white gladioli. At the base of the altar, leading up from the chancel a white satin prie-d'eu was placed. The bride and groom knelt throughout the benediction while the soloist, Mrs. Estelle Sanders sang, "The Lord's Prayer."

Marie Antionette baskets overflowing with white gladioli and pink chrysanthemums graced either side of the altar and were grouped in a semi-circle to enclose the wedding party.

While the guests were being seated, many of them occupying seats set apart for them, the organist, Mr. Leon Hammond rendered a pre-nuptial concert and accompanied Mrs. Sanders who sang "Because" and "Through The Years." She wore a white chiffon evening model over pale pink satin with long full skirt looped up with pink ribbon bows.

The bridesmaids, Miss Sally Foster, Miss Joy Harper, Miss Mary Alice Mickel, Miss Martha Ann Fletcher, Miss Betty Hale and Miss Bettye Ruth Davis, and the matron of honor, the bride's aunt, Mrs. Kenneth Stewart of Osyka, Miss., all wore rustling taffeta gowns of Parma violet taffeta. They were fashioned with poetic new drapery detail. An enchanting bustle effect was gained by drapery just below the waistline in the back. The bodices were tight fitting with scalloped neckline and short cap sleeves. For a headdress they wore a single ostrich tip of pale violet caught with a jeweled ornament.

They all carried artistic sheaves of pink California asters and amaryllis tied ingeniously with pink satin.

The bridesgroom was attended by Mr. T. L. McNeely, Jr., of Colfax, La.

Mrs. Tisdale, the bride's mother, walked down the aisle in a stunning plum colored evening model. The skirt was draped gracefully at one side and the bodice was exquisitely embroidered in sequins. She wore a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. Nunnally, the bridegroom's mother, walked down the aisle in a black and silver evening model with long skirt and short sleeved bodice. She also wore a corsage of orchids.

Bride Wears Blush Satin

The bride, walking to the altar with her father, wore a wedding gown of heavy blush pink swiss satin of chaste simplicity. The taper-slim bodice was fashioned with a deep yoke delicately embroidered with seed pearls in leaf design. The sleeves were long and tight fitting slightly puffed at the shoulders.

The voluminous sweep of skirt and train flowed from the long bodice in the back. The veil of pink blush illusion was caught to a Juliet cap of pearls and fell in billowing folds far beyond the long court train. A shorter veil of pink illusion was worn over the face and later at the altar was thrown back in traditional manner.

The bride's bouquet was a superb one fashioned of pink anthuriums flown via airline from Hawaii. They were fashioned in sheaf effect and mixed with tuberoses tied with pale pink satin ribbon. The bride wore a string of perfectly matched pearls, her wedding gift from the bridegroom.

The reception following the ceremony took place in the Crystal ball room of the Virginia Hotel. The entire wedding party including Dr. and Mrs. Tisdale and Mr. and Mrs. Nunnally stood in the receiving line at the far end of the ball room where pale pink gladioli and ferns were banked in a solid panel.

The bride's table overlaid with imported lace over blush satin was adorned with the three-tiered wedding cake embossed in pale pink roses. The bride and bridegroom cut their cake before they left for their honeymoon on the Mississippi Gulf coast. The bride changed her wedding raiment for a smart gunmetal faille tailleur with green Cobra shoes and matching bag. Her hat was of brown felt with a bright green scarf. Two green orchids, a gift of the groom, were worn.

During the receiving hours white clad attendants served iced frappe and individual wedding cakes embossed in pale pink roses.

At the Tisdale home, following the reception the bride presented her attendants with beautiful rhinestone necklaces and bracelets. Her gift to the bridegroom was a sterling silver cigarette case and lighter.

Mr. Nunnally presented his attendants with silver rings.

The bride tossed her wedding bouquet before leaving on her honeymoon. It was caught by Miss Mary Alice Mickel.

Mr. and Mrs. Nunnally will be at home this winter in Baton Rouge, where they will both complete their course of study at the Louisiana state university. Mrs. Nunnally is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish high school and attended Sophie Newcomb college for two years. She is a member of Delta Beta Sigma sorority and a pledge of Kappa Alpha Theta. She is an accomplished pianist having studied music since childhood.

Mr. Nunnally is a graduate of Bolton high school, Alexandria. He is now a student of L. S. U. school of commerce. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and Dagger Inter-fraternity.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were:

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stewart and family of Osyka, Miss.; Mrs. C. W. Stewart, Osyka, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Myrick, Girard, La.; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, Rayville, La.; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Sproles, Delhi, La.; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Nunnally, Alexandria, La.; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lewis, Alexandria; Col. and Mrs. D. F. Healy, Alexandria; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ellington, Alexandria; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McSween, Alexandria; Dr. and Mrs. D. O. Sherman, Columbia; Dr. and Mrs. Hollis Rogers, Winnsboro; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Stodghill, Rayville; Mrs. W. D. Cotton, Rayville; Miss Wilma Lann, Simsboro, La.; Mrs. Audrey Ensley and daughter Lula Belle, Alexandria; Miss Gloria Adams, Winnsboro.

MISS OLA MAE PENNINGTON WILL SERVE THE A. A. U. W. AS PRESIDENT THIS YEAR

The local board of the American Association of University Women begins its year's activities under the direction of Miss Ola Mae Pennington, president of the branch for 1947-49.

Miss Pennington is a Missourian by birth, having come to Louisiana in 1929 as a member of the history department of Ouachita Parish High School, a position which she still holds. She received her bachelor of arts as well as bachelor of science in education degree from the University of Missouri in 1911. Then in 1926 she received her master of arts degree from the same institution.

In addition to the three degrees held she has also done extensive work at the University of Colorado, University of Chicago, and George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tennessee.

Before coming to Monroe to join the Ouachita Parish High School faculty, Miss Pennington taught in the public schools of Missouri, was principal of the high school at Versalles, Missouri and was later head of the history department at Carr-Burdette College—a junior college for women, Sherman, Texas.

The local branch of the American Association of University Women is fortunate in having as their president, a woman of such ability as Miss Pennington and under her leadership the branch is expecting to enjoy a program of exceptional interest.

The year's program is being inaugurated by a workshop for all North Louisiana branches of the American Association of University Women here in Monroe, Saturday, September 13.

Sorority Members Are Hostesses At Afternoon Tea

All work and no play is a dull existence indeed according to members of sororities who have planned a series of social affairs this fall.

The events were inaugurated by Delta Kappa Pi members with a tea when they entertained for Lambda Sigma Chi members in the home of Miss Monita Ann Ritter. The affair, for sentimental reasons, took place on Mr. and Mrs. Ritter's 17th wedding anniversary.

The tea table overlaid with handsome lace was beautifully serviced in silver and laden with luscious confections reflecting the sorority colors, green and white and black and green.

Two elaborately embossed cakes were cut by Miss Betty Bennett, D. K. P. president, and Miss Pat Wadley, Lambda Sigma Chi pesident.

D. K. P.'s sorority mother, Mrs. C. R. Coates, gaciously presided at the punch bowl.

DELTA RHO DELTA LOOKS FORWARD TO THE BUSIEST SEASON YET EXPERIENCED

The new club year is bright with promise for members of Sigma chapter of Delta Rho Delta sorority, judging from the brilliant program featuring lectures, book reviews and other cultural events.

The meetings are held semi-monthly at the Frances Hotel assembly hall and always hold the undivided interest of the club members comprised of business and professional women.

The Monroe chapter is now entering its fourth year of activity and greater enthusiasm than ever before is manifested among the members. The program this year will feature prominent local and southwestern speakers who will be presented in lectures on diversified subjects, including philosophy, travelogue, book and play dramatization, sociology, current events and personal culture.

The forthcoming program for 1947-48 includes several outstanding local speakers and a number of speakers who appear regularly on the programs of Delta Rho Delta's various chapters in Louisiana and Texas. The opening engagement was filled Setpember 8th by Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church who chose as his subject, "Serenity is the Solution." "Shock Treatment of Intolerance" is the topic of a lecture to be presented on Sept. 22nd by Father J. C. Marsh of St. Matthew's Catholic Church of Monroe.

The October engagement will be filled by Thomas W. Davenport, prominent Monroe attorney and well known throughout this section for his interesting talks. He will speak to the members of Sigma chapter of Delto Rho Delto on October 13th on the subject, "Highroad of the Future." Dr. Fred Marx, Monroe physician and member of a well known Monroe family will talk on "Emotionally Speaking—How's Your Balance?"

A review of a currently popular book will be presented on November 10th by Mrs. E. P. Cudd.

The chapter's Christmas presentation will be given by Mrs. E. W. Sartain who will present a Christmas story on December 8th, called, "The Man Who Missed Christmas", by Conningsby Dawson. Mrs. Sartain is a trained worker in the Baptist Church and well known for her gift in story telling.

The first subject of 948 will be "The Universal Language", which will be delivered by Dr. E. L. Ford, Dean of Foreign Languages at Centenary College, Shreveport, La., and on January 26th, Mrs. C. U. Johnson will present a book review. February speakers will be Dr. Mary Mims, of Baton Rouge, head of the Agricultural Extension Service for the State of Louisiana, who will have as her topic on February 9th, "The Best Years of Our Lives", and Dr. J. H. Sachs, professor of English and History of Louisiana Tech, Ruston, whose subject will be "The Cure for Communism" on the 23rd.

"Community Health Problems—Our Concern", has been selected as the topic to be given by Mrs. Joe T. Ray on March 8th.

Attorney W. D. Cotton of Rayville, Louisiana, will visit the chapter on March 22nd and will speak on "Is Perjury Ever Justified?".

Dr. Albert Venting, National vacation director of the Delta Rho Delta Sorority, world traveler and widely known lecturer, and Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Cleburne, Texas, will be the guest of Sigma chapter on April 12th, when his subject will be "Can Americans Be Internationally Minded?"

On April 26th, Mrs. Ava G. Wheat, honorary member of Delta Rho Delta, and one of the South's most popular book reviewers, will visit Sigma chapter and present a book review at this time.

Mrs. Julia Morrow Gilmer, widely popular dramatist and speaker of Shreveport will also present a book dramatization on May 10th, and on May 24th, Judge Geo. W. Hardy, Jr., of Shreveport, Juvenile Judge for the Fifth District, will speak on the "Fine Art of Living."

Mrs. James A. Noe, honorary member of Delta Rho Delta and well known throughout the state of Louisiana will talk on June 14th on "Louisiana Land of Flowers."

The program will close on June 28th with a lecture by C. E. Autrey, on "Order or Chaos."

Lecture meetings of Sigma Chapter are held on the second and fourth Mondays at the Frances Hotel, and the month's additional activities include a business meeting, and a social occasion, as well as participation in inter-chapter and inter-state meetings, and the sponsoring of civic and social service projects which constitute important factors in the service program of Delta Rho Delta Sorority. Mrs. W. D. McGee, Jr., is Archon of Sigma Chapter and Mrs. J. R. Carroll is organizer.

Since its organization four years ago Sigma Chapter has grown steadily and today it is an outstanding organization of young business and professional women of which Monroe can be very proud indeed.

This energetic group of women are constantly striving to better themselves through their cultural program as well as performing outstanding services to the community through their social service work.

Miss Greenwell Is Lovely Bride

Wedding At First Methodist Church Is Of Interest To Wide Circle Of Friends

In the shimmering candlelight Miss Betty Gene Greenwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Greenwell, walked down the aisle at the First Methodist church with her father to become the bride of Mr. Billy Dan Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Jones of Alexandria, La., on September 6. Her wedding gown was of traditional Duchess satin with gleaming folds falling into a graceful court train. The bodice was tight fitting and fashioned with a bertha embroidered in seed pearls. The long closely fitted sleeves ended in points over the hands. A finger-tip veil was caught to a tulle cap. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls.

The bride's bouquet was beautifully designed of orchids and tuberoses tied with long lengths of white satin ribbons and loops of tulle.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. A. M. Serex against a background of fragrant clematis and Marconi daisies overflowing from classic shaped urns Myriad cathedral tapers in candelabra of graduated lengths were silhouetted against palms and ferns and southern smilax.

Mrs. John Sholars, organist, rendered a concert while the guests were being seated by the ushers, Messers A. Lea, Frank Jones, Laurence Pettit, Jr., Louis Rainwater, Joe Cordill. She also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Roy Brooks, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Betty Sue Jones, the maid of honor, wore a turquoise blue moire taffeta model. The bodice was long and tight fitting with drop-shoulders and the skirt was in four tiers. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and tulle and wore a chaplet of carnafor a head dress.

The flower girl, Sandra Lea, wore a gown of pink taffeta, an exact duplicate of the gown worn by the maid of honor. She carried a nosegay of carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by the bride's brother, Mr. Merrell Greenwell.

Gracious courtesies were extended in the Greenwell home following the ceremony. The reception suite, beautifully decorated with Marconi daisies and clematis, was the setting for the wedding party. Mrs. Greenwell wore a lovely slate blue afternoon model and Mrs. John Hart, aunt of the bridegroom wore an advanced fall model of brown crepe. They both wore exquisite corsages.

The bride and bridegroom cut their wedding cake before leaving on their honeymoon in the West. The cake adorned the beautifully appointed bride's table in the dining room. The table overlaid with handsome lace was also adorned with low plaques of Marconi daisies encircled with tapers.

Miss Sue Dickard, Miss Mimi Meek and Mrs. Frank Jones assisted in serving individual wedding cakes and ices.

The bride's going-away costume was smart and very becoming. It was a grey gabardine tailleur and with it she wore black accessories and a corsage of orchids.

The young couple will make their home in Los Angeles.

The bride is a graduate of Neville high school and Louisiana Tech. She is a member of Delta Beta Sigma and Sigma Kappa fraternities. The bridegroom is a graduate of Louisiana Tech and obtained his B. S. degree from the University of Southern California. He will receive his M. A. degree in June, 1948. During the war he was a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. John Hart and Mrs. Rachel Lafferty of Commerce, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cordill of Shreveport and Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Holland, Messers Jack and George Holland of Texarkana, Texas.

BRIDE AND HER ATTENDANTS

WEDDING IN CALHOUN IS OF INTEREST TO MANY FRIENDS IN THIS CITY

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, in the Calhoun Methodist Church, Miss Mary Alice Humble, daughter of Mrs. Sallie Humble and the late Jake Humble, became the bride of James Alexander Vardeman, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Vardeman of Farmerville. The Rev. John Elton Hearn performed the impressive double-ring ceremony.

Lovely arrangements of white gladioli and fern against a background of smilax and gleaming candles formed the setting for the wedding party as they stood under an improvised arch.

Mrs. Claude Roberts rendered a nuptial program and accompanied Miss Marie Daniel, of Arcadia, who sang "Because" and "I Love Thee". Music was rendered during the ceremony and the traditional wedding marches were played for the processional and the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Thomas, wore a lovely floor length white organza model with fitted bodice and very full skirt. She wore long organdy mitts and carried a white Bible marked with an orchid, white tuberoses and white satin streamers. Her finger tip veil fell from a coronet of orange blossoms.

For "something old" she wore a locket on a gold chain that belonged to her maternal grandmother in 1872.

Miss Bonnie Jean Golson, in a blue net dress model and carrying a white Bible topped with blue and pink asters and pink satin streamers with blue asters attached, was the bride's maid of honor. Durwood Grafton of Farmerville, was best man.

Mac Cole, of Spearsville, and Bobby Humble were ushers.

Mrs. Humble, mother of the bride, wore a black and white sheer with a corsage of white carnations and Mrs. Vardeman's dress was black crepe and her flowers were pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. E. Bryan, for members of the families and close friends. White gladioli, tuberoses and ferns banked the reception suite.

Mrs. Jappie Phillips and Miss Jemmie Vardeman, aunts of the groom, from Brookhaven, Miss., presided at the punch bowl and assisted in serving a variety of confections.

For traveling the bride wore an aqua faille suit with white accessories and white orchid corsage. The young couple will make their home with the bride's mother in Calhoun when they return from their honeymoon.

Mrs. Vardeman is a graduate of La. Tech., and will teach in the Calhoun High School this fall.

Mr. Vardeman will continue his studies at Tech. He recently returned from Japan where he served with the armed forces.

More than 2,300,000 stones are contained in the Great Pyramid of Gizeh, Egypt.

Discipline

Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do which must be done; whether you like it or not. Being forced to work, and forced to do your best, will breed in you, temperence, self-control, diligence, strength of will, content, and a hundred other virtues which the idle never know.—Charles Kingsley.

Miss Word Weds Durwood Griffin

Prominent Out-Of-Town Wedding Claims Interest Of Friends In This City

A wedding of prominence and of widespread interest took place at 7 p. m. Tuesday, September 2, when Miss Sarah Helen Word, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Word, of Arkadelphia, Ark., became the bride of Thomas Durwood Griffin, son of Mrs. J. E. Griffin of Monroe, La., and the late Mr. Griffin.

The candle-light ceremony was solemnized at the First Methodist Church with the pastor, the Rev. John B. Hefley, officiating.

Southern smilax and woodwardia fern banked the altar, choir loft. The chancel was studded with white baby chrysanthemums. Floor baskets of white gladiolas and huge chrysanthemums with myriad burning tapers completed the arrangement. The pews were marked with gladiolas and baby chrysanthemums tied with streamers of white satin ribbon and tulle.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. H. Grady Smith, organist, and Mrs. W. E. Nowlin, soprano, who sang, "Because," and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life." The traditional wedding marches were used. The candles were lighted by Vernon Lacour of Monroe, [illegible], and J. W. Simmons of Arkadelphia.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. Her wedding gown of white slipper satin was designed with a sweetheart neckline, long bodice, embroidered with seed pearls and fastened down the back with tiny white satin rose buds and loops and full length sleeves that ended in points at the wrists. The circular skirt was finished with a court train, and her finger-tip veil of illusion was edged with silk lace and fell from a halo of orange blossoms and frills of lace. Her bouquet was of gardenias and stephanitis centered with an orchid.

Miss Hazel Mitchell of West Monroe, La., attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a lovely pink marquisette and taffeta model fashioned, drop-shoulder effect. The bouffant skirt was of marquisette. She wore pink elbow length gloves and a coronet of pink tulle. Her bouquet was of blue astors, tied with blue satin ribbon and tulle. Miss June Griffin, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Max Whipple were the bridesmaids. Miss Griffin wore yellow marquisette and Mrs. Whipple, green Both wore elbow-length mitts, matching coronets of net, and their bouquets were of bronze chrysanthemums tied with contrasting colors of maline and satin ribbon.

Frank Breese of Monroe, La., served the bridegroom as best man, and the ushers were Vernon Lacour and A. S. Tidwell, Jr., of Monroe, Keith Peterson of Shreveport, and J. W. Simmons of Arkadelphia. All wore tuxedos and buttonaires of white carnations.

The bride's mother wore aqua crepe with a corsage of gardenias, and the bridegroom's mother wore black crepe and lace with a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Later the young couple left on a wedding trip to Colorado Springs. After September 15 they will be at home at 1105 North First street, Monroe..

The bride graduated from Arkadelphia High School and from Henderson State Teachers College with a bachelor of arts degree and a bachelor of oratory degree; and from the University of Wisconsin with a master of philosophy degree in speech. She attended Louisiana State University and Universidad de Havana. For the past year she was head of the speech department of Lamar College, Beaumont, Texas.

Mr. Griffin attended Northeast Center College, of Monroe, and finished from Winona Lake School of Photography. He worked with Gritting Photographers in Houston and Dallas. In Dallas he was also the bride's photographer in Nieman Marcus department store.

He served two years as a captain in the army in the China Burma-India theatre as motion picture photograpeh, also with the British Eastern Fleet one year and was a staff officer with Lord Louis Mountbatten, recent Viceroy of India. He is associated with the Griffin Studio.

WEDDING AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN RUSTON IS OF INTEREST TO MANY FRIENDS

In an impressive double-ring ceremony Friday afternoon, August 29 at four o'clock, Miss Sue Carolyn Hardage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Hardage of Downsville, became the bride of Randolph Peters Broussard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Broussard of Alexandria. The First Presbyterian Church, Ruston, was the scene of the nuptials, and Reverend Thomas F. Davis performed the ceremony.

The vows were exchanged before a background of palms, ferns, and large beautiful fan-shape bouquets of white asters, gladioli, and graceful sprays of clematis.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party Mrs. O. H. Voran, organist, rendered a program of nuptial music, and accompanied Mr. James Edward Hamilton, who sang, "I Love You Truly", and "Always". "Clair de Lune" was softly played during the ceremony, and the traditional wedding marches marked the entrance and exit of the bridal party.

Miss Hardage given in marriage by her father, was particularly lovely in an early fall beige suit of soft wool twill. Her hat was of gray felt with soft gray and white feathers draped off the off-face brim, and gray veiling. She carried a small white Bible covered with a white orchid from which hung streamers of white satin ribbon.

Miss Peggie Anne O'Neil, cousin of the bride, who served as maid of honor, wore a suit of Hunter green wool twill. Her shoulder corsage of rose carnations matched the feathers on the brim of her off-face hat.

The grooms' father, Mr. Randolph Broussard, served as best man. The ushers were Mr. Jack Carey of Downsville, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Warren Broussard of Alexandria, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Robert H. Hardage, the bride's mother, wore a light brown crepe dress and matching felt hat. Her corsage was of pink rose buds.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Broussard, wore a black crepe model and black hat. Her shoulder corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony the bride and groom stood in the vestibule of the church to receive the congratulations and best wishes of their relatives and friends.

After a short wedding trip, the bride and groom will make their home in Alexandria, where Mr. Broussard is employed by the Firestone Company of that city.

The bride, a member of an outstanding pioneer Louisiana family, is a graduate of Downsville High School and attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. She is a granddaughter of the late J. W. Davis of Lincoln Parish. The groom, a member of the prominent Broussard family, served in the navy in the last World War. He is a graduate of Bolton High School of Alexandria, and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Education---?

Some people are becoming more aware that our children need more than what is ordinarily called education. Naturally we need the training that develops our skill and sharpens the mind, but real education must go deeper than that! Some way we must find the path of life, so that life may be used not only for self but for the common good.

Sometimes, for more fortunate people the empahsis is made in the home. When this is so, under Christian training, there is a permanent quality to the training that time can seldom change.

This very important guidance is instilled by the Christian Church. By study, worship, association and activity, we learn that noble purposes are superior to mere things. An through association with God we can endure every test that life can give us.

Miss Jackson Is The Bride Of Grady Hall

An early morning wedding on Sunday, August 31, characterized by lovely simplicity and impressive ceremony, took place at the Stone Avenue Methodist Church with Rev. I. L. Yeager officiating, when Miss Alita Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jackson of Monroe, became the bride of Mr. Grady B. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hall of Saline.

The double ring ceremony was performed against a background of Oregon ferns and arrangements of white gladiolas. Miss Jane Wallace played a program of nuptial music and Miss Nelda Sue Monroe sang "Because."

Miss Sarah Hearn, who served as maid of honor was attired in a lovely fall model of royal blue and carried a bouquet of pink Pompon Crown Asters. Miss Hearn, cousin of the bride, lives in Arkadelphia, Arkansas.

The groom's father served as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a fall costume suit of gray with a gray hat and white blouse. She carried a white Bible, marked with an orchid and streamers of white satin ribbon caught with tuberoses.

An informal reception was held in the bride's home for members of the two families immediately following the wedding.

The bride is a graduate of Northeast Junior College, Monroe and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston, La. She is presently employed by the law firm, Shotwell and Brown.

The groom served three years in the U. S. Navy and is at present a student at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

After a short honeymoon in Memphis, Tennessee, the couple will be at home to their friends at 419 St. John, Monroe.

LOUISIANA IRIS IS SUBJECT OF COLORFUL TALK ENJOYED BY MONROE GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. King Stubbs, Mrs. John Theus, Mrs. Robert Layton, Mrs. B. W. Biedenharn, Mrs. T. G. Fasterling, Mrs. Scott Hamilton, Mrs. A. R. Butler, were hostesses to the September meeting of the Monroe Garden Club, in the home of Mrs. Layton. The large drawing room was filled with enthusiastic garden lovers, who met for the first meeting of the new club year. Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick presided over the meeting. She announced that she had found it impossible to resume the duties of the presidency. At a recent meeting of the board, Mrs. Wilson Ewing, first vice-president was elected president. The officers are:

President, Mrs. Wilson Ewing; first vice-president, Mrs. A. F. Montgomery; second vice-president, Mrs. Robert Layton; third vice-president, Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick; treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Gaines; secretary, Mrs. Ray L. Junod.

Standing committee chairman:

Publicity, Mrs. Gilbert Stovall; roadside development, Mrs. J. H. Thatcher; historian, Mrs. Harold Mouk; membership, Mrs. D. I. Garrett; public relations, Mrs. Charles Mitchell; program, Mrs. T. G. Easterling; horticulture, Mrs. John Breard.

The guest speaker was Mrs. J. G. Richard of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, who used as her subject "Louisiana Iris." Dr. and Mrs. Richard have been collecting native Louisiana iris for the past twenty years and have one of the best known collections in the state. Mrs. Richard said in part, "The Iris is a member of one of the oldest families of flowers. In ancient Greek mythology Iris, symbolizing the rainbow, is often referred to as the "Goddess of the rainbow" and it is from the Goddess Iris that this large and important family takes its name. In the eighth chapter and eleventh verse of Job, we read 'Can the rush grow up without mire? Can the flag grow without water?' Flag is one of the early names for the plant we know as Iris.

"There are four distinct families or species of Iris: (1) fulva, because of its vivid and unusual color, was one of the first native Iris to be named. The type color is brick red but varies from pale salmon to reddish brown. The flowers are flat, rather small, and are borne freely on tall, slender, branching stems. Fulva grows in a wide swath on the alluvial plains and delta of the Mississippi River and follows in trickles, fanwise, tributaries, such as Bayou Lafourche, almost to the Gulf. The seeds are borne in the sand, washed by the waters on their way to empty into the Gulf.

"(2) Giganticaerulea, the flowers of this species are delicate blue and wisteria, with white or ivory albinos. It begins blooming in early March and reaches its full flory in April. Its favorite growing spot is in full sunshine and it tolerates more soil alkilinity than other types. It is the tallest growing Iris of all, reaching six feet in height. There is one case on record which attained a height of seven feet.

"(3) Foliosa, the flowers of this species are lavender-blue in color and are rather small. It is a low growing plant with many long blades. Where the Fulva, Giganticaerulea, and Foliosa adjoin, a three-way hybridizing occurs.

"(4) Virginica, the flowers of this plant are lavender shading into white and bronze. It begins to bloom the middle of March and continues into May. It will not hybrize with other species.

"The Iris family is well represented in Louisiana. They range in color from pure white, through all the lavender-blues and purples, to deepest violet; there are many shades of pink, rose, and red, and there are a few yellows. The pseudacarus iris is not a native of Louisiana but is an European importation sometimes called the fleur-de-lis of France. It is tall growing with rank foliage.

"This is the time to transplant the native Iris as the plants are dormant. The plants should be set in well-prepared beds and given a mulch. The beds should be fertilized in December or January using a good, balanced garden fertilizer. Seed pods should be collected while green and the seeds planted in seed boxes at once; drying out makes germination slower."

Mrs. Richard used a map to show the locality in which may be found each species of Iris.

An interesting feature of the meeting was the presentation by Mrs. Richard of rare Iris plants to the following members: to Mrs. A. G. McHenry, an Angel Wings Iris as the "Guardian Angel" of the Club; to Mrs. Robert Layton, (Carol) a Carolina Iris, to Mrs. Wilson Ewing, president, a yellow Iris; to Mrs. Kent Breard, newest member, one of the newer pink variaties; Mrs. J. Hunter Thatcher, an Abbeville red, for the member making the most colorful flower arrangement.

At the close of Mrs. Richard's talk, the guests were invited into the spacious hallway where the screen for the colored slides had been set up. The hallway was darkened and the slides were shown to splendid advantage. As each slide was thrown on the screen, Mrs. Richard gave its name, color, growing habits and locale.

Refreshing punch, sandwiches, mints and other confections were served the guests from the beautifully appointed dining table by the hostesses. An unusually beautiful arrangement of yellow lilies and Marigolds centered the table. Mrs. A. G. McHenry presided over the crystal punch bowl placed at one end of the table.

Among those present were:

Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick, Mrs. R. L. Junod, Mrs. N. Y. Gaston, Mrs. J. C. Earnest, Mrs. H. A. Moak, Mrs. Jewel McQuiller, Mrs. R. D. Whitecotton, Mrs. J. H. Thatcher, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. John Breard, Mrs. Charles E. McKenzie, Mrs. T. G. Easterling, Mrs. G. L. Holloway, Mrs. B. Beasley, Mrs. T. L. Downs, Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr., Mrs. E. E. Butler, Mrs. Haydn Cutler, Mrs. W. R. Gates, Mrs. Kent Breard, Mrs. Lillian Davis, Mrs. Robert Layton, Mrs. Gilbert Stovall, Mrs. Neil Buie, Mrs. A. G. McHenry, Mrs. W. N. Reynolds, Mrs. E. W. Brown, Mrs. W. M. Harper, Mrs. W. R. H. Lawrence, Mrs. Frank Kennedy, Mrs. Jack W. Gaines, Mrs. Gladys Sperry, Mrs. Frank Stubbs, Mrs. L. C. McGuire, Mrs. George Lester, Mrs. Booles Breed, Mrs. Cecil Jarrell, Mrs. J. Q. Graves, Mrs. George A. Miller, Mrs. Scott Hamilton, Mrs. Burt W. Sperry, Mrs. W. S. Shafto, Mrs. W. C. Summer.

"Personal Adequacy" is the theme of the morning message. How many are fit, able, and qualified? There is a plan, which fits man for any eventuality and qualifies him for any emergency. Who is not interested in such a plan? This plan is not man-made or man-originated. It is the plan of the Lord God. And that which moves to an acceptance of the plan is that it has been tried and found to work.

"God Hears and Answers" is the subject of the evening meditation. It is a study of Psalm 17. What are the conditions which justifies us expecting Him to hear?

The youth of the church will meet Sunday evening, six o'clock. The programs are interesting and helpful. The youth are invited to be present.

A most cordial invitation is extended to worship.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Miss Patsy Lou Camp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Camp, of Calhoun, La., whose engagement to Mr. John D. Platt, of Choudrant, La., is announced today. The wedding will take place October 4 at Liberty Baptist Church at 7 p.m. Friends are invited through this medium.

PUBLIC CAN SEE THEATRE PLAYS

Season Tickets To Be On Sale September 22 For Two Weeks

Yearly memberships for the Little Theatre will go on sale September 22, at 9 a.m., at the Palace on the first floor, and at Goldsmith Jewelers, 320 DeSiard Steet. The sale will continue until October 6.

The low priced membership fee for the year includes admission to all plays during the session, and the right of participation in all Little Theatre activities, as well as a voice in the policies and plans of the Little Theatre. The season includes five plays, which will take place between October 20 and the beginning of May.

The 1947-48 season promises to be one of the most exciting in Little Theatre history, with a fine schedule of outstanding plays planned. Production will be in the auditorium of Georgia Tucker School, a place which will solve the accoustical problem which has plagued the theatre in larger places. The smaller size of the auditorium will contribute to a greater intimacy between the actors and the audience as well, an ideal situation for stage plays. The possibility of moving the seats in Georgia Tucker will also make it possible to use central staging as a form of production. This is a style whereby the play is put on in the center of the auditorium, with the audience sitting on all sides of the players, the result being a much greater simulation of reality with a room arranged as it would be in a normal room, rather than with all furniture facing out, and with the actors playing to each other as they would in a real situation.

Although single admission tickets may be purchased at the door for each performance, the membership fee is much more desirable, in providing not only a great saving in seeing the plays, but the privilege of being an actual member of the organization.

The Little Theatre, which, during the past year, has gained state and nation-wide publicity for its home town through stories in state, out-of-state, and New York City newspapers, as well as in theatre periodicals, will achieve noteworthy recognition this season, when it will be visited by a talent scout from Warner Brothers Studios in Hollywood.

Readings for "Hay Fever," the first Little Theatre production of the current season, which will be held tomorrow and Tuesday, September 15 and 16, at Georgia Tucker School at 7:30 p.m., are open to everyone in Monroe or West Monroe, and everyone is cordially invited, Director Kay Crandall again stressed today, in emphasizing the fact that there is no requirement for attending readings other than an interest in helping to put on good plays, and enjoyment of the good fun and friendship which comes from working together. Not only should all those who wish to act come Monday or Tuesday evenings, but those interested in doing backstage work of any sort should also come at that time to register for the crew they wish to work on.

Experience is not at all a requirement for getting a part in a play, Miss Crandall added, casting being based on the ability of the individual to fit the particular part in question. She recalled that last year two of the four awards given for outstanding performances were to actors who had never before appeared on a stage.

MOUK OUT OF RACE

Harold Mouk, who previously announced his candidacy for member of the Police Jury from Ward 1 at the special election to be held Thursday, stated Saturday that he has withdrawn from the race. His name will not appear on the ballot.

Sergeant Joe Hague and Sergeant Bruce Sandlin, of the United States army recruiting service, were guests of the Optimist Club Friday. They presented a picture, "Yanks in Germany," which showed the Yanks in Normandy, Belgium, Bremerhaven and Antwerp. The groups shown were the 82nd and 101st airborne divisions, the 1st British army, and Patton's 3rd army crossing the Rhine. The 9th army was shown taking the surrender of twenty thousand German troops at Bremerhaven without the loss of an American soldier. The 3rd army and the British 1st army were shown meeting on German soil.

President W. L. Howard appointed the committees to take care of the boxing team this season. The training committee was Ivy McDonald, chairman, Harry Hays, and John Yarbrough. The committee to secure place to work and to hold matches: C. C. Bell, chairman, R. T. Lolley, J. C. Lolley, Lester Carr, Lawrence Williams, David Stovall, Walter Reed and Bert Bernheim. The transportation committee: Merlin Milstead, chairman, Roger Dishongh, Eddie Kester, Tom Agnew, W. L. Dean and Jack Wyatt. Committee in charge of equipment: Robert Rainwater, chairman, J. C. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES 224 Auburn Ave.

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 14, 1947.

The Golden Text is: "The invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead" (Rom. 1:20).

Among the citations which compromise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it" (Eccl. 3:14).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit is the only substance, the invisible and indivisible infinite God" (p. 335).

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
St. John and Grammont Streets
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
B. B. Fields, Music and Education

Attention adults! All members of the three adult departments of our Sunday school will assemble in the church auditorium at 9:45 to hear a message from W. J. Lites. Let every one be on time. This is very important and vital to the success of our enlargement campaign. After Mr. Lites' message the classes will assemble in their respective classrooms for records and lesson.

All are urged to hear Mr. Lites at 11 o'clock when he will explain what he hopes to accomplish in the enlargement effort. Conferences will be held each night next week beginning at 7:30. We have one of the very finest Sunday School faculties every brought to Monroe, eight in number, from New Mexico, Tennessee and Louisiana.

The pastor will preach Sunday night, and the ordinance of Baptism will be administered at the close of the service.

Come and help us make Sunday a great day.

DAMPNESS IS MILDEW CAUSE

Molds May Produce Stains That Destroy Furniture, Mrs. Swift States

If dampness brings mildew to furniture or other household goods, lose no time in removing the spots, advises Mildred G. Swift, associate home demonstration agent. Molds that cause mildew may produce permanent stains in a few hours in extreme conditions, and in time materials may rot to pieces.

"Since the molds causing this damage thrive in dampness, the main line of defense is to dry attacked articles in any practicable way, using sun and air as aids when possible," says Mrs. Swift who suggests the following ways of treating mildewed household goods, stressing the 'post-script'—leave them as dry as possible to prevent another mold attack:

Upholstered articles, mattresses, rugs: Brush with a whiskbroom to remove mold, working outdoors to prevent scattering mildew in house. If available, a vacuum cleaner attachment run over surface will draw out more mold. If spots remain, sponge lightly with thick soapsuds, wetting fabric as little as possible. Wipe with a clean, damp cloth, or with a cloth wring out of dilute alcohol— cup denatured alcohol to 1 cup water—and dry well.

Leather: Wipe off mold with a cloth wrung out of dilute alcohol—1 cup denatured alcohol to 1 cup water. If necessary, wash with thick suds of a mild, neutral soap or saddle soap, then wipe with a damp cloth. Dry in an airy place. Polish shoes or luggage with wax dressing.

Wood: Wipe loose mold from unpainted floors and woodwork with a cloth dipped in water containing a little kerosene. Or, wash the wood with warm water and soapsuds, wipe with clean, damp cloth and dry thoroughly. If necessary, bleach stains with sodium perborate. Sprinkle the perborate powder on the dampened stain, let stand a few minutes, then rinse and dry. Remove mildew stains from painted surface with a commercial paint cleaner; then apply a mildew-resistant paint.

NEGRO KILLED WITH CONCRETE

Man Chasing Another With Knife Felled By Blow

An old argument flared anew Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at the city dump at 18th and Grammont street and brought about the death of Tommy Jackson, 50, Negro of Rayville, when he was struck over the heart with a piece of broken concrete.

Eddie Griffin, 29, 819 Short Washington, Negro employe of the city garbage department, who admitted hurling the rock is being held in the city jail pending a coroner's hearing. No charges have been filed.

Fred McKnaff, 307 6th street, driver of the city garbage truck, for whom Griffin works, told police that the argument began in a wooden shack just across the Missouri-Pacific railroad. He said that Griffin came running out of the shack and jumped behind him shouting that "he's after me with a knife." Jackson came running straight toward McKnaff and Griffin with a large knife open in his hand. McKnaff then shoved Griffin from behind him and stepped aside.

Griffin began to run again, stooped to pick up the rock, tossed it at Jackson and continued running. The lethal concrete struck Jackson below the heart and he collapsed after taking three steps. Witnesses said that apparently death was instantaneous.

An open pocket-knife was found by police three feet from the body.

Dr. J. T. French, city coroner, stated that an inquest will be held Monday at 2:00 p. m. on the second floor of the parish courthouse.

IN MOVIELAND

By Armand Archerd
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Today is bargain day. Not one, but two stars announce their face-making days are over. They are Martha Vickers and George Raft. (Each announcement comes quite independent of the other.)

Martha is quitting next month when she completes "Prelude To Night." The general comment from close friends and her bosses at Warners is: "Whatsa matter? Ya crazy or somethin?"

My thoughts were similar. After all, in what other business could a 22-year-old make this kind of money?

She admits the money is a great temptation but the desire to fulfill her first ambition outweighs the mazuma. (Her agent must be tearing his hair.) Martha has always wanted to be a fashion designer and editor.

"People can't believe me," she said, "but I've got to find out for myself if I'm any good."

To prove this isn't a gag, she went into her dressing room and returned wearing one of her own creations. I must admit she has talent. She will try to convince eastern magazine editors of her abilities in hopes of becoming a fashion editor.

One phase of Hollywood that Martha will gladly forsake is—posing for cheese-cake.

"In the past year," she sighed, "I must have posed for a million of them."

Raft's retirement, as you might imagine, is for other reasons. He will ease out of the acting game into the production side of movie making.

His reasons for leaving are simple: He is 52, and admits "I'm no Barrymore."

In spite of George's modesty, he has been a moneymaker in Hollywood for 15 years, an enviable record. His present chore, "Race Street," will be one of his last films for a major studio. His activities in the next couple of years will be devoted to making films for his own company. He will, however, appear in these films because he knows the Raft name still brings money to the box office. After he establishes his name as a producer, he hopes to get a production berth at a major studio.

"At that time," Raft said, "I can go to them and be able to say, 'See what I've done. I know a little about this end of the business.'

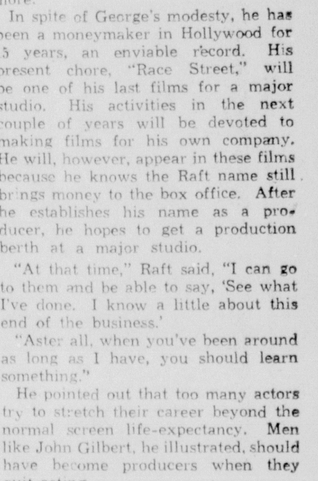

"After all, when you've been around as long as I have, you should learn something."

He pointed out that too many actors try to stretch their career beyond the normal screen life-expectancy. Men like John Gilbert, he illustrated, should have become producers when they quit acting.

Raft assures us when he is a producer, no leading man in any of his pictures will have to say: "There ain't room enough in this town for both of us, buddy."

Yes he's learned something in 15 years.

SCHOOL DAYS ARE HERE

Caution in your driving is a sure cure for accidents. Let's keep our record clean and have no accidents during this school year.

SAFETY FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN COMES FIRST IN YOUR EVERYDAY LIFE THIS YEAR

There's pride and happiness in a mother's heart, as she sees her children off to school--sparkingly clean, glowingly healthy, full of fun and laughter. Don't be responsible for stilling such a child's voice and saddening such a mother's life--because of your carelessness in driving too fast, not observing "stop" cautions, or failing to allow an extra margin of safety wherever children may be crossing. Drive slow, and you'll never drive a parent to grief.

For the Love of Our Children Please DRIVE CAREFULLY!

HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN? Remember This---You, yourself were young once . . . dashing into the street after a ball . . . running across to walk with a pal. Times have not altered childhood. Kids today do the same things you did . . . but now it's up to YOU to help protect Them!

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

by GEORGE WUNDER

WELL, THERE GOES WHAT'S LEFT OF THE FAT MAN — AND IT COULDN'T HAPPEN TO A MORE DESERVING GUY... IMAGINE A MASTERMIND COMPLEX LIKE HIM COMMITTING SUICIDE!

BRRR! THAT WAS SURE A TIDY LITTLE SCHEME THAT HE AND ERMINE HAD ALL RIGGED UP... SPEAKING OF ERMINE, SHE HAD BEEN HOLED UP HERE, TOO — THE COPS FOUND A ROOM WITH FEMININE FRILLIES STREWN AROUND. SHE PROBABLY HAD AN INTUITION AND SCRAMMED, LEAVING FATSO TO FACE THE MUSIC SINGLE-HANDED...

WELL...THAT IS... OH, HERE COMES PAT.

LET'S GET OUT OF HERE. I CAN CLOSE THE FILE ON THEODORE BOR NOW — FOR GOOD. WE'LL JUST LEAVE THIS OLD ROCK PILE OF HIS TO THE SPOOKS THAT, NO DOUBT, HANG OUT IN ALL ITS DARK CORNERS.

OH, GOLLY! I WONDER IF PAT SUSPECTS THAT I DID SEE ERMINE HIDING IN THAT DARK CORNER OF THE ROOM WHERE WE FOUND BOR... BUT I COULDN'T TELL PAT... SHE SHOT THE FAT MAN TO STOP HIM FROM KILLING ME. I'D BE A PRETTY WORN-DOWN HEEL IF I'D PUT THE FINGER ON HER JUST AFTER SHE SAVED MY LIFE.

SO! THERE THEY GO... AND THEY LEFT NO GUARDS. DIDN'T EVEN LOCK THE DOORS. AS SOON AS IT GETS DARK, I'LL FIND SOME NATIVE CLOTHING IN THE SERVANT WOMAN'S QUARTERS AND LEAVE THIS HANDSOME VILLA.

ERMINE, MY DEAR, YOU WERE LUCKY TO GET OUT OF THIS WITH YOUR PRETTY SKIN INTACT... AND ONLY ONE REGRET — THAT YOU HADN'T MET TERRY LEE A LONG TIME AGO, WHEN YOU WERE MUCH SMARTER.

LATER, AT A DOWNTOWN RESTAURANT...

DON'T LOOK SO RELAXED, CHAZZ. WE STILL HAVE A SMALL PROBLEM — HOW TO GET ONE BEAT-UP AIRCRAFT OUT OF THE COW PASTURE WHERE I LEFT IT.

THAT'S BEING TAKEN CARE OF.

WHILE WE WERE WAITING FOR A LEAD ON BOR, I IMPROVED THE SHINING HOUR BY BROWBEATING THE ARMY INTO SENDING A CREW, WITH A REPLACEMENT ENGINE, UP TO MAKE REPAIRS. AS SOON AS IT'S FLYABLE, THEY'LL FERRY IT DOWN HERE. IT SHOULD BE AT THE AIRPORT BY THE TIME WE ARE READY TO LEAVE.

ATTENTION, YANKS
AIR FORCES ASSN.
First Annual Convention
SEPT. 15-16
AT

WE! GOLLY, PAT! DO YOU MEAN YOU'RE COMING WITH US? BUT WHAT ABOUT YOUR JOB HERE?

AFRAID THIS JOB'S A TRIFLE CONFINING... AS A CIVILIAN, I CAN SYMPATHIZE WITH A PAL WHO LETS A PRETTY CRIMINAL LADY ESCAPE BECAUSE, IF I REMAINED A BOSS COP, I'D HAVE TO TOSS HIM IN THE LOCAL BASTILLE.

DICK TRACY

by CHESTER GOULD

THERE ARE MARKS OF A WOMAN'S HEELS IN A GREASE PATCH NEAR THE "SAFE".

YOU SEE, I WAS ON THE OPPOSITE SIDE OF THE GARAGE WHEN I HEARD THE SHOT. WHEN I GOT AROUND HERE, MURPHY WAS LYING THERE DEAD AND THE DOOR WAS OPEN.

THE ASSAILANT MUST HAVE REMOVED SOMETHING FROM THE SAFE. MURPHY INTERCEPTED — AND BINGO!

DID YOU SEARCH THIS GARAGE CAREFULLY?

COVERED IT COMPLETELY, TRACY. THERE'S NOTHING BACK THERE BUT SOME CARS, AN OLD GREASE PIT, AND SOME EMPTY OIL DRUMS.

THOSE HEEL MARKS OF A WOMAN'S SHOE COULD BELONG TO ONLY ONE PERSON, AUTUMN HEWS. SHE'S OUR QUARRY.

I'M PICKING UP THIS ENTIRE PATCH OF CAKED GREASE, TRACY.

ONE HOUR LATER — AFTER ALL IS QUIET IN THE GARAGE LET US TAKE A LOOK AT THE GREASE PIT.

IF ONLY I HAD RUN OUT OF THE GARAGE INSTEAD OF RUNNING BACK HERE AND LEAPING IN THE PIT!

THEY MUST BE GONE — I CAN'T HEAR A SOUND.

THIS PAIR OF COVER ALLS FELL ON ME AND PARTIALLY HID ME. ANYWAY, THEY JUST COULDN'T IMAGINE A WOMAN BEING DOWN IN THESE CRANK-CASE DRIPPINGS.

THE BAG OF MONEY IS SOAKED WITH OIL — I'M SOAKED WITH OIL! WHAT CAN I DO?

HOW CAN I LEAVE HERE WITHOUT MAKING A SPECTACLE OF MYSELF. HOW — EH?

THAT'S IT — THE COVER ALLS! IN THE DARKNESS NO ONE WILL KNOW THE DIFFERENCE.

STILL LATER.

AND THIS OLD TIRE CASING — I WON'T HAVE TO CARRY THE BAG.

JUNGLE JIM

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

WHEN THEY STOP TO EAT, ANA WINDS A TURBAN ON JIM: "YOU MAKE GOOD-LOOKING LOKI!" "HEY, TAKE IT EASY!" HE MUTTERS,

"NOT GO THAT WAY---VALLEY OF BLACK WATER, WHERE MULLAH'S GUARDS CATCH SAHIB BIXBY," ANA WARNS. JIM FROWNS: "YEAH? YOU STAY HERE--I'LL TAKE A LOOK-SEE." 9-14

JIM SLIPS PAST A GUARD AT THE VALLEY'S ENTRANCE. HE FINDS A MURKY, OILY POOL AND SIGNS OF RECENT ACTIVITY. "SO THIS IS THE MULLAH'S BLACK WATER?"

A GUARD HIDDEN IN THE BRANCHES LEAPS AT JIM, SWINGING WITH THE BACK OF HIS SWORD: "LOKIS! BROTHERS! COME, QUICK--- I'VE CAUGHT A STRANGER!"

SO YOUR DAD TOLD YOU NOT TO GO DOWN TO SEE JOE CHRISTMAS ANY MORE, EH? DID YOU PROMISE HIM THAT YOU WOULDN'T, JOEY?

NO! I DIDN'T PROMISE! I THINK DAD LIKES JOE CHRISTMAS ... I CAN'T SEE WHY I SHOULDN'T VISIT HIM!

JOEY? ... JOEY! NOW WHERE TH' SAM HILL? POOR JOEY COULDN'T GO ANYWHERE ALONE, HIS LEGS PARALYZED TH' WAY THEY ARE ... ANNIE! THAT'S IT! THE LITTLE WAGON'S GONE, TOO!

GONE TO SEE JOE CHRISTMAS, AFTER I TOLD HIM NOT TO ... HE SHOULDN'T HAVE DONE THAT ... ... CHRISTMAS IS A SWELL GUY ... MAYBE I WAS WRONG ... STILL ... STILL ... JOEY HAD HIS ORDERS ...

HEY! WHAT TH'? LOOK AT ALL TH' KIDS AROUND JOE CHRISTMAS' SHACK! WHAT'S GOIN' ON? THEY'RE ALL WATCHIN' ... QUIET ... FASCINATED ...

YOU BELIEVE ME, JOEY! I TELL YOU ONLY THE TRUTH ... "AS A MAN THINKETH, SO IS HE" ... FAITH! FAITH IN YOURSELF, JOEY! THAT CONQUERS ALL THINGS! NOW, JOEY ... DO AS I SAY ...

YES, JOE!

STAND UP, JOEY!

YES, JOE ...

NOW, JOEY! WALK TO ME!

YES, JOE!

OH ...

DAD! DAD! I KNOW YOU SAID NOT TO COME HERE ... I ... I'M SORRY ... IF I DID WRONG ...

MY ... MY LITTLE JOEY ... YOU'RE CURED! HOW DID YOU DO IT, JOE!

HE HAS FAITH IN HIMSELF, AL ... THAT IS ALL ...

FAITH IN HIMSELF! ... I HOPE SOMETIME THAT I, TOO, CAN HAVE SUCH FAITH ... IN MYSELF ...

WHY NOT? WHEN ONE LIVES SO, HE DESERVES IT!
